INDUSTRIAL INVESTMENTS

SHOW INCREASE IN GERMANY

The amount of capital invested in machinery and industrial equipment in Germany, which showed a marked increase in 1934, continued satisfactory in 1935, especially in branches which have benefitted most by the recovery, and a number of factories which were closed during the depression could be re-opened.

In the motor industry, re-investment of capital is estimated at 3 to 7 per cent. of the turnover, and new equipment at 55 to 60 million rm. The United Steel Works have re-invested 38 million rm. of a turnover totalling one milliard rm. These figures demonstrate that there is still a demand for new and larger machinery, and that the necessary capital can be raised without resorting to the money market.

Investments in new plant on the above scale have not been made in all branches, of course, but the German Institute for Business Research estimates the actual need at 4 milliard rm., apart from which the total investments during the past year are said to amount to 11 milliard rm., and industrial plant is considered to have reached the high 1928 level.

However, whereas a proportion of the profits set aside for such purposes may cover replacements, it will not suffice for the purchase of new plant on a big scale unless sums are raised on the capital market, which has not been the case.

Nevertheless, the tendency to enlarge plant is in itself proof of confidence felt in the general economic revival.

CHECKING THE ROAD HOG

HINT FOR MR. HORE-BELISHA

Road speedsters are to be discouraged in Southern Rhodesia.

Great steel gates are to be erected on each side of the new Birchenough Bridge, which spans the Zambesi River, and motorists will have to stop to open them.

Mr. Stuart Chandler, the Chief Roads Engineer of Southern Rhodesia, said, in an interview, that the chief offenders were lorry drivers. To cross the bridge at a high speed, besides doing the bridge no good, involved a considerable risk of accident. Some drivers had been known to dash across at speeds approaching 45 and 50 miles an hour. One native will be placed in charge of the gates. His job will not be to open the gates but to keep them shut.

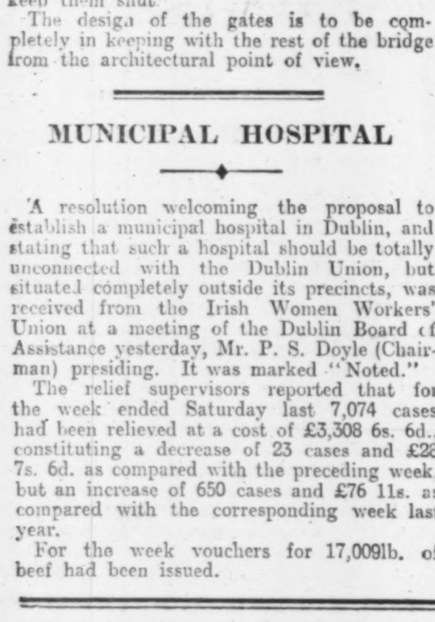
The design of the gates is to be completely in keeping with the rest of the bridge from the architectural point of view.

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

A resolution welcoming the proposal to establish a municipal hospital in Dublin, and stating that such a hospital should be totally unconnected with the Dublin Union, but situated completely outside its precincts, was received from the Irish Women Workers' Union at a meeting of the Dublin Board of Assistance yesterday, Mr. P. S. Doyle (Chairman) presiding. It was marked "Noted."

The relief supervisors reported that for the week ended Saturday last 7,074 cases had been relieved at a cost of £3,308 6s. 6d., constituting a decrease of 23 cases and £28 7s. 6d. as compared with the preceding week, but an increase of 650 cases and £76 11s. as compared with the corresponding week last year.

For the week vouchers for 17,009lb. of beef had been issued.



You Can Avoid INDIGESTION

Many sufferers believe that indigestion is unavoidable. While it is true that modern life, with its rush and worry, places a tremendous strain on the digestion, it is positively not necessary to accept indigestion as inevitable.

Modern medical science has worked wonders in relieving suffering, and indigestion is easily avoided by taking 'Milk of Magnesia.'

For stomach troubles: indigestion, flatulence, heartburn, sick headache and acidity; for furred tongue and nausea there is no finer remedy than 'Milk of Magnesia.'

The relief it gives is marvellous—instantaneous! And remember 'Milk of Magnesia' is absolutely harmless. It does its wonderful work by assisting nature. It neutralizes the harmful acids and gently eliminates the fermenting poisons from the system. Doctors prescribe it extensively.

Next time you have indigestion take 'Milk of Magnesia.' You will be delighted at the comfort it brings. Be careful to ask for 'MILK of Magnesia.' There is nothing "just as good." Of all Chemists.

Prices: 1/3 and 2/6. The large size contains three times the quantity of the small.

Also 'MILK OF MAGNESIA' brand TABLETS. In Handy Tin — Compact and Thin. 1/- per box — also family size bottle 2/-; of all chemists.

'MILK OF MAGNESIA'

'Milk of Magnesia' is the trade mark of Phillips' preparation of Magnesia.

"THE FAR EAST SOCIETY"

GERMAN RELATIONS WITH ASIA

FOREIGN TRADE IN STRAIT-JACKET

MANY well-known public men were present at the annual banquet of the "Hamburg-Bremen Far East Society," which was held on the 36th anniversary of the foundation of the society. Representatives of several Ministries, including Count Schwerin von Krosigk, the Reich Minister of Finance; the armed Forces and economic groups were among the 360 guests. State Councillor Helfferich, Chairman of the Board of the Hamburg-America Line and President of the Far East Society, gave an address on the aims and work of the Society and Germany's relations with countries in the Far East.

ORIENTAL RELATIONS

The President said that relations between Germany and the Far East and Australasia had been very friendly during the past year, and that he was glad to have had the opportunity of welcoming representatives of these countries in Germany. Co-operation between German industry and German firms abroad had been satisfactory, although the actual volume of trade fluctuated. German exports to Southern Asia and Australasia increased from 238 million rm. in 1934 to 266 million rm. in 1935, but imports fell from 448 million rm. to 316 million rm., Australia and New Zealand being affected most. Speaking of the economic situation in the world to-day generally, Herr Helfferich said that big countries which had left the gold standard were experiencing a trade revival and rise in exports, whereas countries still on gold, including Germany, saw their exports decreasing in spite of domestic prosperity. The universal aim of all, however, is to reduce imports; a policy which, if consistently pursued, must lead to the end of world trade. Such a development would be against all natural laws. Highly civilised, manufacturing countries with no raw materials of their own, such as Germany, cannot keep up an export surplus in the long run, but most import greater quantities to meet their needs. Such an import surplus could be compensated by capital investments and services rendered abroad, as in the case of England and Holland. A permanent economic revival in world trade would only be possible after the problem of international debts had been solved and free access to raw material supplies granted to densely populated manufacturing countries.

WORLD HAPPINESS

Was the happiness of the world to be founded on its limitations? Herr Helfferich asked. There were still a milliard people in Asia and Africa who were quite uncivilised, and millions of acres of land still uncultivated. This was a task asking for the mental and physical co-operation of all nations in a spirit of goodwill and common sense; a task amounting to both the condition and fulfilment of European peace.

The German Minister of Finance (Dr. Hjalmar Shacht) began by referring to the political situation, and went on to say that it would be fatal for nations to persist in concentrating only on domestic prosperity, because genuine prosperity for all could only be achieved if international trade revived. It must be Germany's unswerving aim to reconstruct her economic relations and regain her place in the world trade.

GERMANY'S NEED

Count Schwerin von Krosigk said that Germany was forced to increase her exports to be able to pay her private commercial debts and preserve her reputation abroad. They were all unanimous as to the necessity of liberating Germany's foreign trade from its strait-jacket, but this aim could only be realised by industry itself, all subsidised commerce being already infected by the germs of decline. German export trade and shipping had earned their good name by honest and reliable work, and even under the present difficult conditions they must endeavour to maintain this reputation. The "Far East Society" played an important part in Germany's relations with overseas countries.

Mr. H. J. Jessen replied for the guests, thanking the Society for its hospitality and reiterating the good wishes of the speakers.

CULTURE AND REST

MOSCOW PARKS READY FOR SUMMER

An army of carpenters, painters, plasterers and fitters is busy in the Moscow Central Park of Culture and Rest repairing and redecorating the one-day rest homes which are to serve 300,000 persons during the coming summer months.

Accommodation will be provided daily for 600 Stakhanovites of the Moscow factories in the one-day rest home at the Lenin Hills on the Moscow River, surrounded by woodland and parks. Sports grounds are being laid out and equipped with all the necessaries for the different branches of physical culture. The catering arrangements will include four meals a day. Entertainment in the form of concerts, dramatic performances, film shows, etc., will be provided.

A special rest home is to be opened in the Park of Culture and Rest for the children of Stakhanovites.

To train children to observe traffic regulations, a special autodrome is to be opened in the park, containing a miniature city, with models of buildings and kiosks, as well as streets equipped with automatic traffic signals. A garage will hold 100 pedal motor-cars, 50 children's bicycles, roller skates and scooters, as well as two small real motor cars for those who can drive.

CIRCUIT (CRIMINAL) COURT

JAIL FOR CONSPIRACY

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

Convicted of conspiring to defeat and obstruct the course of justice, Cornelius McCarthy, of no fixed abode, was sentenced to four months' imprisonment, with hard labour. Charles Farrell, also of no fixed abode, convicted of the same offence, was sentenced to seven weeks' imprisonment from the date of his arrest, and discharged, as the sentence had already been served.

Mr. Kevin Haugh (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor), prosecuting, explained that Farrell had been a State witness in a case in which a cart driver was fined for furious driving and failing to stop after an accident, in which Thomas McCarthy was injured. McCarthy had claimed £300 from James J. Redmond, the owner of the cart, and the accused man later called on Redmond and said that if each of them were paid £10 they would leave the country that night so as to avoid giving evidence.

YESTERDAY IN THE LAW COURTS

AN INCUMBENT'S APPEAL

DISTRIBUTION OF PURCHASE MONEY

(BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE, MR. JUSTICE FITZGIBBON, AND MR. JUSTICE MURNAGHAN.)

An appeal was brought on behalf of the Rev. Percy Harold Richardson, Incumbent of the Parish of Collinstown, Co. Westmeath, from an order of Mr. Justice Wylie in relation to the distribution of the purchase money of part of the lands of Ballybeg.

The order appealed from directed that £680, 4½ per cent. Land Bonds, portion of the purchase money be retained on the allocation schedule in respect of two annuities of £14 and £20 to which the part of the lands was subject, until further order, and that accrued and accruing interest on the £680 4½ per cent. Land Bonds be paid, until further order to Mrs. Agnes Mary Henrietta Lyster Smythe, of Barbavilla, Collinstown.

Mr. Jellett, K.C., and Mr. Maurice Walker (instructed by Messrs. Darley, Orpen and McGillycuddy) appeared for the appellant; and Mr. Overend, K.C., and Mr. Matheson (instructed by Messrs. Bowles and French) for Mrs. Smythe, the respondent.

The question, said Mr. Jellett, arose in connection with a Chapel of Ease, called the Chapel of Ease of Collinstown, which originally was erected and endowed by the late Mr. William Barlow Smythe in 1838. The annuities created by Mr. Smythe as an endowment were charged on part of the lands of Ballybeg, which had been sold in the Land Commission, and Mrs. Smythe, the owner, as successor of Mr. Barlow Smythe, applied to Mr. Justice Wylie for an order that the purchase money should be distributed without regard to the annuities. The appellant had been deprived by the order of emoluments to which, he submitted, he was entitled, and he asked that the order of Mr. Justice Wylie should be set aside, and that in lieu thereof it should be ordered that the £680 4½ per cent. Land Bonds should be paid into the Commissioners for Charitable Donations and Bequests, and that the interest should be paid to the Rev. Percy Harold Richardson, or the incumbent for the time being.

Mr. Jellett referred to the judgment of Mr. Justice Wylie, which stated that the deed of 1838 recited that Mr. Barlow Smythe had built a church at Collinstown as a chapel of ease, and a dwellinghouse for the curate. Curates were appointed continuously in succession up to 1923. The purpose of the endowment was that a curate should reside there and hold Services apart from the mother church.

The whole point of an affidavit of Mrs. Smythe filed in connection with the application to Mr. Justice Wylie was, said Mr. Jellett, that because Mr. Richardson did not reside in a particular house that was an end of the trust; but, looking at the matter from a common-sense point of view, it hardly was to be supposed that anyone would take up the conduct of Services in this chapel of ease without having an amalgamation with an adjoining parish.

For the respondent, Mr. Overend submitted that the appellant had shown no locus standi whatever, on the evidence before Mr. Justice Wylie or in the present court. The Court had had clear and definite evidence of a person who was admittedly the patron of this chapel of ease that there had been no curate appointed to this chapel in Collinstown since 1923, and the appellant was not curate of Collinstown within the meaning of the original deed, in so far as it was now possible to give effect to that meaning.

Mr. Overend had not concluded when the Court rose, and the further hearing was adjourned until next Monday.

A LIFE INSURANCE POLICY

A DECREE NULLED

(BEFORE MR JUSTICE SULLIVAN AND MR. JUSTICE O'BYRNE.)

The Irish National Assurance Co., Dublin, appealed from a decision of Circuit Judge Davitt giving Mrs. Mary Stewart, Nixon street, Dublin, a decree for £58 16s. on foot of a policy of life assurance upon the life of James Stewart, her husband. The appeal was taken on the ground that there was no satisfactory evidence within the terms of the policy of the date of birth or age of James Stewart, and that the policy was void by reason of the alleged untrue averment regarding his age.

Mr. J. M. FitzGerald, K.C., and Mr. Seumas Bourke (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) appeared for the appellants; and Mr. E. Wood (instructed by Mr. F. W. Gilligan) for the respondent.

The Court allowed the appeal, reversed the decision of the Circuit Judge, and dismissed the civil bill.

"A PERMANENT WAVE"

WOMAN'S CLAIM FOR DAMAGES

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN AND MR. JUSTICE O'BYRNE.)

Miss Julia Doyle, 60 St. Peter's terrace, Howth, appealed from a decision of Circuit Judge Davitt dismissing her action for damages for injuries caused through alleged negligence while she was getting her hair "permanently waved." The defendant was Mr. David Weiner, trading as "Ono," hairdressers, 44 Henry street, Dublin, and he traversed the plaintiff's statements and denied the alleged negligence.

The appellant's case was that on the 22nd June she visited the defendant's premises to get her hair "waved," and that this was so unskilfully done that she was severely burned. She appealed from Judge Davitt's dismissal of her action on the ground that, she submitted, he was wrong in admitting in evidence a document signed by her when she was getting her hair done which released the defendant from liability, and that he was wrong in holding that this document meant that she agreed to get her hair "waved" at her own risk, and that she undertook not to hold the defendant responsible for any injury.

Mr. William Black, K.C., and Mr. Sherry (instructed by Messrs. Kennedy and McGonagle) appeared for the appellant; and Mr. J. M. FitzGerald K.C., and Mr. Monks (instructed by Mr. Peter M. Seales) for the respondent.

The plaintiff, said Mr. Black, paid 6s. for getting her hair treated, and while the preliminaries were in progress she signed a document which purported that she agreed to be treated solely at her own risk, and that in no circumstances would she hold the firm responsible for any injury that she might sustain during the process. She did not understand this document when she signed it, although the judge held that she must be taken to have understood it. Her head was burned while she was under treatment, and she had to undergo medical treatment. After a week, and before she went to the doctor, she went back to the defendant's shop, and one of his staff put lysol on the injury, which was most improper on his part.

Mr. Black said that the Circuit Judge had found everything in favour of the plaintiff except the document, which he held released the defendant from liability.

The further hearing was adjourned until Monday.

"SWEEP" TICKET THAT WON

DISPUTED OWNERSHIP

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

In the matter of an intended action by Edwin Wilfred Walker, Oxford street, Manchester, against A. G. Leech, Central road, Sudbury, Wembley, Middlesex, Mr. Tobias (instructed by Messrs. Porter, Morris and Co.), applied on behalf of the intended plaintiff for liberty to issue and serve an originating summary summons out of the jurisdiction on the intended defendant.

Mr. Tobias said that the issue was in regard to the ownership of a ticket which drew a prize of £372 6s. 9d. in the Irish Hospitals' Sweepstake on the Cambridgeshire, 1935. In September last Mr. Walker purchased the ticket from a gentleman in England, and after the race in October he came over to Dublin to draw the prize money, bringing the ticket, only to find that the counterfoil of his ticket bore the name of Mr. Leech. It appeared that the seller of the ticket did not write any names on the counterfoils at the time of the sales, but noted in a book the names and addresses of the purchasers, and that when he subsequently put the names on the counterfoils, he inadvertently put the name of another customer on the counterfoil in question. The defendant was claiming the money, his statement being that he had had a ticket in for the Derby sweep, but that owing to the late arrival of his counterfoil for the sweep, he had been informed that the ticket would be included in the Cambridgeshire draw, and he claimed that that ticket had drawn the prize money in question.

An affidavit by Mr. Walker stated that he had produced the winning ticket to Messrs. Craig, Gardner and Co., chartered accountants, Dublin, and had been informed that A. G. Leech had lodged a claim to the prize, giving as his reason for the non-production of the ticket that he had lost or destroyed it. He had shown the winning ticket to Mr. Leech.

Mr. Tobias added that, in view of the dispute, the Hospitals' Sweepstakes trustees had lodged the money in Court, less £12 12s. costs.

Mr. Justice Meredith granted the application.

HEIGHT OF PARTY WALL

(BEFORE THE MASTER OF THE HIGH COURT)

In an action of Mrs. Olga Elyan, 2 Newtownsmith, Dun Laoghaire, against John Henry MacCarthy, "Stella Maris," Dun Laoghaire, an application was made by Mr. W. G. Fallon (instructed by Mr. Ernest E. Merrick), for the defendant, for discovery of documents.

Mr. Fallon said that the parties lived in adjoining houses, and the plaintiff brought the action against the defendant for an injunction to restrain him from erecting, or causing to be erected, between their premises a wall beyond a certain height. Notice of discontinuance of the action had been served the previous evening.

The Master said that in that event it was not necessary for him to make any order, but he would certify for the costs of the application.

Mr. Victor Elyan, solicitor, appeared for the plaintiff.

CLAIM FOR £1,263 INCOME TAX

(BEFORE THE MASTER OF THE HIGH COURT)

In a summons issued by the Revenue Commissioners against Sir Oswald Grattan Esmonde, claiming £1,263 for income tax, an application was made by Mr. Monks (instructed by Mr. R. O'Doherty), for the defendant, for liberty to file a late defence. He said that the defence was now settled and ready for delivery. The information had been filed on the 29th January last, but since then there had been unavoidable delay in putting in the defence.

Mr. Meade, of the Revenue Solicitor's office, objected to any extension of time and said that the matter had been initiated in July of last year and had not yet been settled. Of the amount claimed £200 had been paid.

The Master made an order extending the time for the filing of the defence until the 27th inst.

LIGHTING OF A FACTORY

INJUNCTION SOUGHT AGAINST THEATRE

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

The hearing of the action of Richard R. Smyth and Patrick J. Smyth, sack manufacturers, Hawkins street and Poolbeg street, Dublin, against the Dublin Theatre Company, was continued. The plaintiffs claimed an injunction to restrain the defendants from permitting to remain any portion of the new Theatre Royal which, they said, obstructed the light to their premises. The defendants denied that the theatre materially obstructed the light to the plaintiffs' premises.

Mr. Costello, K.C.; Mr. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. Marnan (instructed by Messrs. A. Cox and Co.), appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. FitzGibbon, K.C.; Mr. Vincent Rice, K.C., and Mr. Monks (instructed by Messrs. Hayes and Son), for the defendants.

Mr. Justice Meredith said that he had inspected the plaintiffs' premises that morning, and found that the light there was certainly much better than he had anticipated, particularly as regards the lower room, where the view he took seemed to confirm the evidence of Mr. Waldron. The real difference was in the top room, where, owing to the height of the tables and their position, the heightening of the theatre undoubtedly had had the effect that the direct light from over the theatre did not come as far into the room as it otherwise would, and that might result in need for artificial light for a longer period than previously. In general, the result of his inspection was to make him prefer the evidence of Mr. Waldron, and he was rather surprised to see how observation seemed to coincide with his calculations. It now seemed quite clear that the colour-printing had not been carried on at the beginning of the period of 20 years.

The arguments having concluded, Mr. Justice Meredith reserved judgment.

DEPOSIT RECEIPT FOR £1,461

A CAVAN WILL SUIT

(BEFORE THE MASTER OF THE HIGH COURT.)

In an administration suit of John Reilly, a farmer, of Cortubber, County Cavan, against his brother, Terence Reilly, another farmer, of Leitrim Lower, County Meath, and the Northern Bank, Ltd.,

Mr. E. S. FitzSimon (instructed by Mr. John C. Callan) applied on behalf of the plaintiff for orders for the discovery of documents.

The plaintiff, suing as administrator of the estate of the late Bridget Reilly, of Leitrim Lower, who died intestate, seeks a declaration that the defendant, Terence Reilly, holds a deposit receipt for £1,461 in the Bailieborough branch of the Hibernian Bank as trustee for him as personal representative of the late Bridget Reilly, and that the £1,461 forms part of Bridget Reilly's estate. He also asks for an injunction to restrain Terence Reilly from parting with possession of the receipt and the bank from cashing it.

Mr. FitzSimon said that before the death of Bridget Reilly there was a sum of £300 on deposit in the Bailieborough branch of the Hibernian Bank in the joint names of Bridget Reilly and Terence Reilly, and a sum of £1,161 on deposit in the Bailieborough branch of the Northern Bank in the joint names of Bridget Reilly and Terence Reilly. Subsequent to the death of Bridget Reilly these sums were transferred to, and now stood in, the sole name of Terence Reilly in the Bailieborough branch of the Northern Bank.

The defendant, Terence Reilly, in a traverse, pleads that he became absolutely entitled to the £1,461 by right of survivorship on the death of Bridget Reilly, and denies that he is a trustee of the money.

The Master granted the application, and gave the Northern Bank, Ltd., an extension of time to file a defence.

Mr. McGonigal (instructed by Mr. James J. Lynch) appeared for Terence Reilly, and Mr. Micks (instructed by Mr. James Fagan) for the Northern Bank, Ltd.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

MOTORS CARS IN COLLISION

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON.)

William Laffin, Spring Garden Passage, North Strand, sued James J. Lawless, "The Laurels," Taney Park, Dundrum, for compensation for damage done to his taxi-cab in a collision.

The Judge dismissed the plaintiff's action, and gave the defendant a decree for £7 10s. on a counter-claim in respect of the damage done to his car.

Mr. J. J. Mooney (instructed by Mr. P. Glynn) appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. W. O'B. Fitzgerald (instructed by Mr. A. Cox) appeared for the defendant.

PONY AND CART INJURED

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON).

A decree for £3 10s was given to Catherine Lawlor, 17 Poole street, against William J. Coleman, 14 Rugby road, for damage to her pony and cart in a collision with defendant's motor car.

Mr. C. O'Daly (instructed by Mr. L. T. McCarthy) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. P. Nugent (instructed by Messrs. J. L. McDowell and Son) was for the defendant.

BOTH NEGLIGENT

Thomas O'Brien, rear of Dartmouth square, Dublin, sued Dermot O'Riordan, farmer, of Fosterstown, Cloghran, Swords, Co. Dublin, for £50 in respect of damages to his taxi, caused in a collision with defendant's motor car.

Mr. L. B. Moran (instructed by Mr. D. Moran) appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. D. Fawsitt (instructed by Messrs. Little, O hUadhaigh, and Proud) acted for the defendant.

Thomas O'Brien, plaintiff, giving evidence, said that he paid some £19 18s. for repairs and painting of his car. He could not work the car for three weeks. During Horse Show week the earnings of the car, working night and day, would be £2 5s. per day of 24 hours, less wages of driver, petrol, and oil. On an ordinary week-day of 24 hours the car's average earnings would work out at about 30s. per day, less wages of driver, etc.

The Judge, holding that there was negligence on the part of both drivers, dismissed the action.

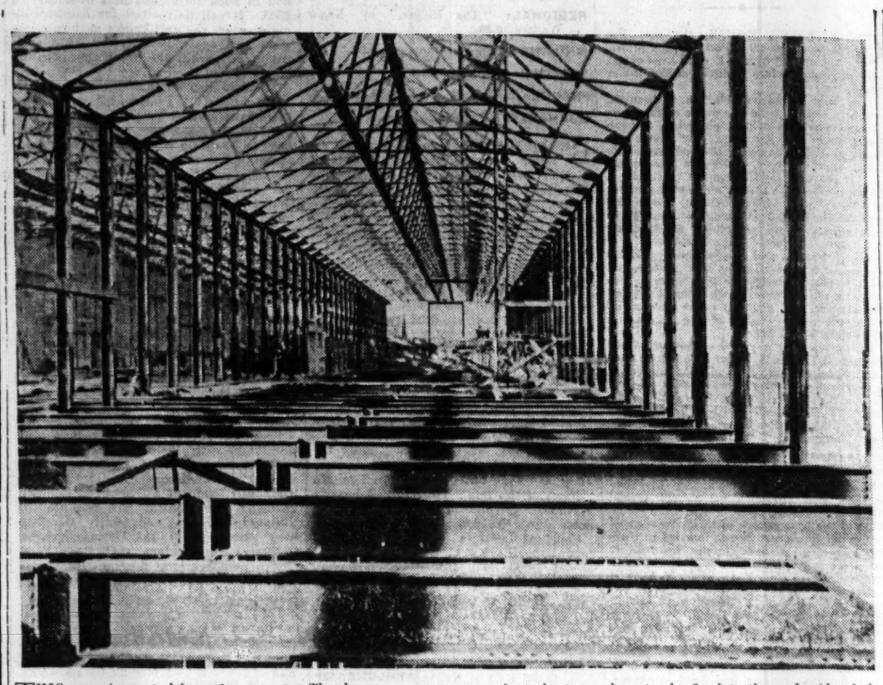
ACTIVITY IN BUILDING INDUSTRY

The great activity of the building industry—surpassing all earlier experiences—is shown in figures in an article in the British Ministry of Labour Gazette for February. The total value of buildings for which plans were passed last year in 146 of the principal towns was £114,307,800, an increase upon the figures for 1934 of £18,744,800. Nearly £9,000,000 of the increase was due to house building.

The total for dwellinghouses alone in 1935 was more than double the corresponding total for 1924, while that for all buildings was nearly twice as large as in 1924. Changes in building costs, of course, affect the comparisons to some extent. Last year, for example, the average cost of the houses for which plans were passed was £499, a reduction of £11, as compared with 1934.

The number of houses for which plans were passed last year was 157,103, an increase of 20,562 over the total in 1934.



THIS massive, steel-framed, concrete building, the new Tobacco Warehouse "G," Custom House Docks, Dublin, now one of the most prominent features of the port of Dublin, stands as a monument to the enterprise of the Dublin Port and Docks Board, and to their two officers, Mr. J. Mallagh, B.E., M.Inst.C.E., Engineer-in-Chief, and Mr. A. J. Hughes, Manager of the Custom House Docks.

The new warehouse, which was designed by Mr. R. A. Cunningham, B.A.I., M.Inst.C.E.I., is to house about 17,500 hogsheads, each containing nearly half a ton of tobacco. Practically all the tobacco now warehoused in the Custom House Docks is shipped direct to Dublin from America. This results not only in the saving of money to the importers, but in creating a considerable amount of employment in the operation known as "netting" the tobacco. This consists in removing the tobacco from the casks, weighing it and returning it to the casks, which then are coopered up and taken away to their place in the warehouse. The work is carried out by teams of men who have become highly skilled at the operation, and who, according to experts in the tobacco trade, compare favourably with similar teams working in the large warehouses in London and Liverpool.

The dimensions of the new building are: 480 feet long, 141 feet wide and about 60 feet high. It is divided into six sections or compartments, three on the ground floor and three above.

The foundations consist of heavy, continuous, reinforced concrete beams, six of which run the length of the building, and two of which support the gable end walls. The beams support rows of steel stanchions, which in turn support the upper floor joists and also the steel roof trusses.

The eastern wall of the contiguous warehouse (Stack "A") forms the western wall to the ground floor of the new building, whilst there is a new 15-inch reinforced concrete wall built on top of the wall of Stack "A" to form the western wall to the upper floor of Warehouse "G."

The ground floor is of 6-inch reinforced concrete laid on the hard filling between the foundation beams, and the upper floor, carried on heavy steel joists, is of 8-inch reinforced concrete.

The external walls on the eastern side and at the ends are of ten-inch mass concrete, and the internal walls are constructed of "Moracrete" concrete blocks, of which about 38,900 were used.

The Lion Brand cement was exclusively used in the construction of the warehouse. Messrs. Chas. Tennant and Co. (I.F.S.), Ltd., Westmoreland street, Dublin, are sole concessionaires in the Irish Free State for this cement.

The Manor Whinstone Quarry Co., Ltd., Woodtown, Rathfarnham, supplied 5,594 tons of clean crushed whinstone for the walls, foundations and floors.

The roof covering, of timber sheeting, roofing felt, "Everite Big-Six" asbestos-cement sheeting, and patent glazing, is carried on heavy timber purlins bolted to the steel roof trusses. Messrs. T. and C. Martin, Ltd., D'Olier House, Dublin, provided these materials.

For the handling and disposal of the tobacco nine cranes of the underhung-jib type are installed, three to the upper and six to the lower floor sections. They travel along tracks fixed to the underside of the roof trusses and floor joists respectively.

All the cranes, which were supplied by Messrs. Butters, Bros., of Glasgow, are capable of projecting their jibs out through openings in the northern gable-end wall of the building, and thus off-loading or loading conveyances parked in the street outside. These openings are protected by steel rolling shutters.

The steelwork of the structure, over 1,200 tons, was fabricated and erected by the Dublin Dockyard Co., Ltd.

Messrs. Tonge and Taggart, Ltd., Windmill lane, supplied cast iron manholes.

All the other work was carried out by Messrs. J. and R. Thompson, of Dublin, whose representative on the site was Mr T. Deane.

The speed with which the work was executed will be realised when it is understood that Messrs. Thompson took over the site on the 25th March, 1935, and the work, as far as the original contract was concerned, occupied well under twelve months, less than eighty per cent of the agreed time.

A small portion of the building remains to be finished, the site being still occupied by an old house which has been used for some time as an office for veterinary officers. Pending the acquisition of other accommodation for them, the completion of this corner of the warehouse has to be postponed.

Electric lighting and the wiring for the cranes as far as the overhead wires was carried out departmentally.

The Resident Engineer for the construction, representing the Engineer-in-Chief, was Mr. C. J. Buckley, B.E., M.Inst.C.E.I.

HIGH VALUE OF HOUSES

The estimated cost of buildings for which plans were passed by the local authorities in 146 of the principal towns in Great Britain during 1935 was £114,307,800 compared with £95,563,000 in 1934.

Giving these particulars, the Ministry of Labour Gazette states that dwellinghouses (£78,429,100) accounted for rather more than two-thirds of last year's estimated total. The cost of this class of building was greater in 1935 than for any year since 1923, when this series of figures were first compiled.

Outer London had the largest total last year with £29,549,100, of which £21,592,400 was for dwellinghouses. North and West Midland counties were responsible for £24,460,400 of last year's aggregate, including £15,892,100 for dwellinghouses.

FOR purposes of comparison we quote from the Government issue of Trade and Shipping Statistics the value of the imports of a number of commodities utilised in the building trade for 1934, being the last complete year available. The figures for the previous year are given for comparison:—

STEADY RISE OF ELECTRICITY

A noteworthy expansion of the public supply of electricity is recorded in the fifteenth annual report of the Electricity Commissioners for the year ended March 31, 1935. The total output (units generated) by authorised undertakers during the year showed an increase of 1,715,000,000 units on the output in the previous year. This was the largest actual increase hitherto recorded in any year, and was equivalent to a growth of 12.1 per cent.

Electricity supply is one of the few industries which has shown continuous expansion since the onset of the acute industrial depression in the latter part of 1929-30. Under conditions which have adversely affected the rate of growth of demand for industrial power supplies, there has, nevertheless, been a progressive improvement in output, assisted largely by the growth of the domestic load. As a result, the annual output of the public supply undertakings has increased by upwards of 50 per cent. in the course of the past five years—from 10,527,000,000 units in 1929-30 to 15,890,000,000 units in 1934-35.

The Commissioners emphasise the importance of the domestic load, not only because of its great scope, but for its value as a stabilising factor in the continued development of the industry. Discussing the potentialities still before the industry, they also mention the stimulus of a wider demand for power supplies which will result from a further development in industrial conditions; to the wide field of opportunity presented by the existing electrical and mechanical equipment of industry as and when the present factory generating plant and prime movers become obsolete; and to possibilities attaching to the further development of railway electrification. The Commissioners add:—

"The increasing recognition of the utility, convenience and manifold applications of electricity, and the persistent growth in the public demand for the facilities and amenities capable of being provided by a public supply of electricity, leave no doubt that there will be a great increase on the present consumption of electricity per head of population before any question arises as to the saturation point of economical development having been reached."

WHERE EXPENDITURE IS NECESSARY

Meath County Board of Health decided to present to the Hospitals' Commission the report of their Engineer (Mr. E. J. Duffy) as to the state of the County Home at Trim. In the course of his report Mr. Duffy says: The Home consists of three main blocks with various avenues, out-offices and nurses' quarters. The main blocks are of stone construction, and were erected in 1841 as a "Poor House." The external walls are in a good state of preservation, though little pointing or plastering appears to have been carried out since its erection. Cracks, which appear to be due to unsound foundations occur in some of the walls. All buildings are roofed with slates, and in many places need repair, especially round the chimney stacks, valleys, etc. Most of the existing gutters and downpipes would need to be taken down and new ones fitted where necessary, and all properly aligned and fastened. The internal woodwork, doors, stairs, etc., require repair and replacement. Some of the wards and bathrooms are plastered; otherwise the rough stone walls are simply whitewashed. The three main blocks are without central heating, and all the fire grates need replacing. The heating for the nurses quarters is furnished by utilising the kitchen boiler. Water supply is not satisfactory, as from time to time it has to be pumped from the town main. On occasions the town water supply had to be curtailed in order that the County Home could be adequately supplied.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Singing Waters : Miss L. MacManus : The Connemara Pony : Early Birds : An Irish Painter

Miss L. MacManus

Miss L. MacManus, whose first play, "Sarsfield," has now had its première at the Torch Theatre, tells an interesting story of how her attention was originally drawn to Irish literature and Irish history. By a curious stroke of fate, it was the casual appearance of two works on ecclesiastical history that opened to her what she calls the gate into what up till then had been to her the outer court. Her entry was made one afternoon over forty years ago, when she went to borrow some books from the public library in Worthing, Sussex. There she came across the two volumes, "Ireland and the Celtic Church" and "Ireland and the Anglo-Norman Church," by Professor George Stokes, and through them she was vouchsafed a revelation something like that which came to Standish O'Grady on that wet afternoon when he discovered that Ireland had a literature and a history of her own, and turned himself into the father of the Irish literary renaissance. Since then, recalling Mangan's line, she has "walked entranced through a land of morn." Before that she had written a novel of military life which was published by Fisher Unwin, who was always generous in encouraging young Irish authors. One reviewer thought it must have been written by a non-commissioned officer, but the details of military life had, in fact, been given to Miss MacManus by a sergeant of her acquaintance. Her next novel, with an English trooper as hero, was rejected, but it so impressed the publisher's reader, Mr. Teignmouth Shore, that he collaborated with her in dramatising it, but it was never staged. Her novel upon which her Torch Theatre play is based had three titles in book form before finally becoming "In Sarsfield's Days."

Singing Waters

Whether it be imagination or not, I have always thought that the sound of running water in spring is clearer and more melodious than at any other time. Spring seems to free the hidden sources beneath the earth, and the waters gush forth joyously to play their part in the ever-recurring miracle of the regeneration of the land.

Go where you will in Ireland, this music of the waters is always before your ears. It is this which makes a country walk in early spring so attractive. Apart from the rising sap, which has already begun to swell the buds; the anvil note of the great tit and the ecstatic little song of the hedge sparrow, this sure sign of the approaching fine weather is now apparent everywhere, and the Wicklow valleys are murmurous with the sound of springing waters.

Jezebel's "Beauty Treatment"

Among the many "modern" aids to beauty culture, the art of pencilling the eyebrows is one of the most ancient. It is mentioned even in the Old Testament. The best account of what is there called "painting the eyes" is to be found in the description of the death of Jezebel, the wife of Ahab, King of Israel, II. Kings, ix., 30. When Jehu's chariot arrived at Jezreel, "Jezebel heard of it." Then, like Shakespeare's Cleopatra, she decked herself out for death—"She painted her eyes, and attired her head and looked out at the window." Both in ancient Greece and in Rome women made use of a preparation of antimony for colouring the eyelids and lashes. This was more commonly done in the East, where I understand the use of kohl as a cosmetic still prevails. An inspection of some of the exhibits in the British Museum leads to the same conclusion. In some of the glazed cases small vessels for holding the pigment may be seen, as well as specimens of the pencil with which it was applied. I believe that in one of the cases some of the powder with which it had once been filled was discovered. It was generally used for blackening the edge of the eyelids, but was often applied to the eyebrows as well.

The Connemara Pony

The recommendation of the Horse-Breeding Commission that the Connemara pony should be fostered is a welcome and timely move. Of recent years there have not lacked indications that these little animals are on the decrease, and it is certain that proper care of the breed is sadly wanted. Although there seems to be no particular standard, the average good Connemara pony is really a well-formed little horse, a shapely and attractive animal. Very likely in those days when the West had a trade with Spain, some barb or Arab blood became intermingled with the native strain, much as Whyte Melville's "Katerfelto" improved the Exmoor ponies.

Other Irish breeds once better known are the Kerry ponies and those of Cushendall. I have only heard once or twice of the latter, but report said that they were cream-coloured and very sturdy. Perhaps, they may have been a variant of the Connemara. This resolution of the Commission, if adopted, must bear good fruit in years to come. There is a good market for little riding horses for children in England, and wealthy America could "mop up" hundreds of these game little beasts for its gilded youth.

A Pleasant Sight

As I looked from my window the other morning I was very pleased to observe a fine pair of bullfinches feeding on the near-by hedge. They were a genuine pair; a stout, well-coloured cock, with a robust, but, of course, much more dowdily-hued, hen. I saw then that they were a pair which has haunted the neighbourhood for several years. Out on my rambles I constantly see them in the thick bushes which line one side of Merrion avenue. I wish that their offspring would stay in the neighbourhood as well. Bullfinches are out most beautiful finch, and, despite their reputation, do far more good than harm when they disbud the fruit trees in spring.

Early Birds

In a recently published novel of Australian country life I was much surprised by an enraptured allusion to a magpie chorus heard at dawn. So enthusiastic was the writer on this subject that it is quite evident that Australian magpies must be more successful vocalists than our own variety. As far as I know, the seagull chorus, heard at its most vociferous by dwellers in the higher terraces of Kingstown, has not been made the subject of any transport of delighted praise. Beginning early in March, and at an early hour in the morning, the noise these birds make has to be heard to be believed. Fortunately, the season does not last very long, and just when the rudely-awakened listeners feel that they cannot bear much more, the daily demonstrations cease as abruptly as they began. This year the gulls seem to be going further inland in the early morning, and among the Dublin hills the dawn chorus of the gentler song-birds is entirely overruled just now by the hoarse shrieks of these visitors from the sea.

Miss Norah McGuinness

This afternoon in the St. Stephen's Green Gallery Miss Norah McGuinness will give a private view of her first one-man exhibition in Dublin. The exhibition, subsequently, will be open to the public. Miss McGuinness, for so youthful an artist, already has had a full career. She held a scholarship at the Metropolitan School of Art for three years; worked for some time for the Abbey Theatre, and for two years studied André L'hote in Paris. She has exhibited both in Paris and in London, holding group and one-man shows; she is now working for another show in London, and has been invited to hold an exhibition in Boston next year. Dublin is fortunate now to be able to compare her opinion of Miss McGuinness's work with the views of London and Paris.

GLOUCESTER HOUSE

NEW PREPARATORY SCHOOL AT PORTORA

OPENED BY THE EARL OF ERNE

GLOUCESTER HOUSE, the new Preparatory School at Portora, Enniskillen, was opened by the Earl of Erne yesterday afternoon before a distinguished assemblage.

The new school, which has a beautiful southern aspect, is, in the words of Sir Bruce Bruce-Porter, the eminent physician, a "home from home." It has large, airy rooms, centrally heated throughout; the beds are of the latest approved type, and every accommodation is provided for the comfort of the boys. In appearance it is that of an English country residence, with warm, cream, rough-cast exterior, long Georgian windows, and green tiles atop the roof. Matching the tiles are the sun shutters, the "jalousies" of Southern France, and two balconies. Indoors the colour scheme is cream and green again, with a pastel scarlet on the chairs. The whole is self-contained, with resident master, housekeeper, and qualified nurse matron, all under the direct control of the headmaster of Portora Royal School.

At the opening a guard of honour of the Portora O.T.C. was drawn up. It saluted Lord Erne on arrival, and was inspected. A short religious Service was then conducted by the Bishop of Clogher, Chairman of the Board of Governors, assisted by the Rev. A. J. Jenkins, Presbyterian minister, the Vice-Chairman.

GREAT HEADMASTERS

The Bishop of Clogher said that they had gathered that afternoon for a very special ceremony. Most of those present knew something of the past history of their great school on the hill, Portora. It was founded in 1618, and had a great and glorious history. It had great headmasters in the past, but none greater than the Rev. E. G. Seale, M.A., who had recently retired, and who had first conceived the idea of a preparatory school. The Board of Governors had been very fortunate in securing as his successor Mr. Ian Stuart, M.A., who had come to them with a high reputation, and since his advent had fully justified all that had been said of him. A great honour had been conferred upon the school and the county by the Duke of Gloucester, who permitted the new preparatory school to be named after him in honour of his first visit to Fermanagh. During the eighteen years of Mr. Seale's headmastership the Board had expended a sum of £25,000 in improvements at Portora, without any borrowing or public appeal for funds. And they had not quite done yet. They were delighted to have Lord Erne with them that day, and he had much pleasure in asking him to perform the opening ceremony.

WORLD-WIDE FAME

Lord Erne, in formally declaring Gloucester House open, said that he was a very proud man that day because he had been given the opportunity of associating himself so closely with their great school. The fame of Portora, he said, was known throughout the world. He had met Portorans in the East Indies and West Indies, and the proof of the records and fame of the school was the erection of Gloucester House, which would give more accommodation and give more boys the opportunity of being Portorans.

He concluded by wishing Gloucester House every possible good luck and success both in work and play.

Mr. Ian Stuart, M.A., proposed a vote of thanks to Lord Erne for opening their new preparatory school.

Mr. Seale said that the school was his baby, and he had given it to him to nurse.

Dr. W. F. Bryson seconded, and said that this was a Fermanagh school, though it catered for boys from hte whole of Ireland, and it was very appropriate that a Fermanagh man should be asked to come and perform the opening ceremony.

Several hundreds of visitors then inspected the school, and were later entertained to tea at Portora.

The Boyle medal will be presented to Mr. Horace Hewitt Poole, M.A., Sc.D., Registrar and Chief Science Officer of the Royal Dublin Society, in the Society's Council Rooms, Ballsbridge, Dublin, to-day, at 4.20 p.m. The presentation will be made by the president of the Society, Mr. Harry Franks, M.A.

The medal has been instituted by the Council of the Society in honour of Robert Boyle, the distinguished 17th century Irish man.

Daily Programme Review

RADIO ATHLONE: Roscommon Gaelic League Concert, 7.

B.B.C. NATIONAL: Comic Opera Programme (repeat), 8.30.

REGIONAL: "The Ringer," by Edgar Wallace, 8.30.

MIDLAND: Symphony Concert, 7.30.

SCOTTISH: Variety, 7.30.

PRAGUE: Czech Philharmonic Orchestra, 7.5.

BUCHAREST: Verdi's Requiem, 7.15.

BROADCASTING from Roscommon to-night, the Gaelic League of that district will entertain Radio Athlone listeners for an hour in a programme, consisting of choral singing, vocal solos, violin and piano duets, and items by the Kiltevan Ceilidhe Band. In the course of the programme the Rev. T. Mahon, C.C., B.D., will speak on "Roscommon in History."

Mr. J. T. Horne, Mus.Bac., A.R.C.O., who is organist and choirmaster of St. FinBarre's Cathedral, Cork, will give an organ recital for relay at 6.15. Mr. Horne's programme will be selected from English, German and French composers.

The Symphony Concert from Midland Regional will be given by the City of Birmingham Orchestra, directed by Leslie Heward, and relayed from Birmingham Town Hall. The standard of these performances is always high, and the efficiency of the orchestra well known. To-night they will play Hindemith's "News of the Day" Overture, Debussy's Prelude, "L'Après-midi d'un faune," and Schumann's Third Symphony.

Constant Lambert, it will be noted, is conducting the B.B.C. Orchestra (Section E) at 10.20, and Irene Scharrer, who broadcast with the Bournemouth Municipal Orchestra yesterday, will play Chopin in a pianoforte recital at 8 to-night. Both are B.B.C. National transmissions.

"The Ringer," that super successful story of Edgar Wallace, both on the stage and in book form, was first broadcast in 1933. It will be revived for listeners to-night, when the well-known modern crime story will again be unfolded by a competent cast, while the production is in the hands of Val Gielgud.

There is also another dramatic production, entitled: "Tenement," written for the microphone by Edwin Lewis. Tyneside provides the setting for this play, and the story is based on life in a Tyneside slum, revealing the more drab conditions of the tenement dwellers and the friction between the various characters thrown together in the world of shipping. This will be broadcast from Newcastle in the North Regional programme at 8.30.

Music coming from foreign stations to-night consists of both quality and quantity. Among the more important broadcasts the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra will be relayed from the Smetana Hall, Prague. Verdi's Requiem will be relayed from the Athenæum, Bucharest. A transmission from Rome at 7.35 will bring a performance of Puccini's Opera, "Manon Lescaut," from the Carlo Felice Theatre, Genoa. Szigeti, the celebrated violinist, will be heard from the Redouta at 7.30, Budapest.

Fritz Busch will conduct a Beethoven programme, to include the Pianoforte Concerto No. 5 in E flat, Hochn as soloist, at 7.10, Kalundborg. Radio Paris (at 9.45) will send out a Symphony Concert, in which Inghelbrecht will conduct the National Orchestra; and, finally, Menghelberg conducting the Concertgebouw Orchestra, Amsterdam, with Rosa Spier (harp) and Henriette Bosmans (piano) as soloists, is timed from Hilversum (1,875 Metres) at 7.55.

BOOTERSTOWN AND DISTRICT

RESIDENTS CALL FOR IMPROVEMENTS

A very large and representative meeting of the residents of Booterstown, Merrion road and Blackrock road was held on Tuesday evening at Booterstown National Schools to protest against the unsightly buildings that are being erected along the coast road from Merrion Gates.

An influential committee was formed to look after the interests of the residents, and to deal with the following matters:—

1. The proposed erection of small shops in the frontage of Trimleston, at the city boundary.

2. The proposed extension of the unsightly and objectionable buildings from Merrion Gates along the coastline.

3. The proposed building in the Trimleston Estate of houses not in harmony with adjacent residences.

4. The desirability of having the unsightly advertisements on the sea wall removed.

5. An improvement of public lighting along Merrion and Blackrock roads.

6. The erection of an additional telephone kiosk at the foot of Booterstown avenue.

7. Bathing facilities and arrangements to meet the needs of the crowds who frequent this coast in summer.

8. Fixing the maximum speed of motors at 30 miles along this built-up area, where schools are situated.

9. Improvement of the Strand and possible coast-road from Merrion to Blackrock.

10. The reservation of the low lying ground from Merrion to Williamstown for a public park.

It was decided to make representation to the Greater Dublin Tribunal on the subject, and to communicate with the Local Government Department, the City and Borough Managers, and other authorities concerned; the local builders and engineers also to be consulted.

A committee has been appointed, and will meet to-day to deal with the matters suggested.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

MEETING IN DUBLIN

The annual meeting of the National Council of Women took place at 5 Leinster street, Dublin, Professor Mary Hayden presiding. Letters were read from the National Council of Women in South Australia and South Africa. It was stated that two Irish delegates already had been selected to attend the International Conference of Women at Dubrovnik, Jugoslavia, next September. Ireland has been represented recently at a conference called by the National Council of Women in Calcutta.

Mrs. M. Cosgrave said that good work had been achieved here in Dublin, but three important questions remained to be worked upon—the position of women in the Civil Service, the employment of married women, and the position of women in industry. Part of the programme for future local work would also be the gaining of proper school meals for children, and the securing of a women's police force, of which Dublin stood in very great need.

Mr. S. Mullin, secretary; Mr. R. B. Macmillan, passenger traffic manager, and Mr. E. S. McLellan, publicity manager, from Glasgow, paid a visit to Dublin yesterday for the purpose of completing arrangements for the calls of their ships to and from New York during the summer months. The officials in question were accompanied by Mr. A. T. McDonald, general agent for the company in the Irish Free State.

Visits were made to the docks and Anchor Line agents in Dublin, and in the afternoon the party met officials of the Port and Docks Board.

The tender Royal Iris will be in attendance on Anchor Line ships calling at Dublin Bay to and from New York. Embarkations and disembarkations will meantime be from the Transit Shed, Great Britain quay, Dublin. The first sailing for New York will be the California, on Saturday, May 9th, and the first arrival from New York, the Transylvania, on Sunday, May 17th. A fortnightly service to and from the United States will be maintained during the summer months.

WARNING TO IRISH MOTORISTS

ALL "XL" OILS ARE NOT PATENT CASTROL XL

Inferior and so-called "cheap" oils, bearing the grade letters XL, are often sold to motorists. Such oils, saving a few pence only on first cost, do incalculable damage to the engine and eventually involve big repair bills. It is an actual economy to safeguard against substitution by asking in full for PATENT CASTROL XL and watching that you get it.

You must ask for Castrol by name to ensure Castrol quality

GRAND NATIONAL SWEEPSTAKE SUPPLEMENT

CLOSE OF SEVENTEENTH DRAW

One of the Residual Prizes Goes to Ireland

DR. ROWLETTE, T.D., ON FUNDS FOR MEDICAL RESEARCH

TO BE MADE AVAILABLE WITHIN A VERY SHORT TIME

THE Irish Hospitals' Trust sweepstake draw on the Grand National was concluded yesterday, when ten residual prizes, each of £5,375 8s. 0d., and 1,400 cash prizes of £100 were drawn.

Once again the United States was the country to figure most prominently in the lists, taking four of the big cash prizes and 609 of the smaller ones. The Free State drew one big cash prize and 96 small ones.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

IN spite of its lack of incident, it was an interesting day. The Round Room in the Mansion House was fairly well filled with people who seemed to take very little interest in the proceedings; they were the losers—if it is possible to describe a subscriber as a loser. Anyhow, they were very subdued; one day makes a world of difference. The drum went round and around without any accompaniment—once or twice I thought I would hear the "Oh-o-Oh"—but it wasn't worth the effort evidently, and everybody felt socially minded, including those who had to work under a handicap. Anyhow, it was near the zero hour; hope had almost vanished. To tell the truth the audience still preserved a last vestige of that expectant air.

There was a stir at one period, but it was confined to the nurses, who dived their bare arms into the drum so efficiently that they seemed to have been trained to the inch. The only people who were not the slightest impressed about a Rotunda Hospital winner was the audience. The nurses responsible for this phenomenon suffered no change of countenance, but their compatriots awaiting their turn to dig their arms into the mass of counterfoils cheered and clapped excitedly. For a moment it seemed as if one of the nurses engaged in the draw had won one of the prizes that didn't matter. It was the one occasion during the day on which there was a noticeable stir, but it turned out that it was a nursing friend who won the money, not one of those engaged on the draw, and the "story" just fell down.

As for the draw itself—it was just a succession of "Europes" and "New Yorks" or "Bronxs." The monotony was, if anything, more evident than on the previous day. There was a fairly strong Irish success, but it didn't matter—it was only £100 after all.

Dr. Rowlette, T.D., brought it to a finish. He spoke about research, and said that within a very short time it would be made available. Not only would this country benefit, but the whole world would be better off as a result, because it could not be limited to the boundaries of any country. They hoped, he said, that their research would produce more efficient methods of treatment all over the world, and would be shared by humanity at large.

And on this hopeful note the sweep ended.

GENERAL POST OFFICE FINANCE

SURPLUS ON TELEPHONES AND POSTS

CONTINUING DEFICIT ON TELEGRAPHS

INTRODUCING an estimate of £1,281,92d for postal and telegraphs, to complete the sum to defray the charges coming in course of payment to March 31st, 1937, Mr. J. BOLAND, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, said that the total Post Office expenditure estimated for the year 1936-37 was £2,031,928, this being a net increase, including bonus, of £31,414 on the estimate of last year.

The higher figure, he said, was due mainly to increased allowances by way of cost-of-living bonus and to expenditure consequent upon a revision of Post Office wages, which took effect in December last. The increases were, however, off-set to some extent by certain items accounted for under the head ing of appropriations-in-aid.

PROFIT AND LOSS

The true financial position of the department could be ascertained only from the commercial accounts, which show as follows:—

Postal Services—Income, £1,593,387; expenditure, £1,360,317; surplus, £233,070.

Telegraph Services—Income, £172,748; expenditure, £277,025; deficit, £104,277.

Telephone Services—Income, £467,952; expenditure, £389,885; surplus, £78,067.

It would, therefore, be seen that on the postal and telephone services there was a surplus of £311,137 against a deficit of £104,277, leaving a profit of £206,860 on the combined services, as compared with £35,707 in the previous year.

Cobh and Galway, the Minister said, are utilised to the utmost extent possible for the exchange of mails between this country and America. About 19,200 sacks of mails were despatched and 30,000 were received through these ports last year.

AIR MAILS

Correspondence for conveyance by International Air Services (82,000 items) during 1935 showed a large increase over that posted in the preceding year (58,900 items). About thirty per cent. of the traffic was sent by the London-India Service and twenty per cent. by the London-Capetown route. The Saorstat Post Office did not benefit financially, as all the additional postage required for transmission of packets by air was credited to the other administrations concerned.

In regard to cross-Channel air transport, he said that it might be found convenient to use the new air services between Dublin and Liverpool and Dublin and Bristol, and when the necessary time-tables are published the matter will be further considered.

Inland sample post within An Saorstat, which was introduced on 12th November in 1934, is being availed of to a considerable extent by Dublin manufacturers, etc. Based on a recent return, the number of sample packets posted in Dublin is estimated at 2,500 a week. The inland cash-on-delivery service increased slightly in volume during 1935. The number of parcels posted was 16,883, on which trade charges amounting to £17,635 were collected.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE TELEPHONE

Telegraphs here, as elsewhere, were still losing to the telephone, which was increasing in public favour. The development of the telephone service in Dublin and vicinity had been considerable, but the growth in other parts was normal only. The total number of subscribers' telephones and extensions was now 35,962, an increase of 1,443 over the previous year. The number of call offices and kiosks was 1,422 and 81, an increase of 42 and 11, respectively. Several additional "trunk" circuits had been provided with the object of improving service and others were in hands. The "personal" trunk call facility appeared to be much appreciated by telephone users. The number of such calls during the last financial year (40,000) showed an increase of 11,000 over the previous year.

The number of automatic exchange lines in Dublin at the end of February last was 9,275, an increase of 2,075 (which included the Rathmines and Terenure lines) as compared with last year. Plans for further development of the automatic system in the city area were in contemplation, and it was hoped to have automatic equipment installed in the Central Exchange, Crown Alley, early in 1937.

BUILDING PROGRAMME

The building programme for this financial year, the Minister said, includes the erection of a new central garage and workshop in Dublin in connection with the proposed Central Sorting Offices scheme; the transfer of the College Green Branch Office to a new building in St. Andrew street; structural alterations at Crown Alley Telephone Exchange in connection with the installation of automatic telephone equipment; the completion of a new Post Office building at Athlone; the completion of structural works for the adaptation of the premises at St. Patrick's quay, Cork, for letter and parcel sorting offices, postmen's office and Customs office, and the improvement and extension of the Thurles Post Office.

The increase in cost of living bonus for the year 1936-37 is estimated at £32,000, and the recent special revision of Post Office wages, which affects many classes of permanently and temporarily employed Post Office servants, will cost about £14,000. In addition, the hours of work of all departmental grades will be fixed at 44 a week net, a concession involving an extra cost of about £12,000 per annum. In this case relative authority was not received in time to allow of the additional expenditure involved being included in the current year's estimates, but, if necessary, sanction for a supplementary estimate will be sought later on.

THE NEW TELEPHONE RATES

The Minister referred to the reductions in the telephone charges, as already announced in the Irish Times, and said that the general effect of the rental and free radius charges will be that the rentals of about 2,500 existing subscribers, including subscribers in suburban districts, such as Cabra and Mount Merrion, in Dublin, will be reduced by amounts varying from £1 to £2 10s., according to the circumstances in each case.

As regards the trunk fees, the following examples indiate the benefit to the public of the changes:—

Dublin to Cork day charge reduced from 3s. 6d. to 2s. 3d.; Cork to Letterkenny, 5s. 6d. to 2s. 6d.; Tralee to London, 11s. 6d to 5s.; Dublin to London, 8s. 6d. to 5s.; Cork to London, 10s. 6d. to 5s.

A night call from Dublin to London, which now costs 4s. 3d., will be reduced to 1s. 6d.

INTERNAL PARCELS POST

REDUCTION IN RATES

The Minister, continuing, said that, having regard to the satisfactory financial position of the Post Office as a whole, he found it possible to announce also the following reductions in the rates for the internal parcel post service:—for the working class, was being sought. Was it not an exhorbitant price?

For parcels—

Not exceeding	1lb.
Exceeding	1lb.	but not over	2lb.
"	2lb.	"	3lb.
"	3lb.	"	4lb.
"	4lb.	"	5lb.
"	5lb.	"	6lb.
"	6lb.	"	7lb.
"	7lb.	"	8lb.
"	8lb.	"	9lb.
"	9lb.	"	10lb.
"	10lb.	"	11lb.

The reductions would apply to the internal service only, the existing rates being maintained for the services to Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

In view of the repeated representations which I have received both in this House and from the public in regard to the porterage charges on delivery of telegrams, said the Minister, I have decided, notwithstanding the heavy loss on the telegraph services, to which rural telegraph delivery in no small degree contributes, to reduce the present porterage charge of 6d. per mile, or part of a mile beyond the limit (one mile) of free delivery, to 3d. per mile, or part of a mile.

The charges for the delivery of express letters, etc., are fixed on the same general basis as telegram porterage rates, and having regard to the reduction in the latter it has been decided to reduce the express fee from 6d. per mile, or part of a mile beyond the first mile, to 3d. per mile, or part of a mile. In the express service the full distance from the delivery office is taken into consideration, no portion being free.

The cost of the foregoing reductions of charges will amount to approximately £70,000 a year. The revised charges will come into operation on the 1st of July next.

ALDBOROUGH HOUSE

Alderman A. BYRNE (Ind., Dublin) asked the Minister if he could hold out any hope that the Corporation Housing Department would be able to take over Aldborough House, or the site at its rear, which they had been seeking for the past five years.

The MINISTER said that the question of cost was holding up the whole business now. Personally, he was prepared to facilitate the Corporation in every way.

Alderman BYRNE observed that the sum of £7,000 per acre, or a sum of £20,000 to £30,000, for Aldborough House, the highest sum ever asked for a site in Dublin for houses.

Mr. BOLAND—I have done all I can in the matter. If I had my way I would give it free.

Mr. NORTON (Labour, Kildare) said he would like to remind the Minister that he was the worst employer in the State service. No other Department employed people at such scandalously low rates of wages. 2,158 his part-time employés had less than 20s. per week. He had 4,130 part-time and full-me employés at wages not exceeding 30s. per week.

Out of the total Post Office personnel of well over 8,000, about 350 had wages exceeding £4 per week. The deputy challenged the Minister to find any private industry in which there was a similar circumstance. Yet these facts were side by side with a Post Office net surplus of £206,000.

The Post Office staffs suffered from the injustice of being denied a weekly half-holiday.

COST OF TELEGRAMS

Mr. McMENAMIN (U.I., Donegal) said that Deputy Norton, who was the direct representative of the Post Office Workers' Union, had been for four years in frequent consultation with the Government, yet to-day the position of the workers was precisely the same as formerly. He suggested that the deputy should resign. It seemed to be the policy of the Post Office to wipe out the telegraph system. No ordinary person would dream of handing in a short-distance telegram, for which he had to pay 1s. 6d.

Mr. R. BRISCOE (F.F., Dublin) asked the Minister if he could provide a night telephone service in the smaller towns of the State.

Mr. J. COSTELLOE (U.I., Dublin) said that one of the reasons for the increased estimate was the increased cost of living; yet, they had been told by another Minister in the House that the cost of living had fallen. He suggested that the surplus should be put into the business as in any private enterprise. He asked the Minister to remove the 6d. charge on parcels. There were indications that the usual procedure in regard to promotion in the Civil Service was not being adopted, and he would like to have an assurance that there would be no political preferment in that respect.

Dr. ROWLETTE (Ind., Dublin Univ.) asked the Minister to consider the possibility of re-establishing an evening postal delivery in Dublin. He said that the day-light mail service, Holyhead-Dun Laoghaire, was no use, because the letters were not delivered until the following morning. With regard to air mails, people in foreign countries could send letters by this means to the Free State at half the cost of sending letters from here to their countries. The Minister should be able to get terms from the air mail authorities equal to those granted to South Africa and other Dominions.

MINISTER'S REPLY

Mr. BOLAND, replying, said that the Post Office workers were paid as well, comparatively, as any other class of workers. It was regrettable that it was impossible to do away with part-time labour. That could not be done; even the Labour Government of England could not do it.

Speaking of Post Office Wages, Mr. BOLAND said that he was not prepared to ask the Minister for Finance to put up the ratio of wages until people who were much worse off in the country were raised to the same level.

It was hoped that, as soon as possible, by using the small automatic services, that they might be able to provide night services in small towns. The amount of telephone traffic in some country places would not justify keeping on a night staff. If people wanted to get night calls in country towns they could go to the Civic Guards' barracks, where they would be facilitated, as they (the Civic Guards) had an arrangement with the Post Office.

The question of the charges for air mails was still under consideration with the British companies, and they might have a decision shortly.

The MINISTER said that the maximum weekly payments paid to Post Office clerks in Male Grade A were:—Class 1, £5 0s. 9d.; Class 2, £4 13s. 1d.; and Class 3, £4 5s. 5d. Post Office clerks, Male Grade B received—Class 1, £4 9s. 5d.; Class 2, £4 1s. 7d.; Class 3, £3 16s. 6d. Female clerks, Grade A—Class 1 received £3 11s. 4d.; Class 2, £3 7s. 6d.; and Class 3, £3 3s. 8d. The female Grade B rates were—Class 1, £2 2s. 5d.; Class 2, £2 18s. 7d.; and Class 3, £2 14s. 5d.

Postmen, Grade A, were paid—Class 1, £3 15s. 2d.; Class 2, £3 10s. 9d.; Class 3, £3 6s. 3d.; and Grade B postmen received—Class 1, £3 3s. 8d.; Class 2, £2 19s. 10d.; and Class 3, £2 14s. 5d.

The estimate was agreed to.

BROADCASTING REVENUE

£66,500 IN THE FREE STATE

ATHLONE STATION POWER TO BE RAISED

INTRODUCING, in the Dail last night, the estimate for Broadcasting Services, Mr. G. BOLAND, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, said that the amount required for the year 1936-37 was £57,700 as compared with £40,838 for 1935-36, showing an increase of £16,862. The revenue from wireless receiving licences last year amounted to about £42,500, showing an increase of about £8,500. Fees for advertisements and miscellaneous receipts amounted to about £24,000, showing an increase of about £10,700 compared with the previous year. The total broadcasting revenue amounted to £66,500.

The direct expenditure on the broadcasting service out of all votes last year amounted to about £50,000. The number of wireless licences issued last year was 85,000, an increase of 18,800. The revenue from licence fees in the year 1936-37 was estimated at £50,000, and from advertisements at £26,000, making a total estimated revenue of £76,000. The direct vote expenditure during the year was estimated at £69,208, showing an estimated surplus of £6,792.

INCREASED POWER

Provision had been made to increase the power of the Athlone high power station from 60 kilowatts to 100 kilowatts, which was the maximum allowed under international regulations, and it was hoped to have the work completed before the end of 1936. A beginning had been made in schools broadcasts, but in the light of the experience in countries which had spent considerable sums on broadcasts to schools, it was thought advisable to go slowly in this direction. The subject was being considered with the Department of Education.

Eleven symphony concerts were broadcast in the season. Five were station productions, five were given by the Dublin Philharmonic Society, and one was from University College, Cork. The broadcasting organisation had assisted musical endeavour by broadcasting from concert halls. It has in particular helped An Ceoil Cumann, which gives low-priced concerts in Dublin, and the Dublin Philharmonic Society.

ALL-ROUND IMPROVEMENT

A feature of special importance and considerable educational value is the reconstruction in dramatic form of historical events—great moments in Irish history. He felt justified in claiming that there had been a considerable all-round improvement in the broadcasting programmes during the last financial year, and he could promise that every effort would be made to make further improvements in the coming year.

"INSTRUMENT IN POLITICS"

Mr. McGILLIGAN (U.I., National University) said something in the way of praise should be given to the new Director. The money going to the station should be more than doubled and provide better entertainment for the people. The Director was not getting the money he should get. He did not think the Irish station could be held to compare favourably with the foreign stations. He was in favour of giving native talent its chance, but he found himself more and more turning away in disgust from the station. Personally he believed there was much more talent in the country than the Director, with the finances at his control, had been able to discover.

Mr. McGILLIGAN alleged that the station was being used as an instrument in politics, and in that respect they had reached a point not excelled anywhere outsid Fascist Italy or Nazi Germany. There were never so many people with American accents telling them how lucky they were to be living in this country, and how the farmers were never better off.

He suggested that there was a rigid censorship in respect of broadcast views, and he would like to know from the Minister whether it was a fact that some people were chosen to broadcast because their views were ascertained beforehand.

Progress was reported.

EXPORT BOUNTY ON POTATOES

The Department of Agriculture announces that as main crop potatoes imported into the United Kingdom will be exempt from import duty as from, and including, 26th March, 1936, the export bounty at present payable in respect of such potatoes exported from Saorstat Eireann to Great Britain and Northern Ireland will cease to be payable as from, and including the date in question, except for exports from the scheduled area in County Louth, in respect of which a bounty of 5s. per ton will be payable, subject to the usual conditions.

The removal of the import duty by the British Government is understood to be due to a shortage of potatoes in Great Britain. The amount of the bounty was the same as the British duty—namely, 17s. 6d. per ton.

CRUCIFIXES IN NATIONAL UNIVERSITY

At an ordinary meeting of the Students' Representative Council, held in 86 Saint Stephen's Green, Dublin, last night, the following motion, proposed from the chair, was passed unanimously:—

"That universal satisfaction is felt by the Student Body at the installation of crucifixes in all the lecture rooms and halls of University College, Dublin. That, further, it is considered desirable that the authorities of University College should understand that the students, by their action in erecting crucifixes, did not indicate any act of insubordination against the University authorities in any sense whatsoever, since it was considered to be outside their competency, under Statute, to grant such a permission, which otherwise would have been respectfully requested through the President of the College."

A copy of the resolution has been forwarded to the President of the College.

WEXFORD COAST FISHING

SALTEE ISLANDS AFFAIR

CRUISER NOW ON DUTY THERE

REPLYING to Mr. J. Keating (U.I., Wexford) in the Dail yesterday, who asked if the Minister for Agriculture was aware that two French lobster boats were working off the Saltee Islands, well within the three miles limit, on March 14th last, and that local fishermen of Kilmore quay had had to bring in their own lobster pots, being unprotected, and what action he had taken to protect the fishermen concerned.

Dr. RYAN said that on Wednesday, 18th March last, a report had reached the Department cvonveying substantially the allegations referred to in the question. The weather conditions about that time had become so bad as to preclude the immediate attendance in the Saltee Island area of the sea fisheries cruiser, but the vessel had since gone to patrol that area.

"SHOCKING PRICES"

Replying to Mr. W. Norton (Lab., Kildare), the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, stated that he had seen the statement made by the Resident Medical Superintendent of the Dublin Union that, due to the operation of "rings," shocking prices were being charged for commodities supplied to the institution. The article referred to—a baby's bath—was not included in the combined purchasing list. The Minister added that articles included in the list which could be used for the equipment of wards showed a reduction on the 1930-31 prices.

Mr. NORTON said that the case referred to was not an isolated instance, and local authorities had been compelled to draw attention to the rising cost of equipping public institutions, on many occasions.

The MINISTER stated that if local authorities were in a position to get these articles at a cheaper rate and of as good quality outside the combined purchasing list they were quite entitled to do so.

DUBLIN MILK SUPPLIES

Replying to a question from Mr. P. Belton (Ind., Dublin, N.), the MINISTER FOR LOCAL GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC HEALTH said he did not think the deputy was correct in stating that thousands of gallons of milk sold for human consumption in Dublin daily were produced from cows that were not subject to any inspection or supervision. In all districts in the country veterinary inspectors charged with the supervision of the milk supplies had been appointed, and it was difficult to see how large a number of cows could escape inspection or supervision. If, however, any such milk was supplied in Dublin the operation of the Milk and Dairies Act, 1935, would remedy the position in due course.

In further reply to Mr. Belton, the MINISTER stated that local authorities advertising for tenders for the supply of milk under free milk supply schemes had been recommended to give preference to milk from tuberculin-tested cows, and where such milk was not available at a reasonable price to take precautions that the contractor selected would be in a position to provide pure milk. His cattle and dairy premises were to be inspected regularly by the veterinary inspector, and samples of the milk supplies were to be tested from time to time as to quality and purity.

CHEAP LEGAL HELP

Mr. PATTISON (Labour, Carlow-Kilkenny) asked the Minister for Justice if he was aware that, due to the absence of an organised system providing free legal defence for poor persons involved in criminal and civil actions, great hardship was inflicted on people without the means to present their defence in the Courts; and whether, in the interests of justice, he was prepared to promote the establishment of a legal department to advise poor persons and to conduct their defence in all Courts.

Mr. G. BOLAND, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs (for the Minister for Justice), said he was not prepared to promote the establishment of a department on the lines requested.

Dr. RYAN (for the Minister for Industry and Commerce) informed Mr. Everett (Labour, Wicklow) that the number of foreign workers at present employed by the Irish Sugar Company of particular classes were—Inspection fitters, 7; master mechanics, 4; foremen electricians, 4; shift engineers, 10, and 32 other skilled workmen. Permits in respect of their employment had been issued to the company. The sugar industry, which involved many highly technical processes, was new to this country, and it was inevitable that skilled personnel with the essential technical qualifications should be brought from other countries. The replacement of aliens by national workers was proceeding gradually, and the whole position was kept under constant review.

COAL PRODUCTION

Replying to a question by Mr. R. Mulcahy, Dr. RYAN stated that the amount provided by the Exchequer and expended in the year 1934-35 with a view to developing and fostering coal production in the Free State was £1,456. The estimated expenditure for the same purpose for 1935-36 was £3,900. There was a further sum of approximately £3,250 in respect of these operations, which would not come in course of payment until the next financial year. In addition, sums amounting to approximately £4,500 were expended from moneys for the relief of unemployment, for the purposes of assisting in coal development during the two financial years mentioned.

INTERESTING PROPERTY SALE

"Blackheath," Castle avenue, Clontarf, the sale of which has already been announced in our advertising columns, will be offered at the premises at 4 p.m. on Saturday next (unless previously disposed of), and it is understood considerable interest is being manifested in this sale and in the sale of the furniture and appointments, which will open on Monday next, 30th inst., and continue for seven days. The sale is being conducted by Messrs. Battersby and Co., auctioneers, Dublin.

"Blackheath" itself is an imposing residence, standing on 22 acres, and although within ten minutes of the city enjoys a charming privacy, which is rare nowadays in our rapidly-developing suburban districts. It was built about fifty years ago by the late Mr. Gibson Black, and has been in the possession of the family since. It is situated on high ground, approached through a nicely timbered avenue, and the residence, gardens and pleasure grounds are in a perfect state of repair and condition. It is an ideal residential proposition, and the accommodation is not beyond the competence of many of our merchant citizens.

The catalogue of the furniture auction shows that 2,500 lots are to be offered during the seven days of the sale. On Monday the contents of the diningroom, including china, glass, plate, silver, etc., will be disposed of, and among these are some very nice specimens of Waterford glass and old Irish silver. The furniture of the diningroom, sittingroo. and ballroom will be sold on Tuesday; also books, Lots 597 to 625. Lots 821 to 1,084, comprising the diningroom and bedrooms, will be offered on Wednesday. The sale on Thursday will mostly include table and bed linen and furs. On the fifth day (Friday) the contents of the dressing room, study, grand corridor, etc., will be dealt with; also books, Lots 1,668 to 1,717. Saturday's sale will deal with the waiting room, entrance hall and domestic offices. On Monday, the 6th April, the garden and outdoor effects will be sold. Included in these are a fine collection of rock and Alpine plants, a Ford saloon and a Wolseley car, etc. Over 800 volumes are included in the book sales, dealing with history, travel, literature, fiction, art, music, religion, etc. For further details readers should examine our auction columns on Saturday next.

Cyclist Fined.—For cycling through the streets of Trim with his hands in his pocket, William Barry, Newhaggard road, Trim, was fined 10s. by District Justice Beatty. The prosecuting Guard said that when he examined the cycle he found both brakes were useless.

THE MOTHERS' UNION

RELIGION IN THE HOME

SPECIAL SERVICE IN DUBLIN

"EVERY home is a school of Divinity," said the Rev. E. M. Bateman, M.A., preaching at a special Service for fathers, mothers, and teachers, held under the auspices of the Mothers' Union of the Diocese of Dublin, Glendalough, and Kildare, in Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, last night. In nine cases out of ten, he said, a child, when he has grown to man's estate, worships the God of his fathers. There is significance in the words of the Old Testament. The God whom we serve or reject is the God interpreted or misinterpreted, revealed or caricatured, by the words and deeds of our parents and those who frequent the homes of our childhood. He referred to the attitude that some fathers adopt in their homes, making themselves a kind of bogey in the background, and so distorting the image of God in the minds of their children, and debasing the meaning of the word which Christ chose to express the character of God in His relation to man. Remember, he said, we achieve our religion intuitively rather than intellectually. We grow into it rather than think it out, and in no region of life are the influences of first impressions more persistent. It is of vital importance that they should be in substance true.

By Holy Baptism the parents had committed themselves to a partnership with God in the upbringing of the child. By Confirmation he was received into the Church; but if he was to lead the rest of his life according to this beginning there must be harmonious co-operation between the home and the Church.

THE CHURCH'S TASK

Referring to the task of the Church, the preached said that the Church has a right to claim that every baptised child should receive its religious instruction at the hands of the Church, but, unfortunately, in a city where the distracting influences of competing religious bodies were strong, the assertion of this claim was not an insistence. Some people were incredibly careless. Was it fair, he asked, to impose upon the Church the duty of a child's spiritual training and then to withdraw the child from the Church's care, making it impossible for that duty to be fulfilled? He referred to the case of a Church of Ireland child being allowed to attend the Service of another denomination, and, while he had no desire to belittle the work of the other denominations, "they are not the Church of Ireland," he said; "their ways are not our ways, and their teaching, even if uncontroversial, leaves out elements which we consider important." Clarity and definiteness were of vital importance in teaching the young, and these could not be found in a vague undenominaticnalism, which resulted, not in clarity, but in uncertainty and confusion of mind. If their children were to grow up into steady, sensible, God-fearing men and women, he counselled his listeners to make the parish church the centre of their religious life till it became a symbol for holiness, truth, and beauty, and all the things of the spirit.

The Mothers' Union should be the great ally of the clergy in solving the problem of carelessness and disloyalty, which, to a greater or less degree, presented itself in almost every parish.

Prayers were offered for the guidance of all those in charge of the young, and the offertory was on behalf of the Nursery Rescue and Protestant Children's Aid Society.

The Dublin French Society met in the Russell Hotel yesterday, Sir Robert Tate presiding.

M. Briére, secretary to the French Legation, gave a talk on "Mes Impressions du Théatre de Paris." He said that it was untrue to say that the Paris Theatre had been unable to stand against the cinema. The theatre had, however, learned that it could not follow the methods of the film, but must keep to the traditional limits of the stage. The theatre in Paris had just finished a most successful year.

Dundalk Rate Increase.—A sewerage scheme costing more than £40,000 and proposals to rehouse during the year 120 people from slum dwellings were stated by the Chairman of the Dundalk Urban Council (Mr. Joseph O'Hagan) to be the causes of an increase of 1s. 2d. in the £ in Dundalk's town rate.

Mayo Land Trouble.—At Brookhill, Claremorris, yesterday, about twenty men prevented two men employed by John Mullins from ploughing. Prior to the incident they notified Superintendent J. Kelly, Claremorris, of their intention. It is stated that the trouble arose out of land division in the locality.

Larceny Charge.—At Cork District Court yesterday Patrick McCarthy, 68 Gerald Griffin street, and Andrew Connolly, 11 Coach street, were remanded in custody when charged with breaking into the premises of John Casey, publican, Marlborough street, and stealing £19, and also with the unlawful possession of a Webley revolver and five rounds of ammunition.

Conversion Charge Fails.—When four witnesses had been examined for the prosecution, Judge Sealy, at Clonmel Circuit Court yesterday, directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in a case in which Thomas Bourke, Camogue, Knocklong, was charged with the conversion of sums totalling £242 received by him for the Limerick Steamships Company while acting as their agent.

Reason For Refusing Licence.—When at Coachford District Court yesterday Jeremiah J. Ring applied for a dance licence for a hall at Rylane, District Justice P. O'Sullivan said there had been a row between opposing political supporters at a dance at Rylane two years ago. Refusing the application, he said that he was not at all satisfied with the people in that area and he did not think that they could be trusted.

Large White Pigs Only.—Mr. Michael Fox, Town Clerk of Dundalk, who inquired into the possibility of a live pig market as a substitute for the pork market, states that the Secretary of the Pig Marketing Board has informed him that the town could best be served by carrying on the present pork market, and using all their influence to expedite the elimination of the Ulster boar. Southern buyers will not take the Ulster pig.

Post Office Clerk Remanded.—Edward Martin Kelly, who had been employed in Ceanannus Mor Post Office as a temporary clerk, was remanded on bail when charged at Trim District Court yesterday with the larceny of thirty postal packets, the property of the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs. The Superintendent said that the authorities had reason to believe that the accused boy during the past three months distributed as presents a number of articles stolen from packets passing through the post. The authorities requested all parties who received such presents to immediately surrender them to either the postal authorities or the Guards.

KEATING BRANCH ALL-IRISH CONCERT

A very enjoyable concert, under the auspices of the Keating Branch of the Gaelic League, was given in the Ancient Order of Hibernians Hall, 31 Parnell square, Dublin, last night. The most notable feature of the entertainment was that it was carried through entirely in the Irish language, the part-singing by the choir being particularly well done; whilst Irish songs by Maighread ni Cheallaigh, Sean O Siothchain, P. O Sasaide, and A. ni Mhaolagain were much enjoyed.

Some pleasing Irish selections by Hardebeck, Power and O'Brien were well played by the orchestra, and violin solos were contributed by Maud ni Daimhin and Maire ni Chonarain.

Duets and quartets by members of the Society, Irish dances, and a short sketch, "Siamsa Gaedheal," by Leon O Broin, completed the programme.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

EXTENSION TO FARM WORKERS

NORTHERN COMMONS DEBATE

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Wednesday.

THE Minister for Labour, Mr. J. M. Andrews, in the Northern House of Commons to-day, moved the second reading of the Bill to Extend Unemployment Insurance to Agricultural Workers. "I have felt for some years," he said, "that it was an anomaly that farm workers were left out of our Unemployment Insurance Acts, especially as they are insured under our Health and Pension Acts under exactly the same conditions, including rates of contributions and benefits as other industrial workers." Proceeding, he said that the bill corresponded with the measure which had been passed at Westminster. It was estimated that the scheme would cover between 31,000 men and 2,000 women in Northern Ireland.

The arrangement, he said, recognised that unemployment could be dealt with only on a national footing, and it endorsed once again the fact of their full partnership with their fellow-subjects in the United Kingdom.

Mr. H. Midgley (Lab.) said that for years the Opposition had been urging the Government to provide an unemployment scheme for the agricultural labourers. He added that no person in Northern Ireland had any right to be thankful to the Minister or the Government for this bill. They were merely following Great Britain.

Mr. Midgley complimented the Minister for his refusal to accede to the demands of the Farmers' Union for a reduction in the benefits to be paid under the bill, and remarked that the big farmers had hitherto been too much pampered by the Government.

The debate was adjourned until to-morrow.

Cyclist Killed.—That death was due to fracture of the skull as the result of a collision with a motor lorry was the verdict returned at an inquest on James Butterfield (59), farmer, Inchaguire, Ballitore, who was fatally injured while cycling on the main Dublin-Carlow road.

Bound by

Rheumatism

Feared she was losing the use of her right arm; now tells how Kruschen banished pain and weakness

'I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism and lumbago, and there have been times when I have not been able to move, so I decided to try Kruschen Salts. About three years ago I had a terrible pain in my right arm. I thought I was going to lose the use of it. I could not even carry the smallest parcel without losing all strength from it, and the pain was simply terrible; but I am pleased to say that has all disappeared since I have taken Kruschen Salts. I always keep them in the house, so that at the least sign of rheumatism I just get a dose from the bottle at once. I am sure they are simply wonderful.'

1st March, 1936. Mrs. N. B.

The pains of rheumatism are caused by sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as the result of sluggish elimination. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system. The six mineral salts in Kruschen are bound to dissolve away all traces of uric acid deposits. And more! They ensure such complete elimination—such perfect internal regularity that no such body poisons as uric acid are ever able to accumulate again.

Tasteless in Tea.

NO INCREASE IN PRICE. The large bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 3 months) still costs only 1/6. Do not pay more.

Murder Most Foul

Once more it is our painful duty to record the details of a peculiarly horrible murder in the Irish Free State. Only a few weeks ago we were proud to be able to write that Ireland was as peaceful and free from crime as any other country in the world; but some malignant fate seems to dog our nation's steps. Time and again, when the Saorstát has been at peace for a long period, the assassin's hand has done its foul work, and has recreated conditions of fear and uncertainty throughout the land. If some bitter enemy of our people had been seeking to do them harm, he could not have chosen a more effective method than the murder of Admiral Boyle Somerville on Tuesday night. This old gentleman was a member of one of the best-known and most highly honoured families in West Cork. He and his kind had a long and proud tradition of service in the Royal Navy, and the little village of Castletownshend, where he lived at peace with all his neighbours, shelters a regular colony of retired naval men, all of whom have deep roots in Irish soil. During recent months, it appears, young men from West Cork, following a tradition that goes back beyond the days of Nelson, have been joining the Navy, partly because the call of the sea is in their blood, and partly because the economic conditions at home do not enable them to wring a livelihood from the land. Admiral Somerville, who took a paternal interest in the "boys" of his native county, had been helping these young men with his advice, and there was nothing more natural than that they should discuss their plans with one who had seen so much service with the Fleet. He was a man who never took any part in Irish politics; but, even if he had been a rabid politician, he had reached the age of seventy-three, when he certainly could not have done much harm to any cause. Yet on Tuesday night a party of men with murder in their hearts came to the home of this old gentleman, and without a word of warning shot him dead. This appalling crime is bad enough in itself. Its sheer brutality will shock the mind of every decent Irishman, whatever his political views may happen to be, and we are quite certain that it will be condemned whole-heartedly by every section of the people. The matter, however, has a wider aspect. Admiral Boyle Somerville was a man whose name was known and revered throughout the British Commonwealth. The news of his murder already has been telegraphed to the ends of the earth, and we have no doubt that the enemies of Ireland will take the fullest advantage of it. We who live in the Free State know that the members of the minority in general have nothing to fear from their fellow-countrymen; but what will be thought in Great Britain and the Dominions? Coming so soon after the murder of Mr. Richard More-O'Ferrall, for which nobody yet has been brought to book, this latest horror will make it appear that assassination still stalks openly through our Irish land. The murder at Castletownshend is one of the blackest crimes that have been committed in our country. A harmless old man has been done to death in the most cowardly way; and a sorry day's work has been done for Ireland.

Transport and Progress

We refrained yesterday from comment on the annual meeting of the Dublin United Tramways Company in order that our readers might have twenty-four hours wherein to marshal their own impressions of the chairman's remarkable speech. Remarkable that speech was, not so much for what he said—though he said one or two things that call distinctly for comment—as for what he left unsaid. The burden of Mr. MacMahon's utterance was the damage which had been sustained by the D.U.T.C. as a result of last year's tramway strike and the consequent loss of revenue. There was lamentably little in his speech to suggest that the people of Dublin, who depend on regular, cheap and efficient transport services for a great part of their comfort, had any grievance at all. There was hardly a sentence to suggest that the directors of the company propose to remedy the notorious shortcomings of Dublin transport, whereof, whether they wished it or not, they hold a virtually complete monopoly. If there was anything which supplies hope for the future it was the chairman's announcement that the company has in hands "plans for development which will, we hope, accelerate our work . . . and before long supply us with uniform and reliable rolling stock capable of rendering regular and reliable services." That is good news, and would be even more welcome if it were more definite, and if it were linked with a programme of wholesale re-organisation. Yet, in comparison with the carefully tabulated figures of profit and loss—more loss, unhappily, than profit—which formed the middle section of the chairman's speech, the announcement is meagre and unsatisfying; it is the expression of a hope rather than the assurance of a certainty. If the speech had contained anything to imply that the company was genuinely conscious of its grave responsibility towards the capital city of the Free State; if the public had been given any reason to suppose that a real policy of progress was being formulated—we should have been content. It seems, however, that the directorate of the D.U.T.C. has no other aim than to keep the company's head above water, and that progress, like the needs of Dublin, may go hang.

To the one burning question that confronts all tramway companies the speech made no reference whatever. That question is: Can the tram survive? From many important towns it has disappeared altogether; from others it is being eliminated gradually, and is being replaced by other and more flexible types of vehicle; but nowhere, so far as we know, is the tram regarded as likely to remain much longer. In our view a time is coming when Dublin must look her last upon the tram and the tram-track. That time may not be yet, but it cannot be deferred very long, and the directors of the D.U.T.C., if they desire a reputation for prudence, must keep it in the forefront of their minds. The ideal substitute for the trams would be an adequate fleet of double-decked omnibuses after the London model; but here in Dublin it will be essential, in all probability, to take into account the claims of the Electricity Supply Board, one-sixth of whose total load is consumed at present by the electric tramways of Dublin city and its surroundings. In those circumstances, the "trolley-'bus" would seem to solve a large part of the problem. At what length did the chairman refer on Tuesday to the trolley-'bus? His actual speech did not contain a word on the subject, and it was only in answer to a shareholder's question that he deigned to mention it at all. Even then his comment was brief. He invoked the example of Liverpool Corporation, which, having considered the introduction of trolley-'buses, decided against it by a large majority. He did not invoke the example of a dozen other cities and towns in Great Britain which have realised that the trolley-'bus is the solution of their transport problem, and he did not recall the fact that, while all other types of vehicle have increased in number during the past twenty years in Greater London, the trams alone have decreased. We regret this omission from the chairman's speech. The question of a substitute for the tram is too important to be overlooked by a company that ought to consider the public good.

The public good, however, is not the thing that matters in the view of the Dublin United Tramways Company. It is difficult to believe that Mr. James MacMahon himself penned the words: "Very many of our critics boldly claim priority of public interest in the matter of fares, as if this concern were really owned by the public," with the shocked and scornful intent which is implicit in them. If the argument of the sentence quoted were carried to its logical conclusion it would permit the company to multiply fares by ten or twelve times if thereby larger profits might be earned. Neither we nor any other critics of the D.U.T.C.'s policy suggest for a moment that the company should overlook the interests of its shareholders; yet, for all the chairman's surprise, we really are so bold as to think that the first consideration of a public service ought to be the public's needs. The D.U.T.C. is not in the position of an ordinary private firm. Both the business and the pleasure of half a million citizens depend on its cheap and efficient working; a stoppage or shortage of services, or an increase in fares, means real hardship to those half-million citizens. If the products of a business firm become for any reason unavailable they can be supplied by another firm; but, as matters stand at present, the services of the D.U.T.C. are indispensable. It behoves the directors to consider first their duty to the public, and we have little doubt that, in so doing, they will find the only means which can restore prosperity to their shareholders. In housing, in industry, in entertainment, Dublin's conditions are changing with almost bewildering speed. Transport must be prepared to change with them. The D.U.T.C. may have little money to spend on root-and-branch alterations and improvements; yet its only hope of prosperity—indeed, of survival—lies in its readiness to make those alterations and improvements. The methods of 1920 cannot be applied to the problems of 1936.

Free State Apples

The apple is still causing trouble in the world, especially in the Irish Free State, according to the evidence of witnesses before the Fruit and Vegetable Tribunal. It is, however, not so much the fault of the orchards as of those who handle the crop. In 1934, when the Fruit-Growers' Association tried to raise Free State apples to their proper place in the scheme of things by issuing tissue wrappers to selected growers, the result of their efforts was unsatisfactory and discouraging. This admission was made by Mr. Bergin, of Athy, the Honorary Secretary of the Association; but, despite the initial set-back, he has not lost his faith in the wrapper. He strongly urged that a national mark should be adopted for all fruit, and that all graded apples should be wrapped in printed tissue wrappers, and packed in uniform packages of two or three kinds to suit market requirements. He also commended the registration of all growers and the erection of packing stations in various centres. Other suggestions included the establishment of a canning factory, a central cider factory, compulsory spraying, control of the supply to the Dublin market, and a minimum area for all commercial orchards. From the evidence it would appear that the methods of many growers leave much to be desired. They are careless, haphazard and, in some cases, not too scrupulous. They sin cheerfully against their own interests, and laugh tissue wrappers to scorn. Apparently there have even been cases of growers who "put Brambleys on the market in September"—an offence which one witness seemed to think fully merited "something lingering, with boiling oil." Reading the proceedings at the sittings of the Commission, one is forced to the conclusion that the majority of our fruit-growers must be saved from themselves, which will mean, incidentally, that the wise growers will be saved from the follies of their fellows. If it is essential to the salvation of the apple trade that the fruit should wear tissue paper jackets, it seems clear that this can be brought about only by legislation. One grower stated that we were nearer an export trade in apples than the Commission might think. Possibly he is right; but it would be more satisfactory to know that our export trade would be built up on sound lines, so that it could hold its own in the outer markets and increase steadily with the passage of the years.

Civic Carelessness

An English artist, Mr. Percy Smith, has directed criticism against certain examples, small in themselves, but in the aggregate important, of civic carelessness. "Our towns and countryside," he says, "are too often made untidy and ugly by the misuse of letters." He cites the case of lettering over shops; and here, we feel, his words are not without application to Dublin. How many Dublin shops are disfigured in appearance by ugly, pretentious lettering which makes no effort to harmonise itself with the lettering of other shops in the same street? How often does an accumulation of clashing types destroy the decent aspect of a good street? In many cases, indeed, there are other faults than those of type-design; letters drop off and are not replaced, there is bad spacing, there are commas where full stops ought to exist, and—most common fault of all—apostrophes are missing. Doubtless, the offending shopkeepers regard these lapses as trivialities, and care nothing so long as their names are unmistakable; but that attitude, in a capital city, admits of no defence. Mr. Smith raises another point. "Cannot our civic authorities," he asks, "seriously consider the question of the legibility—I might almost say the visibility—of our street names?" He speaks, we gather, on behalf of London, but the demand is equally applicable to Dublin. Far too many of the name-plates of Dublin streets either are placed so high that they cannot be read with ease from any lower level than the top of a tram, or they are begrimed so thickly with the dirt of years that no ordinary eyes can decipher them. When first installed, doubtless, they were attractive plates, but they have long outlived their span of usefulness; and it is no unusual thing for a stranger to ask the name of a particular street when he is standing underneath its own sign. Would it cost so much to make a thorough overhaul of the city's name-plates—to clean those which still could be restored to their one-time freshness, and to replace the rest by entirely new plates of similar design? We are surprised that the shop-keepers and renters of offices in the more important streets have not demanded this reform long ago.

POLICEWOMAN AS HOSTAGE

RIOT AT CHINESE UNIVERSITY

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SHANGHAI, Wednesday.

A policewoman, captured by the students of Fuhtan University in a serious clash with the authorities this morning, is being held as hostage. All roads leading to the university have been barricaded with barbed wire, and are held by the police with drawn revolvers.

The trouble started when the police raided the university in search of anti-Japanese agitators. They met with violent resistance from the students, and were driven off with stones, broken bottles and improvised weapons.

The policewoman and several policemen were captured. Subsequently the police arrested eight men and girl students, all of whom are alleged to be Communists. The policemen are stated to have escaped later in the day, but the policewoman is held as hostage by the students against the release of their comrades.

This evening the battle started afresh. The students attempted a sortie. They fell upon the police and the militia who were holding the barricades. After a sharp struggle they were driven back. One of them thereupon opened fire with a pistol, wounding two policemen in the leg. At the same time Captain Lei Pei-wu, commanding a detachment of police, received a tremendous blow on the head from a brickbat, and was seriously injured.

BIG AERODROME FOR BERLIN

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Wednesday.

Berlin is to have Europe's largest aerodrome, according to plans announced to-day. The plans, it is stated, all arose from a remark made by Adolph Hitler, when he landed at Tempelhof Aerodrome in January, 1934. He said: "This aerodrome is much too small. It is not good enough that 80 passenger 'planes should have to remain in the open air overnight."

He immediately gave orders to draw up a plan for the extension of Berlin's aerodrome. Work was begun last February. The aerodrome, which hitherto covered six hundred acres, will be extended to 1,600 acres. The future hangars will accommodate 120 big passenger 'planes besides a number of sports and visitors' machines.

INCREASED OUTLAY ON RELIEF

At a meeting of the Dublin Board of Assistance yesterday, Mr. P. S. Doyle, T.D. (Chairman), presiding, it was decided, on the motion of Mr. Gately, to draw the attention of the Minister for Industry and Commerce to the large increase in relief for able-bodied men, due to applicants being refused unemployment assistance for not seeking work, as, owing to such refusals, the increase in the amount of able-bodied relief had amounted to £100 a week.

LONDON LETTER

FRANCE AND BRITAIN AT VARIANCE

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

A CABINET meeting was called for this morning at No. 10 Downing street, when Sir Thomas Inskip, the newly-appointed Minister for the Co-ordination of Defence, was present for the first time. The Cabinet considered the question of a debate in the House of Commons to-morrow over the situation which has arisen in connection with the Locarno White Paper proposals. Such an action will give the Foreign Secretary an opportunity of making a full explanation of the situation, but at the moment there seems to be a very wide difference of opinion between this country and France on the proposals. Mr. Anthony Eden takes the view that the proposals were merely proposals, and may be amended by counter-proposals submitted by Herr Hitler, while France is of the opinion that they should be accepted or rejected by Germany as they stand, and demands further that the proposed arrangement for consultations between the British, French and Belgian General Staffs shall continue.

Locarno White Paper Debate

Dr. Dalton is to open the debate for the Labour Opposition to-morrow, when the Locarno White Paper is discussed, and Mr. Attlee will wind up for the same party. It is expected that Mr. Eden will make a statement for the Government quite early in the afternoon. Mr. Neville Chamberlain will also take part in the debate. In the Lobby to-day satisfaction was freely expressed, as it is thought that the debate may do much to clear the situation and remove misconstructions which have been placed on recent statements and events. It was pointed out that it is high time that other countries learned something of the opinions of the British people. In the House of Commons this evening Mr. Eden said that he hoped to make available to members as soon as possible in the form of a White Paper a collection of documents dealing with the efforts which, since the breakdown of the Disarmament Conference, have been made to reach a general political settlement in Europe, together with a report on discussions in which the Government have taken part regarding the Franco-Soviet Pact.

M. Flandin's Withdrawal

In London and Paris efforts have been made since Monday to explain away M. Flandin's statement that he would not return to St. James's Palace to discuss the Locarno proposals, but would go to his constituency to carry on his electioneering campaign for the remainder of the present week. It is now known that it was the French delegation which secured the adjournment to the League Council without discussion, and its intention to do this was known last Saturday, France insisting that the proposals must be forced on Germany, and that no discussion could be allowed. This attitude, backed, as it was, by threats that the French delegation would leave London, and later the League of Nations, has had a marked influence on political opinion. While few people are prepared to repose unreserved confidence in German methods, many think that a bold step for a general settlement is justified, and this view has been strengthened, rather than weakened, by the attitude assumed by France.

England Favours Germany

In parliamentary circles there is a strong opposition among all parties against the idea that the White Paper proposals must be regarded as something beyond discussion. This has been the view all along of the Labour and Liberal Parties, and now a growing body of Conservative opinion is showing marked uneasiness regarding the developments. There is a general desire that Parliament shall be taken into the confidence of the Government on this question. One of the points giving rise to some perturbation is the proposed agreement regarding the General Staffs, as this is looked upon as little less than a military alliance. It is no secret that public opinion in this country will certainly reject any such idea, and the Government will be wise not to press it unduly. Since Monday public opinion has again swung right round to the German point of view, and should the Government bring forward proposals for joining up with France in any military sense there will be a wave of indignation, which might have a marked effect on the Government's future prospects.

Anti-Aircraft Cruisers

The mystery surrounding the reconstruction of the two British cruisers H.M.S. Coventry and Curlew, has now been cleared up, and though the details has not been revealed it is known that the cruisers have been converted into floating anti-aircraft fortresses. The 6-inch guns, with which they were originally armed when built during the War, have been removed and replaced by batteries of anti-aircraft guns ranging up to 4-inch, with a new control system enabling fire to be concentrated at any angle. In addition to this they have been fitted with special protection to withstand attack from the air. The Coventry was reconstructed at Portsmouth, and the Curlew at Chatham. Both ships are with the Fleet in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Colonies Question

The Council of the London Liberal Federation passed by an overwhelming majority at their annual meeting a resolution calling on the Government to propose the reassembly of the Powers who signed the St. Germain Convention in 1919 to discuss the redistribution of territories granted under the mandate of the League of Nations, and to introduce modifications designed to ensure peace, freedom of trade, and the well-being of the native population. This resolution on the part of official Liberalism is likely to prove somewhat awkward, since it is understood that it is the intention of the German Government before many weeks have passed to put forward in a somewhat definite manner a claim for the return of some of the Colonies mandated to Great Britain. In the House of Commons there is a great majority against the acceptance of any such idea, but the Labour Opposition will regard the resolution as helpful in the campaign they will launch on this question.

The King's Stud

The King will be more often in London than was King George, and it may be because of this that he has decided to close down the Royal Stud Farm at Sandringham, sending the young horses to Wolverton. The mares will be transferred to Hampton Court. The move is being supervised by Brigadier-General Tompkinson, but it will be some time before the transfers are completed. There is ample accommodation at Hampton Court for nearly a score of horses, the stables being at present occupied by equine pensioners from Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle. The Stud at Hampton Court was famous in Turf history in Queen Victoria's day, and Sanfoin, a Derby winner, and La Fleche, one of the most famous mares that ever raced, were bred there. Paddocks are to be ready to receive the horses by the second week in May, and this morning painters were at work on the boxes, though there is little to attend to except decorations and minor repairs.

MURDER OF CO. CORK ADMIRAL

Had Helped Candidates for Royal Navy

ATTACKERS LEAVE MESSAGE BEHIND

Police Conference in Dublin Yesterday

THERE is now no doubt that Vice-Admiral Henry Boyle Somerville, who was shot dead in his house at Castletownshend, Co. Cork, on Tuesday night, was murdered because of his interest in young men of the locality who wished to join the Royal Navy.

A piece of paper, found on the floor in the hall of the house after the attackers had departed, bore the inscription: "This English agent has sent fifty-two Irishmen to the English forces during the last seven weeks."

Admiral Somerville, a man of 73 years of age, was most popular among all classes, and his death is generally deplored in the district.

He was shot while alone in his house with his wife, the servants having gone to an entertainment in the village hall. The attackers made good their escape in a motor car, and so far have not been traced, though local Civic Guards and detectives have been making exhaustive inquiries.

The inquest will be held to-morrow.

Colonel Broy, Commissioner of the Civic Guard, held a conference yesterday with the various heads of the detective branch. It is understood also that the Department of Justice was represented at the conference. The circumstances of the murder were discussed at length, and reports from Castletownshend area considered. Further instructions in regard to the search for the wanted men were issued.

CAR IDENTIFICATION CLUE

FROM OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE

SKIBBEREEN, Wednesday.

When I visited Castletownshend to-day I heard nothing but expressions of horror at the murder of Admiral Somerville, and comments on the senselessness of the whole affair. The dead man's only "crime," it appears, was that he gave help and advice to men who, on their own initiative, were seeking to join the Royal Navy.

In this connection it is important to remember that the search for work in the Navy is not confined to Castletownshend. During the last year or so, I have found, young men in all parts of South and West Cork have sought this means to escape from the effects of the agricultural depression.

So far as the Castletownshend district is concerned, Admiral Somerville's activities were confined to putting intending candidates in touch with the means of enlistment, and there is no doubt that many men profited by his advice.

FAMILIAR WITH VILLAGE

The murder on Tuesday night seems to have been carefully planned by men who were familiar with the village and its rather bewildering array of big houses. Moreover, a night was chosen which would be most suitable from their point of view, as a dramatic performance which was being held at the village hall emptied the houses of servants and the streets of passers-by.

A car was heard to pass down the street about 9.30 p.m., and to return soon afterwards, but that was all.

Admiral Somerville was alone with his wife at his house, The Point, when he heard a knock on the door. Mrs. Somerville, who was in the diningroom at the time, heard him go to the door and a man's voice asking, "Are you Mr. Somerville?"

"I am Admiral Somerville," he replied, and immediately a shot was fired, followed by several other shots.

SHOT THROUGH HEART

When the men had gone, Mrs. Somerville found that her husband had been shot through the heart and was dead.

She went immediately to the house of her brother-in-law, Admiral Hugh Somerville, whose grounds almost adjoin those of The Point, and passed the rest of the night there.

The outer door of Admiral Somerville's house is of glass, and forms part of a construction in front of the house, shaped rather like a bow window. As he stood before this outer door with a lighted lamp in his hand the Admiral was shot through the door, as I could see from the bullet hole in the glass.

He fell at once and the lamp went out, whereupon the murderer, with the evident intention of frightening Mrs. Somerville, seems to have stepped a little way into the hall and to have fired five or six more shots. A grandfather clock was hit by one bullet, and several others lodged in the wall, while cartridge cases belonging to the parabellum type of revolver were found on the floor.

AT LEAST TWO MEN

Two men, at least, took part in the crime, and wheel-tracks show that they brought their car down the steep and difficult hill which leads to the avenue gate of The Point. It is not certain whether the man who fired the shots walked up the avenue from the car or whether he left it farther up the hill and made his way on foot to Admiral Somerville's house through the gardens of the other houses that adjoin it.

They rejoined the car after the murder had been committed, and the police believe from its wheel-tracks that it was a "baby" Ford, probably a new one.

They have traced the route of this car along the macadam road as far as Derrylea, which is some miles away, in the direction of Leap, but from that point they cannot tell where it went. The wheel tracks, however, are quite clearly marked on the grass margin in front of the Admiral's gates, and may give some clues. Others may be afforded by the fingerprints on the piece of paper, if any. Civic Guards and detectives to-day were in possession of The Point, where Mrs. Somerville is still staying, and taking careful measurements of anything which is likely to be of help.

INQUEST TO-MORROW

The body of Admiral Somerville remains in the house, and an inquest will be held on Friday.

Admiral Boyle Somerville has many close relatives in Castletownshend. His sister, Miss Edith Somerville, who, with "Martin Ross," wrote the "Experiences of an Irish R.M.," lives a few hundred yards away at Drishane with her brother, Colonel Cameron Somerville. Admiral Hugh Somerville is even closer at hand, while Lady Coghill, his sister, also lives in Castletownshend.

The general feeling in the village is one of bewilderment. Admiral Somerville never showed any interest in political affairs, and there is no question of his having canvassed young men to join the Navy. He had, naturally, a knowledge of the necessary procedure for enlistment and some acquaintance with the recruiting authorities in Liverpool and elsewhere, but the men who came to seek his advice came of their own accord. His friends confirm the fact that he regarded the task as an inevitable and rather troublesome duty, not as a self-imposed labour, and it was characteristic of the man that almost his last words should have been, "I suppose this is another of my boys"—meaning another seeking for advice—as he walked to the door.

Mr. Michael FitzGerald Somerville, youngest son of Vice-Admiral Boyle Somerville, was married to Miss Barbara Gregg, youngest daughter of the Archbishop of Dublin, in August last.

VICE-ADMIRAL SOMERVILLE

A TRIBUTE

Mrs. Anstey writes to The Times to-day: The dastardly murder of Vice-Admiral Boyle-Somerville adds yet another martyr to the long list of those who have died for Ireland. The only explanation for this cowardly outrage is the fact that an increasing number of young men, many of them sons of farmers in the South of Ireland, seeing no chance of a livelihood at home, and, with the difficulties of emigration, have been striving to get into the British Navy, and applied to Admiral Somerville to help them to that end. He responded whole-heartedly, and gave time and service ungrudgingly, to those who appealed to him. The murderers seem to have flung a poster on the subject of recruiting into the house when they shot their defenceless victim, thus exposing their sinister design.

The death of Vice-Admiral Boyle-Somerville is an incalculable loss not only to his devoted wife and children, to his brothers and sisters and his countless friends, but to literature, for he lately produced two remarkable books, "The Chartmakers" and "Commodore Anson's World Voyage," the latter a graphic description of one of the greatest achievements of the British Navy. He had almost completed a third book, and there are many very interesting contributions in magazines to his credit. Those who had the privilege and happiness of his friendship are, indeed, bereft, for his personality was altogether endearing. A most faithful and unselfish comrade, he was also, by reason of his brilliant and versatile mind, a wonderful and unique companion.

THE QUEEN MARY

TESTS MADE AT SEA

The Queen Mary, after being 11 hours at sea testing her compasses, her steering, and her engines at various speeds, in preparation for her journey to Southampton, returned to her anchorage off Gourock at 8.15 p.m. last night.

She had steamed to the south-eastern corner of the Isle of Arran. During most of the day the visibility was such that thousands of people in the various seaside towns which she passed were disappointed in not being able to see her, but when she returned to the tail of the bank last night the atmosphere had cleared, and the great crowds gathered at Gourock and Greenock had a splendid view of her.

She was given another triumphal reception on her return to the estuary of the river.

The object of yesterday's test was in no way to put the liner all out on her speed trials.

A RATHMINES ACCIDENT

WOMAN'S DEATH FOLLOWS INJURIES

Mrs. Lucy Farrell, 133 Upper Rathmines road, Dublin, who was involved in a motor accident at Rathgar road, Dublin, on Tuesday, sustaining severe head injuries, died in the Meath Hospital yesterday. The police, it is stated, are making investigations to locate the driver of the car.

SIGNING OF NAVAL TREATY

ITALIAN VIEW OF SANCTIONS

LORD MONSELL ON POINTS

AMERICAN OFFICIAL ATTITUDE

THE signing of the London Naval Treaty at St. James's Palace yesterday was marked by an outspoken attack on sanctions and on the Anglo-French agreement for mutual naval assistance in the Mediterranean by Signor Grandi, the Italian delegate. The Treaty was signed by Mr. Anthony Eden, Viscount Monsell, and Earl Stanhope for Great Britain, and by the representatives of the United States, France, and the nations of the British Commonwealth, with the exception of the Irish Free State and South Africa.

Signor Grandi's speech was delivered after Lord Monsell (First Lord of the Admiralty) and Mr. Norman Davis (head of the United States Delegation) had expressed their hopes for the success of the new Treaty. Lord Monsell had paid a tribute to the "admirable help and co-operation" of the Italian Delegation, and had said that the wish was in the minds of them all that Italy's accession to the Treaty would not be long delayed.

Signor Grandi said that his Government had hoped that before the conclusion of the Conference the "abnormal situation in which Italy found herself would have been clarified," but that this had not happened

"Only a few weeks after the Naval Conference," he added, "Italy found herself confronted with agreements of mutual naval assistance in the Mediterranean, which were openly designed to give military support to those very sanctions, the iniquity and injustice of which the Italian people so deeply resent. . . In these circumstances, the Italian Government find themselves compelled to maintain unprejudiced their freedom in the field of naval construction. . . This is the first time in the history of united Italy that our people feel their life being imperilled in the Mediterranean."

LORD MONSELL'S REGRET

Lord Monsell indicated that among the principal points of the Treaty were:—

A greatly elaborated system for the advance notification of annual programmes and exchange of information far in advance of anything in the Washington and London Naval Treaty.

A protocol, in virtue of which all the maritime Powers will be invited to accept the rules for the treatment of merchant ships in time of war, which were embodied in the London Naval Treaty of 1930.

He said that it was a matter for deep regret that the new Treaty differed from its predecessors in that there was no provisions for the direct quantitative limitation of naval armaments, but it remained to be seen whether this would give rise to any actual competition in the numbers of warships to be laid down in the future.

"We have all noted with satisfaction," he added, "the assurance given by Japanese statesmen that Japan has no intention of doing anything which is likely to promote a naval race in the future. We have every hope that this draft Treaty will recommend itself to the Japanese Government when they have had full time and opportunity to consider its provisions."

Mr. Norman Davis also referred to the absence of provision for quantitative reduction and limitation, and said that in this respect the Treaty fell short of their best hopes. "Whether qualitative, without quantitative, limitation can, in the long run, prove sufficient to prevent competition is a matter which only the future can determine," he declared. "It will depend largely on the good-will of the Naval Powers in adhering to the letter and spirit of the new Treaty whether or not the restored freedom as to numbers will be abused by extensive building, which destroys stability and upsets the equilibrium of security."

POINTS FROM THE TREATY

NO CRUISERS OVER 8,000 TONS

The text of the London Naval Treaty was issued last night. It provides that capital ships should be limited to a maximum of 35,000 tons, aircraft carriers to 23,000 tons, and prohibits the building of cruisers and destroyers over 8,000 tons, while submarines are limited to 2,000 tons.

Gun calibre for capital ships is fixed at 14 inches, but if any of the Washington Powers fail to accept this provision before April 1 next—this includes Japan and Italy—the maximum gun calibre shall be 16 inches.

In the case of cruisers, destroyers and aircraft-carriers, the maximum gun calibre is 6.1 inches, and for submarines 5.1 inches.

An important feature of the treaty is that the Powers will communicate their annual programme within the first four months of each year, and once declared no increase is permitted. No principal class of warship can be laid down until after the lapse of four months from the date when the programme is communicated.

There are safeguarding clauses under which a signatory can be released, but in all cases consultation between the Powers is required, and three months' delay is imposed before departing from the obligations of the treaty, except that in the case of war the Power involved can suspend them at once, and the other parties, after consultation, can suspend them forthwith.

The treaty comes into force on January 1st next, and continues until December 31st, 1942; but it is hoped that the system of advance notification and exchange of information will be continued afterwards by international agreement.

A memorandum by Mr. Eden states that provision is made for the British Government to initiate a consultation in 1940 with a view to calling a conference in the following years to determine whether a further reduction in gun calibre and size of capital ships is possible.

"The full extent of reduction and limitation aimed at by the British Government has by no means been achieved," he states. "A substantial measure of success has, however, been accomplished."

The reductions in displacement and calibre of gun, although not so drastic as the Government had hoped, were sufficient to ensure considerable financial saving in future naval construction programmes.

UNITED STATES' VIEW

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.

The United States is very pleased with the results of the London Naval Conference, declared Mr. William Phillips, Under-Secretary of State, at a Press conference to-day. He added that although the new Treaty did not go as far as had been hoped, it, nevertheless, showed substantial progress towards limitation. Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, has telegraphed congratulations to Mr. Norman Davis and the remainder of the United States delegation in London.

COAL TRADE DISPUTE

AGREEMENT WITH COKE MERCHANT

PUBLIC FEELING THE STOPPAGE

THERE were no efforts made yesterday to bring about a settlement in the Dublin coal trade dispute. During the day representatives of the Dublin Trade Union Council suggested to the Department of Industry and Commerce that alternative supplies of fuel should be made available for the public. It was suggested that this could be done either through a State-controlled turf dépôt in the city or through special arrangements with an individual merchant. The Council was in touch with the Strike Committee. It is understood that this body favours the proposal, providing that, if a merchant is selected as a distributor, it will not be one of the firms involved in the stoppage.

The unions affected by the strike propose to approach the Dublin Corporation regarding the possibility of establishing a municipal coal yard.

Final agreement was reached between a Dublin coke merchant and the Strike Committee yesterday on the demands of the men. Workers employed by this firm have been carrying on work as usual since the strike began.

HOSPITALS' REQUEST

During the day the management of two associated Dublin hospitals appealed to the strikers for coal supplies. In a communication to the Strike Committee it was stated that the hospitals depended upon steam heating, and that there was only two days' supply in hand. It was pointed out that the work of the hospitals would have to be curtailed if coal could not be obtained. The Strike Committee referred the management to the coke supplier with whom a settlement had been made.

Another vessel arrived at the port yesterday. It is not being discharged, as its cargo is consigned to a coal merchant who is affected by the strike.

No further difficulty has arisen regarding the discharge of cement cargoes, and the strike has not been extended any further.

Dun Laoghaire coal factors have objected to Dublin factors securing supplies at that port, and men who went from the city for coal returned with empty carts. The Dun Laoghaire wharves are now being picketed by the strikers.

Members of the Civic Guard were on duty at the various points at which pickets had been posted in the city, but there were no incidents of any kind.

PICKETING EXTENDED

Picketing was extended yesterday to the coal offices. On the previous day pickets were posted only at yards and wharves.

The full effects of the stoppage are now being felt by the public. This applies particularly to those who usually purchase their supplies from bellmen in small quantities. On the previous day some factors appeared on the streets, and coal was obtainable at certain shops in the working class districts.

Yesterday there was very little evidence of any trade in coal in the city.

The Port Committee of the Irish Seamen's and Port Workers' Union met last night to consider the situation. A mass meeting of the strikers will be held on Sunday.

ATTACK ON RUSSIANS

JAPANESE CROSS BORDER

MANY KILLED AND INJURED

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Wednesday.

ANOTHER Russo-Japanese frontier incident, likely to embitter relations between the two countries, which have shown signs of improvement recently, is reported officially from Khabarovsk (Siberia).

Several Japanese and Russian soldiers are stated to have been killed and wounded in the affair, which took place near Hunchung, at the junction of the Russian, Manchukuan and Korean frontiers.

According to the Tass Agency, a patrol of seven Japanese soldiers this morning crossed the frontier and advanced about 250 yards into Soviet territory to a position, from which they opened fire on a Russian patrol of five frontier guards. After a skirmish lasting about half an hour the Japanese retreated across the frontier, leaving one Japanese officer and one soldier dead on Russian territory.

Nearly six hours later another Japanese detachment, fifty or sixty strong, with light and heavy machine-guns, crossed the border in the same neighbourhood, near Boundary Mark No. 8, and advanced 250 yards to an elevation, from which they opened fire on the neighbouring Russian frontier post.

The Russians counter-attacked, and when evening fell the Japanese retreated once more across the frontier, after several men had been killed or wounded on both sides.

Immediately after information of this incident was received in Moscow, says the Tass Agency, the Soviet Ambassador in Tokyo was instructed to protest to the Japanese Government, demanding a strict investigation and punishment of the guilty parties. He was also instructed to reserve the right of the Soviet Government to present demands at a subsequent date for the compensation of the Russian victims of the fighting.

EXPELLED FROM AUSTRIA

FORMER GERMAN CHANCELLOR

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Wednesday.

Accused of having violated the right of sanctuary, Dr. Joseph Wirth, the former German Chancellor, who since the advent of the Nazi régime in 1933 has been living in Vienna, has been asked by the Austrian State Police to leave the country. He has left for Italy. It is alleged that Dr. Wirth made derogatory remarks about the Government of Austria.

FREE STATE BUDGET STATEMENT

Replying to a question from Mr. Norton (Labour, Kildare), in the Dail yesterday, Mr. Hugo FLINN, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister for Finance, said that the Minister hoped to be in a position to make his Budget statement on Wednesday, April 29.

TRADE TALKS HITCH

A RETURN TO MOSCOW

EFFECT OF HITLER SPEECHES

"HAND" OFFERED TO FRANCE

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Wednesday.

NEGOTIATIONS for an improvement of German-Russian trade have been interrupted as a result of the repeated attacks on the Soviet Union by Adolph Hitler. The Soviet Trade Commissioner has informed Dr. Schacht of this effect of the Chancellor's speeches, and has gone to Moscow to report to his Government.

An appeal to France, and condemnation of secret treaties and military alliances, were the main points of a speech by Herr Hitler to-night at Ludwigshafen, near Mannheim, in the Rhineland.

"I do not believe in a man who says that Geneva, London or Paris, or others, will stand for our rights," he declared. "No, my people. You must believe in your own power, and by strong conviction you must re-establish your rights and honour by your own ability.

"Our National Socialist love for peace may be unintelligible to other nations of Europe. By the word 'peace' we do not mean slavery and subjugation, but we demand peace with equal rights between equal partners. We would never dream of forcing on France a zone with foreign troops.

"The German people wishes to offer its hand to the French people. Not this or that politician must decide, but if the French politicians who are standing opposite us are willing to accept our hand and to walk the way of peace with us, then we shall rejoice."

LONDON OFFER REPORT

Herr von Ribbentrop's talk with Mr. Eden at the Foreign Office yesterday was at the German envoy's request. He said that he wanted to explain more fully the German point of view concerning the White Paper proposals.

Herr von Ribbentrop will remain in London until to-day or Friday. He will go back to Berlin for the week-end and return on Monday or Tuesday with the contemplated German counter-proposals.

An unconfirmed report has been received in Paris from London that Herr von Ribbentrop suggested to Mr. Eden that he should intercede with the French Government in favour of the conclusion of a permanent Franco-German Treaty of non-aggression. The report continues that the suggestion was greeted with no enthusiasm in French circles.

PARIS VIEWS

Paris, says a Reuter message, has two touchstones for the attitude of Great Britain—firstly, the debate in the House of Commons to-day, and secondly, the reaction of British statesmen to the counter-proposals of Herr Hitler, which are to be presented in London on March 31st. The Press is looking ahead, and a harmonious chord is struck by a variety of evening papers, of which the following are extracts:—

Journal des Débats—Our one recourse is to hold temporarily aloof while increasing our strength pending the return of Great Britain to common-sense under the pressure of events.

Intransigeant—We must now think of the most appropriate means for defending ourselves without renouncing any undertakings that have been given to us.

Paris-Soir—We must not lose an instant, writes Jules Sauerwein, to re-establish and consolidate our Continental system without any hostility to Great Britain or any intention of encircling Germany, but with the clearly marked desire to base our security on realities and no longer on fictions.

JOINT MILITARY ACTION

SUGGESTED BRITISH PLEBISCITE

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Baldwin, the Prime Minister, replying to Mr. Johnston (Labour), said that he could give no undertaking that before the establishment of the continuance of conversations for joint action by the military General Staffs of Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy, in the event of unsatisfactory replies being given by the Government of Germany to the proposals made to it on March 19th, he would seek authority for such military conversations in precise terms by plebiscite from a majority of the persons qualified to vote at parliamentary elections and at present upon the electoral rolls of the country.

Mr. Johnston—"Is the Prime Minister aware of the deep-seated feeling in this country against military alliances as against the policy for relying on the Covenant of the League of Nations?"

Mr. Baldwin—"I hope in the progress of the debate to-morrow those anxieties may be considerably allayed."

ITALY'S ANSWER UNSATISFACTORY

BOMBING OF BRITISH AMBULANCE

Lieut.-Commander Fletcher (Lab.), having asked the Foreign Secretary what the present position is concerning his representations to the Italian Government relative to the bombing of a British Red Cross unit in Abyssinia, Mr. Eden has written in reply that he is still awaiting the comments of the officer in charge of the ambulance upon the summary of the Italian Note.

"I have, however, in the meantime," he adds, "received the full text of the Italian Note, and, in view of the information so far in my possession, I have already felt bound to inform the Italian Government that His Majesty's Government are quite unable to regard the Italian answer to the representations which have been made to them as in any way satisfactory."

MR. DE VALERA'S OPERATION TO-DAY?

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ZURICH, Wednesday.

The eye operation which Mr. de Valera, President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State, is to undergo here, has now been postponed until to-morrow or the day after, it is understood. Previously it was thought that the operation would be performed this afternoon. Mr. de Valera arrived here this morning. He is consulting Dr. Vogt, the famous Swiss specialist.

HEIDELBERG AND DUBLIN

INVITATION TO CELEBRATIONS

PROFESSOR ALTON TO REPRESENT T.C.D.

"WE have discovered no reason, so far, to alter our decision to send a delegate to Heidelberg University in connection with its forthcoming celebrations," said a member of the Board of Dublin University last night, when discussing with an Irish Times reporter the action of the Oxford University in declining to accept the invitation of the German University.

It was learned last night that the Board of Trinity College received a form from the Heidelberg University, which asked if the Dublin University would be represented, and, if so, for the name of the delegate.

The communication came before the governing body of Trinity College, and it was decided to accept the invitation, and to send Professor E. H. Alton as their delegate. The relations between Heidelberg and Dublin Universities always have been cordial, and many Dublin students go to the German University after they have finished their courses at Trinity.

A CONTROVERSY

After the decision to accept the invitation, which was unanimous, a controversy arose in England as to whether British universities should be represented, having regard to recent developments in Germany. The Registrar of Dublin University, the Irish Times reporter was informed, in view of the various letters and articles that appeared in the Press suggesting that the British delegates should not attend the celebrations, again brought the matter before the Board. The latter decided to uphold the previous decision. Then the Board received a letter from a distinguished professor in an English university. He pointed out various reasons why Trinity College should not send a delegate.

It has been decided that this letter will be discussed at a meeting of the Board, but there is little likelihood that the former decision will be altered.

Despite the controversy that has taken place in England, no direct representations from any source in this country have been made to the governing body of Trinity College in regard to the matter.

The Board, it is stated, do not relish the idea of any breach with Heidelberg University, whose associations with Dublin hitherto have been of the most pleasant character.

Professor W. Thrift, the Vice-Provost, when approached last night, declined to discuss the matter, saying: "The less said about it for the present the better."

Professor Alton confirmed the fact that he had been nominated by the Board to attend the celebrations, and had received already many papers and documents in connection with them.

Professor W. A. Goligher said that the Dublin University authorities had sent no communication to Heidelberg, other than the completed form accepting the invitation.

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE NAVAL TREATY

The Times in an editorial article remarks to-day: With the signature yesterday of a Treaty of Naval Limitation by France, United States and the British Empire, the Naval Conference has brought its labours to what, on the whole and in the circumstances, must be considered a successful conclusion. Neither in the number of its signatories nor in the restrictions it contains is the treaty so far-reaching as was widely hoped when the Conference assembled in December. Nevertheless, it represents a step forward. In Lord Monsell's words, there is real matter for congratulation in the extent to which the Conference, undismayed by successive shocks, has succeeded in maintaining the ideal and the practice of international control of naval armaments.

Of the Washington Powers who have not signed the treaty Japan quitted the Conference on the rejection of her own particular plan for the limitation of navies; but her departure seems to have been due more to the exigencies of internal politics than to aversion from the cause of limitation, and the fact that Japanese observers remained in session was evidence of the good-will with which her Government regarded that cause. The chief Japanese objection to the Washington Treaty was its discriminatory provisions, which were felt in Japan to be derogatory to national dignity.

There are, as Lord Monsell insisted yesterday, no such provisions in the new treaty, which applies equally to all Powers subscribing to it, and is of benefit to all. It might, indeed, be considered to be one of the greatest benefit to those Powers which depend most upon armaments, since for them the financial saving will be greatest. Of these, Japan, half of whose budget is devoted to her fighting forces, must be accounted one, and there is good ground for hope that she will adjudge it to be in her interest to adhere to the treaty in the end. Italy's position is different. She has delayed her signature of the treaty ostensibly on the technical grounds that she desires lower qualitative limits for battleships and a different arrangement of the non-construction zone. But she continued to co-operate helpfully in the framing of the treaty, and Signor Grandi made it clear enough yesterday that technical difficulties would appear less formidable in a more tranquil political atmosphere.

CORK STRIKE SITUATION

MEN REJECT TERMS

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Wednesday.

The conference which is discussing the Cork municipal workers' demands for a ten shillings weekly wages increase sat again to-day.

The conference concluded at 2.15 p.m., and it was learned that on behalf of the City Manager and Aldermen an offer was made of an advance of 2s. 6d. weekly in wages, but this did not appear acceptable to the workers' representatives.

In an official statement issued this evening the City Manager confirms the offer of a half-crown increase, and adds: "The City Manager and Aldermen deprecate the position in which wage demands can be made under threat of withdrawal of labour necessary for maintenance of the services essential to industrial activity and to the health of the citizens, and consequently this offer is conditional on the acceptance of the principle that the wages payable to unskilled labourers in the employment of the Council should rise or fall with the wages payable to builders' labourers in the City of Cork.

To-night's meeting of Cork municipal workers, held at Connolly Hall, decided by a majority of 168 votes to 6 on a ballot vote to reject the offer made to-day on behalf of the Corporation. The men's demand was for a 10s. weekly wages increase.

The rejection of the offer implies that, unless a further step towardse conciliation is made, the men will cease work on Friday evening.

EDWARD BALL IN THE DOCK

CHARGED WITH MATRICIDE

STATE'S THEORY OF CRIME

ALLEGED STATEMENT BY THE PRISONER

EDWARD PRESTON BALL, the nineteen-year-old actor son of Dr. Charles Preston Ball, made his first appearance in the dock of the Dublin District Court yesterday to answer the charge of murdering his mother, Mrs. Lavena Ball, at 23 St. Helen's road, Booterstown, between 6.10 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. on February 17.

The Courtroom was crowded. The passages leading to the dock and the solicitors' table were thronged, and the police officers of the Court had to order the people, a large proportion of whom were women of all ages, to leave. There was a rush to the public gallery, and soon it was crowded also, people hanging over the railings to get a glimpse of the dock.

After the calling of the case there was no appearance of the accused youth in the dock. Mr. Cussen, the District Justice, who is hearing the case, asked Mr. Kevin Haugh (who, instructed by the Chief State Solicitor, is prosecuting) if there was any difficulty in removing young Ball, and Superintendent Dunleavy said that there had been none, and that the accused youth was on his way from the Bridewell.

IN THE DOCK

There was a further delay of five or six minutes, and then, with two detectives on each side of him, he walked slowly into the dock, where he took his seat. He is a tall, young man of good physique, with a soft, healthy-looking complexion and long, "wavy" hair, which falls over his forehead. His neck was swathed in high, stiff bandages. On taking his seat he looked around the court, and as Mr. Haugh outlined the case for the prosecution he looked fixedly at Mr. Cussen.

Sometimes he leaned forward, his bandaged right arm up to his face and his elbow on his knee, but for the most part he sat straight in the dock watching Mr. Cussen.

Immediately before him sat Mr. Sean Hooper, who (instructed by Messrs. Miley and Miley) is defending. Mr. Hooper took a full note of Mr. Haugh's statement in shorthand.

Mr. Kevin Haugh said that it would be necessary to call a great deal of evidence. It would be shown that on Monday, February 17, 1936, Edward Preston Ball and his mother lived at 23 St. Helen's road, Booterstown. Evidence of their movements on that day would clearly show that both lived a normal existence, no different from their lives on the previous Thursday, when the accused man went to live at the house.

"OPPORTUNITY AND MOTIVE"

"The suggestion of the State," he continued, "is that between five minutes past six on that evening and half-past seven on the same evening the late Mrs. Ball received in her front bedroom a blow, or blows, from some instrument, of such violence that either immediately or shortly afterward led to her death. The evidence that is called by the State will go to show that the only person who could have, or did, in fact, have, the opportunity, the means, and the motive to cause such wounds was, and is, her son, Edward Preston Ball. She was last seen alive at five minutes past six that Monday evening by a daily maid employed by her, Miss Lily Kelly, who will tell you that when she left her Mrs. Ball was in her ordinary good health. From that time, five minutes past six, up to the present moment, as far as I am advised and instructed, that lady, Mrs. Ball, has not been seen nor heard of, dead or alive."

In August, 1935, Ball, he said, had completed his education at an English school, and after that had spent some time in London, and then came back to Dublin with a view to living permanently in his mother's house. Mrs. Ball was the wife of Dr. Charles Preston Ball, who lived at 81 Pembroke road. For some years husband and wife had lived apart.

"The boy," counsel said, "would appear to have gone to live with his mother some time in August, 1935, and resided alone with her up to November, 1935, and it will be my distressful duty to show that during that period the relationship that existed between mother and son was not in any way that which it should be."

A REST CURE

Mrs. Ball, on November 15, left her house and went for a rest cure at an ordinary hospital in Monkstown. Her son went to live with a young man named Cecil Maunson in a flat at 1 Upper Mount street. They paid for it from November 15 till February 13, when Ball returned to St. Helen's road

Mrs. Brinkley, a second maid who worked for Mrs. Ball, would tell the Court that she often saw events that showed the relations between mother and son to be extremely distressing and unhappy. She frequently saw the mother upbraiding him, screaming in the house, and witnessed fights between them. All were based on the mother's right or wrong belief that Ball was idle and worthless, would not work, would not seek work, kept company that she disliked, and had associations that she resented. Ball seldom answered his mother, he rather listened sullenly to what she had to say. The words generally came from his mother. Mrs. Ball kept her bedroom door locked while she slept. On one occasion Mrs. Brinkley saw her attempt to strike her son with an electric iron.

RETURN TO HOUSE

When Ball lived at 1 Upper Mount street, counsel went on, he sometimes visited his mother at her home, and they occasionally were seen together in city restaurants. For want of money Ball and Maunson were unable to pay the rent of their flat. Ball returned to St. Helen's road, and it would be shown, without doubt, that he did so against the expressed, pronounced will of his mother. He succeeded in returning, and slept there on the Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. The house was occupied at night by him and his mother only.

Mrs. Ball was an agent of Irish

DUBLIN MURDER CHARGE

Hospitals' Trust, and her duty was to deal with subscriptions from foreign countries. From correspondence found in a specially-built office in her house, she seemed to have done a large business in that respect—so much that she had to employ a secretary (a Miss Whelan) to deal with it. Miss Whelan had not been at the house for a fortnight before February 17th, as she had been ill.

A MESSAGE

Those days from Thursday to Monday, said Mr. Haugh, seemed to have been spent normally by Mrs. Ball and her son. He spent at least two of the afternoons at golf, with friends, at Delgany and Dun Laoghaire, and Mrs. Ball spent her days motoring, visiting friends, and doing her sweepstake and household work.

But when Ball returned on Thursday night he received a message left by his mother on the hall table of her house. It was addressed "Tim," the name by which he was known to his mother and his more intimate friends. It was found in his bedroom later, and it was to the effect that, if he stayed in the house from that Thursday, she would go and stay with a friend, Mrs. Allen. However, he stayed at the house.

On February 17, Ball, his mother, and Miss Whelan had luncheon at 23 St. Helen's road. About 2.30 p.m. Ball went out, and he met a Trinity College student named Denham. Ball, he and others had arranged to have a dinner party in the Bailey Restaurant, Dublin, the following Wednesday evening. Ball, it would be shown, expressed a desire to obtain work, and Denham suggested that they call on Mr. Grant, a high official in the office of the Canada Life Insurance Company, and see whether he could get Ball a position. Following that conversation, Ball went to Mitchell's restaurant, introduced himself to Mr. Grant, and spoke to him about a position. Mr. Grant was not in a position to give him as much time as the young man wanted, and arranged that he call in at 10.30 a.m. next day, February 18. Ball went back to No. 23 about 5.15 p.m.

Shortly after luncheon Mrs. Ball and her secretary also had left the house in Mrs. Ball's car, a new Austin Seven, and called on Mrs. Ball's stockbrokers and the offices of the Irish Hospitals' Trust. The defendant's mother returned to the house about 5 p.m.

A HATCHET

About that hour a gardener and handyman named Mates was cleaning the car. He would tell how Ball passed and made some remark such as "Hard at work?" Mates, having finished cleaning the car, went to chop some sticks with a hatchet that was kept in an outoffice behind the house. When he was replacing it in the lower of two tea-chests in the outoffice he knocked down some turf, and, fearing that Mrs. Ball might be annoyed, he put back the turf. He threw it into the lower chest, so that it almost covered the axe, and as he was doing so Ball came out of the house, passed him, and strolled back.

Miss Kelly finished preparations for a luncheon that Mrs. Ball intended to give some friends next day. She saw Mrs. Ball do what "apparently was the last act of her life"—ask her son to post some letters. Ball took them to the post-office. Miss Kelly was the last person to leave the house, and as she did so she met Ball at the gate.

A postman named Kelly went to St. Helen's road about 7.10 p.m. that day. He had occasion to call at No. 23 and deliver some registered letters. It was dark. He saw no light in the house; so, according to an arrangement with Mrs. Ball, he called at Mrs. McNeill's house, next door. He was preparing to leave the letters there when he suddenly perceived a light flashing in the garage of Mrs Ball's house.

POSTMAN'S STORY

He went back to No. 23, and for ten minutes he rang the door-bell. At the end of that time a light appeared in the hall, and the door was opened by Ball. It was about 7.30 p.m. Ball carried on a normal conversation with the postman, received the letters, and signed for them. Kelly went away. The State's suggestion was that at that time the defendant's mother "was dying, or dead, and was in the bedroom, or had been brought to the garage, from which she was subsequently removed in her car."

At 8.30 p.m., said Mr. Haugh, a Mr. Thomas Gregory, who lived near, went out for air, and saw the figure of a young man move from the garage at No. 23 along the concrete path and open the door that had to be opened before a motor-car could pass through. He was positive that the men was Edward Preston Ball.

There would be an amount of evidence to show that Mrs. Ball's car was parked some distance from a barrier placed in Corbawn lane, Shankill, to prevent motorists ignorant of the neighbourhood from driving into the sea. At 11.45 o'clock on Monday night a number of other cars that had been parked there were gone. It would appear that Ball was in his mother's car in the lane from 9.35 p.m. or 9.45 p.m. till 11.45 p.m., waiting for the other motorists to go.

AN ENGLISH ACCENT

Mr. James Tanham, a Dublin solicitor, and Mrs. Tanham, were driving home that night from Greystones. At 12.30 or 12.45 a.m. they passed Shankill Bridge. Mr. Tanham was about to use the Automobile Association telephone at the entrance to Corbawn lane when his attention was attracted by the figure of a young man on his left. The man signalled to him to stop and he did so. The night was wet. The man asked whether Mr. and Mrs. Tanham were travelling towards Ailesbury road. Mr. Tanham replied that they were, and the man asked whether they would mind driving him there. He got into the back seat. In the course of conversation on the journey he told them that he was of English descent and came from Tunbridge Wells, England. He said that he was staying at 41 Ailesbury road, and gave his name as Winter or Winters. He spoke with an English accent. He wore no overcoat. He had a hat and a large scarf, and seemed to be dressed in a lounge suit.

He asked to whom he was indebted, and Mr. Tanham gave him his card. That card subsequently was found in Ball's clothing.

TO LOOK FOR JOB

On Tuesday, February 18, the first visitor to the house was a postman called Hennessy, who had occasion to call about 7.30 a.m. His knock was responded to by the accused youth, who was dressed in pyjamas. The ordinary salutations were exchanged, occupying a few minutes.

The maid, Miss Kelly, arrived next. The key was generally under the mat at the hall-door, but was missing on this morning. She was able to get in by the side-door and she made her way to the kitchen, where her attention was directed to the fact that a great deal of water was lying about. The stairway also was wet. When the maid arrived, the young man was back in his room, and he made his appearance about 8.30 o'clock.

Miss Kelly's evidence would be that the accused had got up to breakfast about 9.10 a.m., and she informed him that the motor car was missing. Ball told her that his mother had gone out to stay with Mrs. Allen, and he had not seen her since. He had breakfast and ate a normal meal, and then asked for some water to be taken to his bedroom; in fact, he took the electric kettle to the room. He came down later with a suitcase in his hand, and left the house with it some time after 10 o'clock, saying that he was going out to look for a job, and that he was leaving his case in a flat in Upper Mount street. He asked her not to go to his bedroom before he left.

INJURED FINGER

It would be shown, said Mr. Haugh, that his first act in going to the city was to deposit the case in the premises of Messrs. Hamilton Long, chemists, Grafton street. He then went to meet Mr. Grant, with whom the appointment had been arranged, and arrived at his office ten minutes late. He talked with Mr. Grant for a considerable time, discussing his prospects of securing a position. While they were doing so Mr. Grant noticed that one of Ball's fingers was wounded, and drew his attention to it. Ball gave some reason as to how it happened on the evening before, and then Mr. Grant took him next door to Messrs. Hayes, Conyngham and Robinson, where the wound was attended to by one of the assistants. Ball then visited the Gate Theatre, where he met an official, and had a discussion with him about forthcoming rehearsals. He also visited the premises of Hospitals' Trust, Ltd., and transacted business either on behalf of himself or of his mother. After that he went to 125 Lower Baggot street, which was occupied by a Mr. and Mrs. Fagan, who were friends of the family, and particularly of Mrs. Ball. He arrived about 3.15, and about 3.30 Mrs. Fagan heard a knock in the diningroom, and on opening the door saw the accused man outside. She invited him in, and he said: "Would it be too much trouble to keep this case for a few days?" She replied: "Certainly; it will be no trouble."

"MOTHER GONE OUT"

By that time he had entered the diningroom, taken off his hat and gloves, and, looking round the room, pointed to a roll-top desk. She said, "Put it in there." He said there was just some soiled clothing in the case, and he would call for it in a few days." They had a conversation, and the accused youth said that he believed that his mother was there and had spoken to her. Mrs. Fagan replied that his mother seemed worried about him, and did not like his staying in the flat and his "scrounging" on his friends. Ball said that his mother had gone to Allens' on the previous night, and Mrs. Fagan replied that Mrs. Ball had already told her that if he was in the house she would go to Allens'. He said that his mother had gone out about 8.30 o'clock the night before, in the car, and he had not seen her since. She had sent out invitations to a party of lady friends and he did not want to go home until they had gone. He also said that he was sleepy, and that he would love to go to sleep.

They continued to talk about restaurants, and afterwards Ball said that he would go home. She noticed that in addition to having a suitcase he had two brown paper parcels, one of which, he said, contained a pair of socks that were Irish-made. He left about 4.15 p.m. and took a tram, and on the top of the tram he was met by the Trinity student. He entered his mother's house about six o'clock.

BLOODSTAINS

Mr. Haugh said that about 9.10 p.m. that day the car was found at Corbawn lane, in a position different from that in which it had been seen by other motorists the night before. It showed that someone had tried to get it past the barrier. After the finding of the car Garda officers went to Mrs. Ball's house, outside of which a plain-clothes Garda had been stationed. When Ball came up St. Helen's road he approached the Garda and asked him whether he was a detective. The boy then said that he would like to ring up Sergeant Heeney, of Cabinteely, who had been concerned with the capture of burglars who broke into Mrs. Ball's house previously. He could not get into touch with Sergeant Heeney. When Chief Superintendent Reynolds, Superintendent Dunleavy, and others arrived at the house about 6.20 p.m., Ball was in the diningroom. The door of his mother's bedroom had been locked, and when he was asked for the key he said that he had not got it. After some time the door of the room was burst open, and it was discovered that an electric fire was still lighted, and that underneath it the floor was very hot, and was in danger of becoming ignited. The power was turned off, and it was then discovered that immediately underneath the heater was a large blood-stain. Bloodstains were found also in the hall outside and on the stairs leading down to the ground floor, in the kitchen, and in the garage outside the house.

In Ball's bedroom were found suits of clothes which were damp. In a pair of trousers were found traces of sea-sand.

CAUTIONED

On Wednesday, the next day, Ball had breakfast between 10.30 and 11 o'clock, and later was interviewed by Superintendent O'Reilly, who had known him previously. The Superintendent referred to his mother's disappearance, and then cautioned Ball in the ordinary way. Ball asked him what that meant, and when Superintendent O'Reilly had explained the meaning of the caution, he made certain answers. Ball said that he wanted to see some friends, and, at his request, Superintendent O'Reilly drove him to a garage at Lombard street, where he wanted to talk to a man called Barrington. As the latter was not there, they had something to eat, and they later drove out to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, of Dun Laoghaire. Mrs. Stuart was a maternal aunt of the accused.

When other clothes were produced to the accused youth, he said that he had been cautioned and would not say anything until he saw his solicitor. At Stuarts' he expressed a desire to see a solicitor, and he was driven to Mr. Miley's private residence, where he was allowed to interview Mr Miley. He then requested to be driven to the private residence of a member of the Bar, and with him had an interview lasting for a long time. He was later taken to his father's home, as he had said he wanted to see Dr. Ball. In his father's presence he gave an account of what, he alleged, happened to his mother.

PRISONER'S STORY

Ball was taken later to Lad Lane Police Station, where he made a statement. In this, which, said Mr. Haugh, might be of first-rate importance to the case, Ball, in substance, said that after the maid had left the house on Monday evening his mother seemed irritable and hysterical. She complained of the unhappiness of her life and her separation from her husband; also, of the unhappiness resulting from her experience of her first-born son. She said that Edward seemed to be going the same way, as he was idle, vicious, and of no use to her. She complained of certain trifling matters, such as the supply of cigarettes for the guests. She ended with words to the effect that if she did anything to herself she would like her son, Edward, to protect her from the public. She then went to her bedroom and he remained in the diningroom. After the lapse of some time he went to her bedroom and saw his mother stretched on her back on the bed, with her throat cut and with a scar on her face, bleeding profusely, and near her a razor blade. He was horror-stricken at what she had done, and, bearing in mind her request to him to protect her from the public he, of his own initiative, decided to take the body out of the house and dispose of it. He, in fact, took the body off the bed, carried and dragged it downstairs and into the garage premises, and with great labour succeeded in putting it into the back of the car.

UNUSED TO CAR

He stated that he was not well acquainted with the car, and that it had been necessary to push it backwards on to the road; that, having got it out, he drove away to the left towards Merrion Gates, down by the sea. He came back by Sydney Parade, up Ailesbury road, past the Catholic church at Donnybrook and out across Shankill Bridge, past Shankill Barrack, where he changed his mind and decided to put the body into the sea. He turned the car back and drove down Corbawn lane, where he remembered for the first time that he could not drive past the barrier. He was not able to put the body into the sea by reason of the other cars, and when the last car had moved off he made a determined effort to drive the little car through the barrier. He failed, and had no option but to take the body of his mother out of the car and, partly carrying it and dragging it, took it down the lane, a distance of about 110 yards. He brought it down the steps to the sea, across the sand, and put it into the water when he was knee-deep. The body was clothed in the garments Mrs. Ball had been wearing.

"TO PROTECT MOTHER'S NAME"

He then returned to the kiosk, where he met Mr. Tanham, who drove him back to the junction of Ailesbury road, and then walked back to 23 St. Helen's road. He was several hours engaged in removing traces in order to protect his mother's name and prevent the suggestion of suicide. He went to bed, but could not sleep very well, and two hours afterwards the maid called. He then went down, and after breakfast went into town to keep the appointment with Mr. Grant. He also went into the Irish Times to insert an advertisement for Miss Kelly, who was looking for an occupation.

Before he made the statement he produced from the sole of one of the shoes he was wearing the key of his mother's bedroom. On Thursday he was interviewed by his solicitor at 8.15 p.m., and later said that he would like to see a clergyman of his own denomination. The clergyman had a long interview with him. On Friday he had a walk in the garden with one of the Gardai. Rightly or wrongly, the police were of the opinion that the boy might make an attempt on his life. In fact, the evidence would show that he did so.

FEARED SUICIDE

Every article by which suicide could be committed was taken away. After writing two letters about 1.30 p.m. he went up to the lavatory, the door of which had been left slightly open. A Garda outside saw a flash, the accused apparently having jumped a distance of 14 feet to the ground. He landed on a flower bed and sustained rather serious injuries. He was arrested that evening.

James Rafferty, Townsend's Cottages, Shankill, a messenger employed by Mr. Lawless, Shankill, said that on February 18, in the morning time, he was delivering newspapers at "Clifton," the residence of Mr. Margetson. While he was about to enter the house he noticed a motor car in Corbawn lane, on the right-hand side, facing the sea. He went to the car and looked through the window, and saw that there was a towel in the car. He noticed that there was blood on the towel. As he was going away from the car Mr. Margetson arrived in his car. Witness then went down to the seashore, but did not notice anything unusual. He returned to the car with Mr. Margetson, and noticed that the sunshine roof was open, and that the right-hand door was about an inch open. Mr. Margetson opened the door, and witness picked up the towel and showed it to him, after which he put it back where he got it.

A TORN ENVELOPE

After he had delivered his papers, witness went back to the car with a man named Billie Walsh, who found a wallet containing a driver's licence in the car. Walsh also found a torn envelope addressed to Mrs. Vera Ball. Witness also saw a switch key in the car and a piece of blotting paper covered with blood. He pulled out the back seat of the car, and saw a couple of drops of blood behind it.

William Walsh, Shankill, gave evidence of seeing the previous witness in Corbawn lane. He corroborated the previous witness's evidence, and added that the driver's licence which he found in the car was in the name of Mr. Preston Ball. He went towards the seashore, and saw nothing unusual, and saw Sergeant Ryan and Guard Smith approaching the car.

"LIKE THE ACCUSED"

James Tanham, solicitor, 13 Westmoreland street, Dublin, said that on Monday night, February 17, he visited friends at Greystones, and returned early on the Tuesday morning in his car, accompanied by his wife. On his way back he reached Shankill some time after 12.30 a.m., and, as he was slowing down the car, with the intention of using the A.A. telephone, he saw a rather tall gentleman with his hand up.

In answer to Mr. Cussen, witness said that the gentleman was remarkably like the accused man. Witness pulled up the car, and the gentleman stepped off the kerb and approached the car, and asked witness if he was going in the direction of Ailesbury road. Witness told him that he was, and invited him to get into the car, and drove towards Ailesbury road. He stopped the car at Shrewsbury road, where the gentleman left the car. He told witness that his name was Winter or Winton, and that he had been staying awhile in Ireland, having come from Tunbridge Wells. Witness noticed that the gentleman's clothes were wet, and appeared to have dryed somewhat on him.

The further hearing was adjourned until this morning at 10.30 a.m.

SANDRINGHAM STUD TO BE CLOSED

THE KING'S MARES TO GO TO HAMPTON COURT

The famous Royal stud at Sandringham is to be closed. The King's brood mares are to be transferred to the paddocks at Hampton Court. His Majesty will be able to see the mares and the foals and yearlings more frequently there than would have been the case had they remained at Sandringham. Another reason for the removal of the mares is that it was considered necessary to give the paddocks at Sandringham a long rest. The stallions, Friar Marcus and Limelight, will remain at Wolverton, Norfolk.

His Majesty has decided to sell some of his two-year-olds now in training with W. R. Jarvis at Egerton House, Newmarket. They will go up for sale at Newmarket on April 16. Two-year-olds that will be retained are Polonaise, Pretty Spark and Felstone.

The Hampton Court stud was famous in Turf history in Queen Victoria's days. Sainfoin, a Derby winner, and La Fleche, one of the most famous mares that have ever raced, were bred there. Queen Victoria had little interest in horse-racing, and the yearlings bred at the Hampton Court stud were sold annually. John Porter, the Kingsclere trainer, was able to buy Sainfoin on behalf of one of his owners for the small sum of 550 guineas.

There was great competition for La Fleche. King Edward VII., then Prince of Wales, watched the sale. He advised his great friend, Baron de Hirsch, to buy her. It cost the baron 5,500 guineas to do so, but he was well rewarded, as La Fleche won three classic races—the 1,000 Guineas, Oaks and St. Leger, and was only beaten a head in the Derby.

The Sandringham stud was formed in 1877 with the idea of breeding better class horses than were then carrying the Royal colours. One of its first inmates was a mare, Perdita II., bought on the advice of John Porter for 900 guineas. She proved to be one of the greatest bargains ever made, and was the dam of Florizel II., Persimmon and Diamond Jubilee. Persimmon won the Derby and the St. Leger, and Diamond Jubilee the 2,000 Guineas, Derby and St. Leger; while Florizel II. was not only a first-class racehorse, but he sired the Derby winner, Volodyovski.

AN ITALIAN ADVANCE

TO ATTACK IN SOUTH

BIG DRIVE TO END THE WAR

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

THE first moves in the great southern offensive, on which the Italians pin their hopes of ending the Abyssinian war quickly, appear at last to have begun.

A report received in Addis Ababa says that Italian native troops have occupied Sasa Baneh, a hundred miles north of their fortified base at Gabridihari, and only twenty miles from the main advanced Abyssinian position at Daggah Bur. The Abyssinians are understood to be holding a forty miles front from Daggah Bur to Daggah Modo, which they have fortified strongly in the past months.

It is believed that a second Italian column is moving up on the left to protect the flank of the main advance. Their columns are composed of native regulars brigaded with white machine-gunners, all carried in lorries supported by mountain artillery.

ITALIAN TASK

In Italian military circles it is not expected that the Abyssinians will put up any stiff resistance before Daggah Bur is reached. Even then they may retire without serious fighting to positions before the Harrar-Jijiga-Berbera road, the artery along which most of their supplies are now imported. Such a strategic withdrawal would make the Italian task more difficult, as the ninety miles from Daggah Bur to Jijiga are over rough country offering many opportunities for ambushes and counter-attacks by a skilful enemy.

Nevertheless General Graziani is hoping for a swift success, such as he gained over the forces of Ras Desta near Dolo early in the year, when his mechanised columns swept through Abyssinian lines and cut off their retreat, which was soon converted into a rout. However, he has now much more able commanders before him in the person of the young General Nasibu and his veteran Turkish adviser, General Wahib Pasha.

ANOTHER BOMBING

Jijiga was again bombed yesterday for the fourth time in as many days. An official Abyssinian report states that the bombardment was carried out by 24 'planes, which destroyed many houses, but caused no casualties.

In his official communiqué Marshal Badoglio, the Italian Commander-in-Chief, makes no mention of any general advance, reporting only the bombing of Jijiga and minor actions on the Northern front. He claims that an Abyssinian transport park with forty lorries was wiped out, and several supply dumps destroyed.

CARE OF WAR GRAVES

TRIBUTE TO IRISH FREE STATE

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Wednesday.

The sixteenth annual report of the Imperial War Graves Commission, issued to-day, states, with regard to the Irish Free State, that during the year 1934-35 the work of construction and permanent marking was practically completed, and a few months later it was found possible to release the officer who had been lent to the Government of the Irish Free State for the purpose of carrying out this work. It had been agreed between the Commission and the Government of the Free State that the latter Government would mark and maintain at its own cost all British war graves, and this agreement has been carried out by the two Governments which have held office since it was made.

The Commissioners of Public Works thus became responsible for registering 2,550 war graves in 550 cemeteries, for marking them with headstones of the standard pattern adopted by the Commission, for acquiring them where it was necessary, and for arranging for permanent maintenance.

About half of these graves were in the military cemeteries taken over from the British Government; the rest were scattered in every county in the Free State.

The Commission are grateful to the Commissioners of Public Works for the facilities, the support and the help that they have consistently given to the attached officer.

IMPROVED 'BUS SERVICES

COMPANY'S ASSURANCE TO LORD MAYOR

A deputation of residents from The Ranch, Donore avenue, and other districts throughout the city and county, was received by the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House, and put forward suggestions in connection with the running of extra 'bus services to their particular districts. As a result of their representations, the Lord Mayor got in touch with the Tramways Company, and was informed that special morning, mid-day and evening services to The Ranch were about to be restored, as well as an extra Sunday morning church 'bus. Three extra 'buses per day (running continuously), he was also informed, were about to be initiated on the Donore avenue, South Circular road route, running via Dufferin avenue, through Windmill lane to Crumlin.

The Lord Mayor was assured that every effort was being made to see that the requirements of the citizens in all districts where it was stated there was a scarcity should be met at the earliest possible moment.

NATIONAL MATERNITY HOSPITAL BILL

ACTION OF THE COOMBE HOSPITAL

A petition against the National Maternity Hospital, Dublin (Charter Amendment) Bill has been lodged in the Private Bills Office at Leinster House on behalf of the guardians and directors of the Coombe Lying-in Hospital, Dublin.

The petition protests particularly against statements in the preamble of the bill which, it is claimed, cannot be proved. Also that these statements are calculated to injure the Coombe Hospital in various ways. The petitioners object to the proposal in the bill to give the governing body of University College the right to nominate two members on the governing body of the National Maternity Hospital, and also to the proposal to elect as governor a member of the medical or surgical staff of the Mater Misericordiæ, St. Vincent's and Jervis Street Hospitals. The Coombe Hospital they say, is an important teaching centre for students in midwifery and gynæcology, and as many of these come from University College it is alleged that the inclusion of representatives of University College on the governing body of the National Maternity Hospital would induce students of that college now attending the Coombe Hospital to attend the school of the National Maternity Hospital; also that the appointment of governors from the three hospitals named would tend to induce those hospitals to send their lying-in patients to the National Maternity Hospital to the detriment of the Coombe Hospital.

The bill will come before a joint committee of both Houses of the Oireachtas, when the petition of the governors of the Coombe Hospital will be taken into consideration.

At the Rathdown Board of Assistance yesterday Dr. J. W. Boyce, Medical Officer for Blackrock, wrote tendering his resignation from March 31st next.

MOTHERHOOD FOR THE CHILDLESS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It is unfortunate that modern newspapers should take upon themselves to cull information from the medical journals and publish reports of cases in the daily news without authority or supervision. From the medical aspect it is grossly unprofessional; medical societies do not allow the general Press to be present at their discussions, and they look upon the medical journals as equally private. Naturally the member of the profession whose work is referred to refrains from taking any part in an irregularity, and so false statements and gross exaggerations are placed before readers who are unfit to assess the true value. An article headed "Motherhood Conferred Upon the Childless" appeared in one of our daily papers and also in a Sunday paper. The case described was reported at a medical meeting in February, and an account of that meeting was reported in the B.M.J. of March 14th and the Lancet. The heading in the daily paper had no bearing on the case. The operation reported was performed two years ago, and the discussion as reported in the B.M.J. clearly indicates that the matter of interest was the re-establishment of a lapsed function in a woman, but as to emulating the child-bearing triumphs of Sarah or Hannah, it appears to be as far off as ever, and no such claim was suggested at the medical meeting. I enclose my card, but refrain from appending my name, for professional reasons.—Yours, etc.,

MORE FRUIT GROWN

DISTRICTS THAT SPECIALISE

JAM MANUFACTURERS AS GROWERS

MR. P. McCARTHY, Secretary of the Duleek Fruit Growers' Association, stated at the Fruit and Vegetable Tribunal yesterday that the residents in the Duleek area specialised in the growing of raspberries. There was no other extensive raspberry-growing area in the Free State. Previous to 1931 the raspberries were collected by the managers of the jam manufacturers in a haphazard way. In 1930 the fruit-growers formed an association. Up to that they had been receiving 2½d. per lb. for their raspberries, but they were then informed by the jam manufacturers that only 2d. per lb. could be given for the remainder of the crop, as they had received all they wanted. The following year the growers received £26 per ton. In 1932 £36 per ton was agreed to at a conference in Dublin at the Department of Industry and Commerce; in 1933 £40, and in 1934 £38. Early in the 1934 season he said that he received a complaint from a grower in Julianstown that he had barrels of raspberries which he could not dispose of. The manufacturers operating in his area would not take them. His idea was that the manufacturers were dilly-dallying until they could get the pulp at a cheap rate.

£38 per ton, in the opinion of witness, was not sufficient. Family labour helped to keep the industry alive. If they were to take hired male labour into account the cost of production per acre would be £45, exclusive of spraying.

JAM MANUFACTURERS

If the policy of jam manufacturers in running fruit farms of their own were to be extended, so as to supply their requirements, the witness stated that it would kill the industry. About 150 families depended on the industry. Last year he had obtained an average of 8d. per lb for raspberries in small quantities in the Dublin market, which was about double what he got from the jam manufacturers.

Mr. George King, Julianstown, Chairman of the Meath and Dublin Fruit Growers' Association, said that the growers of raspberries were able to balance their books by selling a certain amount of choice fruit on the Dublin market, where they got from 6d. to 1s. per lb., and 1s. 3d. per lb. for extra choice raspberries.

The area under raspberries had diminished. In 1889 there were 385 acres under fruit with 186 growers, and the crop realised £4,436, but now it was less than 200 acres.

The area under strawberries had been trebled in the last four years. In 1933 one salesman on the Dublin market sold 9,106 lbs. of Free State strawberries and 19,438 lbs. from Northern Ireland. In 1934 he sold 21,039 lbs. of Free State and 24,603 lbs. of Northern Ireland strawberries.

The Dublin market, he thought, was being spoilt by the jam manufacturers, who grew raspberries and sold their best fruit and forestalled the other growers.

The cultivation of plums, the witness stated, was dying out here. The species known as "Victoria" had disappeared as the result of attacks of the disease known as "silver leaf." If the people were not encouraged to grow plums they would soon have none at all.

As to apples, the witness said that something should be done to control their supply on the Dublin market. Bramleys should be prohibited from the market until November. They were placed on it at the wrong season, and windfalls were spoiling the market for the early varieties.

Mr. R. Segrave Daly, Kilkenny, representing the growers in County Kilkenny, said that the expenditure to produce a crop of apples estimated at six tons per acre per annum came to £56 16s. 9d., and the receipts to £59 17s., leaving a nett profit of £3 0s. 3d.

The Tribunal adjourned until Friday at 10.45 a.m.

Mr. H. O'Friel, Chairman, presided at the Tribunal, and the other members present were:—Professor J. B. Whelehan and Mr. H. E. M. Bradley, with Mr. P. G. Dardis, Secretary.

NIGHTWORKERS' SODALITY

The usual monthly meeting of Nightworkers' Sodality will take place to-day (Thursday) in Church of St. Francis Xavier, Gardiner street, Dublin, at 4 p.m.

A COLONY STAMPS ON FIRE

PRESERVING HER FORESTS

Southern Rhodesia is to follow Canada's example in the conservation of her forest wealth.

The campaign for the prevention of soil erosion and the conservation of the Colony's water supplies should be greatly assisted by a bill introduced by Parliament to prevent the destruction of forests, herbage and other vegetation.

The bill consolidates and amends all previous legislation on the subject, and tightens up the position generally.

It is provided that no person shall wilfully or negligently set fire to any vegetation which is not his property unless he has authority to do so, nor shall he kindle a fire which causes damage by spreading. Whenever a land-owner intends to burn vegetation on his own land he must give reasonable notice of his intention to the occupiers of all adjoining land.

In regard to fireguards, any owner or occupier of land has the right to call upon his neighbour to contribute one half of the labour or cost necessary to provide and maintain sufficient fireguards on their common boundaries.

STRAW AS FUEL

A gas generator which utilises straw and other agricultural waste has been designed jointly by the Institute for Electrification of Agriculture and the Industrial Institute in Leningrad. During the tests of the new type of gas generator it was ascertained that straw as a source of energy is only slightly inferior to wood and oil. Utilised as fuel for the tractors made by the Stalingrad tractor plant, gas from straw generated 23 h.p. without alteration in the design of the engine.

MOTHER FEELS GUILTY

"Why is my boy away from school more than his cousin?"

"WHEN I see how pale and 'peaky' my Alec is compared with my nephew Charlie," writes a London mother, "I feel as if I was guilty. Day after day I have to keep him away from school. He catches every children's disease that comes along. I know Charlie's mother puts him on Scotts Brand Emulsion, but I give Alec a liver oil preparation, too! What can be wrong?"

Mothers worry themselves ill over questions like this. All because they don't realise that many tonics which are intended to fortify children against spring illnesses put too much strain on their delicate stomachs.

If the tonic is not the right one, the oil in it, which is the real body-builder, doesn't pass properly into your child's system. It may actually go through undigested and so do no good.

The only thing to do is to give your child his liver oil tonic in the one digestible form. This is what an eminent Research Body says about it: "Only when liver oil is given in the white creamy form of Scotts Brand Emulsion can children wholly digest the oil, and so get all the body-building goodness they need. Within 30 minutes of a spoonful of Scotts Brand Emulsion enters your child's stomach, every drop has gone to strengthen his whole body, and particularly his chest and lungs."

Those facts explain why children who take Scotts Brand Emulsion, the one digestible form of liver oil, are better protected than others against measles, mumps, colds, and spring fevers. Start to-day to build up and safeguard your child with Scotts Brand Emulsion and watch him go through the spring strong and untouched by infection.

GUINEA GAP FANCIED

Prominent Lad May Win the Stanley Steeplechase

RACEHORSES of all classes will be catered for during the next three days at Liverpool, for flat events will be mixed with steeplechases and hurdle races. The Liverpool Spring Cup and the Stanley Steeplechase, both nominally worth £1,000, are the features to-day.

The Spring Cup is always a good betting race. It would, no doubt, be the medium of some brisk ante-post wagering were it not for the fact that it is sandwiched between the Lincolnshire Handicap and the Grand National. Matthew Peacock has decided to run Listoi in preference to Sunny Sailor. Listoi was placed in five of his eight races last season, winning twice. He defeated some good horses in the Rockingham Handicap at York in October over two furlongs longer than the distance here.

Guinea Gap was originally entered for the Lincolnshire Handicap, and the fact that he has shown some of his best form over the Liverpool course may explain why he was kept in reserve. He wound up a busy season by running a very creditable fourth in the Autumn Cup, and if he can reproduce that form he should go close, as he has a pull of 2lb. with Heavy Weight, who was third, and is only at a disadvantage of 1lb. with Highlander, who finished seventh. I doubt if the going will be quite soft enough for Heavy Weight. Highlander was stumped by the hard going most of last season, but, so far as I can gather, he has done particularly well of late, and is fancied to add to Lord Derby's string of successes in cup races on his home course.

Those who recall that Spinifex won two good races during the early part of last season will not want to leave him out, and I give him a fair chance at the weights. I also note Tiderace, who ran one of his best races last season on this course in the spring when second to Sea Bequest at level weights; the hurdler Matona, Tartan, Winning Post, and Latoi. My best news concerns who should be supported each-way.

There are penalties and allowances for the Stanley Steeplechase which give it the appearance of a handicap. Lion Courage, Fairyhill, Artful Dodger and Skrun Bridge have shown good form on park courses, but they will find much more formidable obstacles to jump here.

PROMINENT LAD

appeals most to me. He has been improving all the season, and jumped big when he won a three miles steeplechase at Cheltenham. I believe he has been specially trained with a view to this race.

Fred Templeman, who made a start with Solidago at Lincoln yesterday, may win the Union Jack Stakes with CONFESSION BOY.

He stuck well to Mahmoud over six furlongs at Goodwood, and should stay this mile.

LINBY HALL,

who possesses a good turn of speed, may give Mr. Gerald Armstrong a winning ride in the Lydiate Welter Handicap.

AUTUMN

is a strong tip for the Lancashire Hurdle He is an improving jumper and has a touch of class.

THE RACE.

The early part of the race could not be seen on account of the mist. When the colours could be distinguished Jovial Lad was in front, followed by Yorkshireman, Coldron, Over Coat, Boethius, Daysight and Mistral III., with Law Court prominent. Yorkshireman went to the front at about half-way, followed by Coldron, Boethius, Over Coat, Daysight, Mistral III., Spasm and Man's Pal. Law Court weakened soon afterwards. Bow and Arrow, Screamer and Tom Bowling fell about three furlongs from home. They interfered with several horses—Sea Bequest and Hidalgo in particular. Tom Bowling was so badly injured that he had to be destroyed. Yorkshireman weakened at the [illegible] where Boethius took the lead, w[illegible] Mistral III., Yorkshireman, Sea Beq[illegible] Daysight his nearest opponents. Boethius appeared likely to win until close home, where Over Coat ran on to beat him by a head. Mistral III. finished a length and a half away third. Yorkshireman was fourth, Sea Bequest fifth, Daysight sixth, Coldron seventh, Jovial Lad eighth, Spasm ninth, Man's Pal tenth, The Blue Boy eleventh, Kinjaal twelfth, and Trapster last, except Cabinteely, who was left and followed a long way behind.

AN UNSATISFACTORY RACE

Three Horses Fall in Lincolnshire Handicap : Head Victory for Over Coat

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LINCOLN, Wednesday Night.

THERE were unfortunate incidents connected with the Lincolnshire Handicap that was won to-day by the Irish five-year-old, Over Coat, by a head only from Boethius, with Mistral III. third. Irish and all, the Irish colt Cabinteely refused to leave the gate, and was last all the way.

Then, about a quarter of a mile from home three horses—Tom Bowling, Screamer, and Bow and Arrow—fell. It is difficult to say which fell first, as the accounts of the other jockeys are conflicting. Tom Bowling had his neck broken by the fall, and I am afraid that his jockey, Dines, is rather badly injured, for he has several broken ribs as well as other injuries.

All three jockeys were taken at once to the infirmary. Mr. Eric Stedall also went there to inquire some time later, and could not see them, but they told him that Dines was the worst. Hawcroft, who rode Screamer, was knocked out and badly shaken, while R. A. Jones, who was on Bow and Arrow, has a damaged shoulder. I heard that Bow and Arrow was only caught somewhere in the streets of the city.

Gordon Richards was tracking Screamer on Hidalgo, but his horse jumped and cleared the fallen horse. E. Smith, who was riding the favourite, Sea Bequest, had to pull and go round the others. In the circumstances, he may be considered to have done well to finish fifth, close up to Yorkshireman, who was fourth, beaten a length or so by Mistral III., who was a length and a half behind the second.

Run on Sea Bequest

The weather was a great deal colder than that of yesterday. The feature of the betting was the run on Sea Bequest at the finish, after there had been good support for The Blue Boy until he was seen to be drawn badly. Law Court was second favourite, and Boethius and Over Coat were steady at tens.

Screamer looked well, but he had been affected by the hard ground at Newmarket during the last few days, and found no favour in the market. Boethius looked particularly well. Mr. Lambton was most hopeful about him.

There was no fitter horse in the field than Cabinteely, on whom Mr. Ussher had put blinkers. Very fit too was another grey, The Blue Boy, who has been the market springer. Even the stone he has been dropped in the weights since last year did not advantage him. It is true he was badly drawn, but he seemed to be outpaced.

A Mist on the Course

When they came into view there was a mist on the course, and the colours could not be distinguished for a long time. The first colours I made out to be in front, or almost in front, were those of Jovial Lad and Yorkshireman, and with them were Boethius and Mistral III.

Boethius soon after took the lead. Weston said that he had been half-a-dozen lengths behind the leaders on Over Coat once, but he made up ground to such good purpose that he headed the French horse at the elbow on the course. Boethius made a game effort, but Over Coat ran him out of it in a clear cut result.

The victory of Over Coat demonstrated that horses can be trained on the sands; for this was the second Lincolnshire Russell has won, Play On, the winner two years ago, having come from his stable at Mablethorpe, on the Lincolnshire coast. Mr. H. L. Selby, the horse's owner, gave 370 guineas for him when Major Dixon sent him to the December Sales the year before last.

Deal that Fell Through

I believe he had him sold to Jack Jarvis at the Ayr Meeting last September, but the deal fell through at the last moment, a circumstance that Mr. Selby probably does not regret now; for the stable had a good win over him. The horse stayed on better than I thought he would.

There were some remarkable features about the race, one being that the favourites, with the exception of The Blue Boy (No. 5) were well drawn; for No. 10, from which Sea Bequest started, is no handicap to the quick beginner. The other was that none of the light-weights ever showed with a chance.

The Great Disappointment

Law Court was the great disappointment. He was quickly away, and crossed over to the place his jockey wanted to take, but had not gone five furlongs before he blew up. The only good thing to be said about him is that he ran better than Priok, who would not go at all.

Kinjaal broke out in a sweat in the paddock, and was sent to the post a quarter of an hour before the others. I never saw him in the race with a chance; or Hyndford Bridge, or Man's Pal, whose second in the Cambridgeshire must have been a fluke.

The crowd seemed a smaller one than is usual on Lincolnshire Handicap day. Some people hope that the figures were small enough to discourage the Lincoln Race Committee from having any more meetings here.

The Selling Races

The rest of the racing dropped back to the average of the meeting. Another Yorkshire stable took a race when Captain Storie's Oakenshaw Cross, from Beverley beat Reader's Come Closer, from Doncaster, in the Doddington Selling Plate.

The other seller was won by Star, from V. Smyth's Epsom stable. This daughter of Prince Meteor beat Miss Paget's Mrs. Pumpkins easily.

Then Lambourn had a turn when Mr. Cottrell won the Elsham Plate with Sir Abe Bailey's Antiseptic, and Templeman took the Lincoln Plate with Mr. Thornton-Smith's Solidago, a daughter of Hyperion's brother, Salamis.

Newmarket trainers had one of the few successes that have come their way during the three days when Lord Harewood's Piccadilly won the last race of the meeting, the Kesterin Plate. It is unusual for the Royal stable to have a winner at Lincoln.

Selections

As it has been decided not to run Emborough for the Liverpool Cup at Liverpool to-morrow Gordon Richards has been left without a ride in the race. This should be an interesting contest with Listoi as top-weight. I do not think that Sir Thomas Dixon's colt can give even a pound to Lord Derby's Highlander, supposing that rather erratic horse chooses to do his best; and as he is very fit he might easily choose in his first race of the season.

Guinea Gap, Heavy Weight and Vendetta are close together on their form of last year, and of the three I prefer Heavy Weight, who has done good work with this race in view. Tiderace has also been cast for a part here, but his last form is not too good.

I much prefer the chance of Tartan, who was second to Gay Dancer in the same event twelve months ago, and then did not have altogether the best of the luck in running. Matona has claims, as we know he is fit from his prominent display when he finished third in the Imperial Cup at Sandown only last Saturday. Winning Post I am told is well fancied by Mr. Briscoe. The best one to be on may be HIGHLANDER.

There will probably be a dozen starters for the Stanley Steeplechase but not so many to finish. Shannon Breeze, who won at Hurst Park on Saturday week, will be in the field, and she showed herself a good jumper then. Artful Dodger has won, but only just, since he fell at the water when favourite at Cheltenham, and Prominent Lad may do better than he. The one I like best is OLD TOM, who showed real promise when he made the running at Cheltenham.

Of the two-year-olds in the Molyneux Stakes I hear the best accounts of La Cenerentola and TETROADO, and the latter may win.

GALTEE MORE.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Hy Spy out of Training

Miss E. B. C. Laidlaw's Hy Spy has been sent to his owner's place. The gelding broke down while competing for the Governor of Northern Ireland's Cup at the Maze recently.

Lucky Catch Sold

Our Curragh Correspondent states that Mr. H. S. Gray has sold his three-year-old Lucky Catch, by Mascot out of Lasso, and the colt will shortly leave P. Behan's Mountjoy Lodge establishment for shipment abroad.

Hopes for a Liverpool Treble

The Master of Gray is hopeful of winning three races at Liverpool. His runners will be Buckthorne, in the Grand National to-morrow, and Yeoman's Yellow, in the Lancashire Hurdle Race, and Shiver My Timbers, in the Molyneux Stakes to-day.

NEWMARKET HINTS FOR TO-DAY

For the Lancashire Hurdle at Liverpool I anticipate a good race between Savon and

and I give the latter a slight preference.

Of our runners for the Molyneux Stakes,

SARAIKALA (nap)

will be the best. This is a speedy filly.

SHANNON BREEZE

has done well since her Hurst Park success, and I prefer her chance to that of Knuckleduster or Kilshannig in the Stanley 'Chase.

We shall have half a dozen competitors for the Liverpool Spring Cup. I prefer Heavy Weight to Vendetta, but he should not beat Tartan, who proved too good for him in the corresponding event last spring. Tiderace is a spring performer, and will run creditably, and Chrysler II., if doing his best, will be difficult to beat. Highlander's chance would have been enhanced if he could have had a previous race. I make my win and place selection.

Of our five runners for the Union Jack Stakes, I have most fancy for who, nearly a fortnight ago, won his trial in convincing style.

TOSCANO (next best)

will be difficult to beat for the Lydiate Welter Handicap.

GRAND NATIONAL

The Field for To-morrow's Big Steeplechase

There were rumours at Newmarket yesterday that Lord Derby's Hillsbrook was a doubtful runner for the Grand National to-morrow, but Captain Percy Whitaker, the trainer of the horse at Lincoln Races yesterday, said:—"Hillsbrook is all right, and, at the moment, is a certain runner. Yesterday the horse was overtaken by something in the nature of muscular trouble. Although he could hardly move, it passed off, and, when seen by Mr. Brayley-Reynolds this morning, he was quite well. He will be examined by Mr. Brayley-Reynolds again to-night."

LONDON BETTING

DELANEIGE BACKED TO WIN £8,000

Following the success of Over Coat, a fancied horse in the Lincolnshire Handicap, the odds on offer against the Grand National favourite, Golden Miller, shortened at the call-over of the card at the Victoria Club, London, last night, to 4 to 1. Only one bet was made, this being £450 to £100, and 9 to 2 was still wanted by backers. Reynoldstown was noticed to win £7,000 at 7 to 1. Castle Irwell was firm, £1,000 to £60 (four times) being taken, leaving 100 to 7 offered. The only other candidate backed for more than minor sums was Delaneige, who was noticed at £1,000 to £35 (three times), and £1,000 to £40 (five times). Prices:—

4 to 1 Golden Miller (o., 9 to 2 t. and w.).
7 to 1 Reynoldstown (t. and o.)
9 to 1 Avenger (o., 10 to 1 t.).
100 to 7 Castle Irwell (o., 100 to 6 t.)
100 to 6 Keen Blade (t. and o.).
20 to 1 Delaneige (o., 25 to 1 t.).
33 to 1 Blue Prince (t. and o.)
33 to 1 Brienz (t. and o.).

GRAND NATIONAL MEMORIES

By Mr. Richard Burke, ex-M.F.H.

Reading of the death of General Campbell recalls what was probably one of the most exciting days of his career. In 1896 he was a Captain in the 9th Lancers, stationed in Ireland, and got the mount on The Soarer in the Grand National and won at 50 to 1. It was one of the best-contested Grand "Nationals" I ever saw, and included all the famous 'chasers of the time, such as Rory O'More, Cathal, Why Not, Manifesto, Father O'Flynn and Wild Man from Borneo—about thirty altogether.

As frequently happens at Liverpool, disaster occurred early, so that by the time the first round of the course was completed not more than half the field were standing up, and that half did not include many of the fancied candidates. Over the water in front of the stands what was left came in a bunch. The man I was with at the time—Mr. George Phelan, V.S., Cork—must have noticed The Soarer, as he took 25 to 1 twice. In the second round almost every fence claimed a victim, so that when it came to the run home there were only two others close up with The Soarer—Father O'Flynn and another. The fences were stronger than now, inasmuch as none of the bush fences were tapered on the top as at present, and, in my opinion, more formidable.

The Soarer had run in a number of races all over Ireland, but won very few, and had done nothing to justify the hope of his being a winner at Liverpool. In fact, he would not have complied with the conditions entitling him being entered for the race now. Nor had the rider ridden over the course. Interviewed after the race, he said he rode according to the advice of a friend who had ridden several times over the course and won twice, and that he knew when to take a steadier and what parts of the fences to go for, and when to go for his race, etc.

The Soarer was what is called a "National horse" to look at—very much the stamp of Seaman, that was, in my view, the best stamp of a 14st. hunter that ever won. But the Soarer was not a 14st horse, being rather light of bone. He carried 9st. 13lb. in the race, and the rider rode particularly long.

POINT-TO-POINT

FINE RIDING BY MR. J. H. NUTTALL

THE NAAS HARRIERS AT TWO-MILE HOUSE

There was yesterday a splendid attendance at Two-Mile House, Naas, for the Naas Harriers' Point-to-Point, which was featured by a couple of first-class riding displays by Mr. J. H. Nuttall, who steered the winners of the Open Race and the Maiden Race. Miss Sheila Myers was also concerned in a capital finish for the Farmers' Race on Peggie II.

It was a big field—seventeen—for the Farmers' Race and Challenge Cup, but, after going half-way, they were fairly well strung out. In the early stages Llandudno was bringing them along at a merry pace, with Miss Myers close up on Peggie II., but, half a mile from the end, the last-named was just in front of Royal Princess III. Peggie II. jumped the third last fence slightly ahead of Mr. Urquhart's mount, who failed to overhaul the leader.

Mr. C. Lawless's Thistledown II. was fancied for the Open Race, but Mr. R. Collins's Hopeful gave Mr. J. H. Nuttall an armchair ride, and, leading throughout, he won easily by a couple of lengths from Thistledown II and Moonlight III., the latter of whom put up a 10lb. penalty. Mr. Nuttall also had the mount on Don't Know, the winner of the Maiden Race, who, after Galway Grey had made the running for two miles, took command, and won very easily from Moses. The winner is owned by Mr. R. Collen, Joint Master of the Fingal Harriers.

The Scarteen and Mount Loftus winner, Venetian Maid, scored four times between the flags last season, and is engaged in the Downshires at Punchestown, gave another convincing display in the Cobs' Race. Going very easily from start to finish, she held a prominent place all through, and had rather more than a length in hand of Warren Lad, who beat Wamma for second place by half a length. Another rousing finish was fought out for the Members' Race, which Captain Ellison won by a length from Commandant J. V. Lawless's Galteemore.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

ULSTER SCHOOLS' VICTORY

WELL-CONTESTED MATCH AT BELFAST

ULSTER .... 9 LEINSTER 3

The Ulster Schools had rather the better of the scrummaging in their match with Leinster Schools at Ravenhill, Belfast, yesterday, and won by three tries (9 points) to one try (3 points). Showers fell, and there was a strong wind blowing, which was in favour of Leinster in the first half, and, with Ulster holding their opponents to a draw in this period, they were able to finish better after the interval. Some of their handling was none too good, but the ball was thrown about freely, and there was no lack of enterprise by both sides. G. Healy, the Blackrock full back, played a fine game for Leinster, and Ferris and Chamberlain, the half-backs, also did good work, while Brennan and Thorpe were useful, but the backs on both sides did not handle surely.

With the wind Leinster had an advantage at the start, and Chamberlain was nearly in. The Leinster forwards set up a strong attack, and Brennan scored, but Thorpe failed to convert. Before half-time Johnston cut through to score a try, which Ferguson did not convert.

Ulster had more of the play after the interval, but the rain made handling difficult. Still, Ulster went ahead when Spiers scored, and later Short, the smartest Ulster three-quarter, scored a try, which Oakes just missed converting.

BANKERS' CUP FINAL

NATIONAL ..... 11 BANK OF IRELAND 6

National Bank defeated Bank of Ireland yesterday in the final of the Bankers' Institute Cup by a goal, a enalty goal and a try to a penalty goal and a try, after a hard and keen game. After fifteen minutes Barry sent Powell over for a try for National, C. O'Connell converting. Five minutes later Scott landed a penalty for Bank of Ireland, and National led at the interval by two points.

In the second period Carroll put National further ahead with a good penalty goal. In a Bank of Ireland attack Giddings crossed at the left corner, Scott's kick being just wide. National put in a final effort, and McNamara scored, but McEnery failed with the kick.

The cup and medals were presented to the winners by Mr. H. J. Millar, in the absence of Mr. T. S. Martin, President of the Institute of Bankers.

BOXING

DUBLIN JUVENILE TITLES

BOUTS IN FIRST SERIES AT COLLINS BARRACKS

The Dublin juvenile championships commenced last night at Collins Barracks, when the first series in the various weights were carried through. Chief interest was in the work of the bigger boys, and the best bout of the evening was between M. Heasey and P. Myers in the 8st. 7lb. class, the former boxing cleverly and hitting hard, while Myers took his beating in a very plucky manner. H. Ryan and M. O'Callaghan put up a good show in the 9st. class, especially in the last round, but the probable winner here would appear to be J. McCormack, of Corinthian, who is a strong, well-built lad. He had P. Dempsey almost out mid-way through the first round, when the referee wisely stopped it. The tournament will be continued this evening at 7.0. Results:—

4st. 7lb.—First Series—E. Kennedy (Arbour Hill) beat M. Cullen (Myra) on points; C. Boyne (South City) beat J. O'Toole (Corinthian) on points; T. Smith (Chapelizod) beat T. Rice (Unity) on points); H. Byrne (Arbour Hill) beat J. Brown (Phœnix) on points.

5st.—First Series—P. Kelly (Unity) beat H. Jordan (Unity) on points; J. Dargle (South City) beat H. McElwine (St. Joseph's) on points; T. Christy (Arbour Hill) beat T. Frooman (South City) on points; C. Duff (Phœnix) beat J. Begley (Avona) on points; A. Collins (St. Andrew's) beat J. Burke (St. Joseph's) on points; D. Harford (Corinthians) beat J. Lyons (Avona) on points.

5st. 7lb.—First Series—M. Fahey (Phœnix) beat J. Ingle (St. Andrew's) on points.

6st.—First Series—J. Ingle (St. Andrew's) beat M. Henderson (South City) on points.

8st. 7lb.—First Series—M. Hensey (Arbour Hill) beat P. Myers (South City) on points.

O'Callaghan (St. Andrew's) on points; J. Morrissey (Unity) beat D. Farrell (Luttrellstown) on points; J. McCormack (Corinthian) beat P. Dempsey (Unity) in first round, the referee stopping the fight; P. Homan (South City) beat J. Ellis (Avona) in second round, the referee stopping the fight.

SENIOR CUP FOR MUCKROSS

MAIDS OUTPLAYED IN THE FINAL

MUCKROSS 3
MAIDS OF THE MOUNTAIN 1

Muckross won the Leinster Senior Cup for the first time when they beat the holders, Maids of the Mountain, in the final at Claremont road yesterday. The score of 3 goals to 1 does not emphasise the superiority of the winners, who outplayed their opponents at every point until the last ten minutes. Then Maids, who had not previously been defeated either this season or last, put in their usual strong finish and scored once, but that was all they could do.

Muckross gave an excellent display. Their backs were so steady and covered each other so well that Miss Parsons in goal was not often troubled. Never previously have the Maids' forwards been so closely marked as they were by the Muckross half-backs yesterday. Miss Ennis was outstanding in a splendid line, and Mrs. Lavery was seldom dangerous while Miss Walker, although beaten frequently for speed, intercepted a number of passes intended for Miss Moore. Miss O'Rourke never gave Miss Hutton any room in which to work, and had the Muckross forwards shot more quickly when they reached the circle they would have had more than three goals.

MISS WHITE'S SKILL

Here lay the winners' one weakness. In Miss White, the inside-left, they had the best forward on the field, her through passes being splendidly placed and her speed and dash continually taking the Maids' defence out of position; but Miss Bourke and Miss C. O'Connor were too slow to shoot. Both wings got their centres across well, and through the field the whole line were rather too fast and too clever for the opposing halves and backs.

In the absence of Mrs. Findlater, their usual right full-back, Maids introduced the former international, Mrs. O'Reilly, who had not previously played a match this season, and her lack of pace was a severe handicap to the defence. Not until well into the second half did Miss Mahony find her best form, and the halves were continually beaten by the faster Muckross forwards. The only forward who really threatened danger was Miss Moore, whose clever passes deserved a better fate. Miss Rooke and Miss McKay lacked construction, and Miss Hutton and Mrs. Lavery were almost marked out of the game.

HOW THE GOALS CAME

Muckross missed several easy chances before Miss White, taking a nice pass from Miss Ennis, cut through to score with an unsaveable shot after fifteen minutes' play. Five minutes later another clever movement on the right enabled Miss White to score again, and Muckross led 2-0 at the interval. Early in the second half Miss E. O'Connor took a weak clearance and scored the third Muckross goal with a fine drive from the edge of the circle, and shortly afterwards Miss Bourke hit the cross-bar with a fierce shot. Miss Mahony was prominent in Maids' recovery, keeping her forwards well plied with passes, and from a long hit up the field, which the Muckross backs failed to stop, Miss Moore scored, but that was their only reward. Teams:—

Muckross—Misses Parsons; Byrne, J. O'Connor; Ennis, O'Rourke, Walker; Lennon, C. O'Connor, Bourke, White, E. O'Connor.

Maids—Miss Byrne; Mrs. O'Reilly, Misses Mahony; Dillon, Thompson, Huet; N. Moore, Rooke, Hutton, McKay, Mrs. Lavery.

Umpires—Miss Steen and Miss Richards.

JUNIOR SCHOOLS' CUP FINAL

WICKLOW .... 2 ARKLOW 0

By their victory over St. Mary's, Arklow, yesterday, at Claremont road, Dominican Convent, Wicklow, have won both the Senior and Junior Schools' Cup. Wicklow were the better side and fully deserved the victory. Arklow did an amount of attacking, and Miss Dillon made several attempts to get through, but she was badly supported by the rest of the line.

The game was seven minutes in progress when a combined effort by the Wicklow forwards ended in Miss Early scoring the only goal of the first half. Early in the second half Wicklow went further ahead, Miss Early scoring again.

Wicklow — Misses J. Meagher; P. Walsh, N. McMahon; S. Hayden, J. Callaghan, V. Cullen; K. McNally, N. Early, R. Bowers, P. O'Hara, R. Moloney.

Arklow—Misses K. White; S. Pierce, S. Healy; K. O'Connor, P. O'Mara, F. Johnston; P. Doran, K. Comerford, M. Dillon, K. O'Sullivan, M. Brennan.

GOLF

CAMBRIDGE BEAT OXFORD

REMARKABLE ROUND BY SOUTH AFRICAN

Brilliant golf by a South African Freshman, which was in strong contrast to the ineffective struggles of the respective captains, paved the way for a Cambridge victory on the Royal Liverpool course at Hoylake yesterday in the 53rd annual inter-University match. Oxford were beaten by 12 games to 3, losing the singles by 8 to 2.

C. de G. Watermeyer, who arrived from South Africa only three months ago and "walked" into the Cambridge team, amazed everyone by going round the 6,800 yards championship course in 68 strokes. With a score of 35 for the nine holes which he played in the second round, Watermeyer had a total of 103 for 27 holes—five under fours. His figures were:—

FIRST ROUND.
Out—5, 4, 4, 2, 4, 4, 3, 4, 4=34.
In—4, 2, 4, 2, 4, 4, 5, 4, 5=34.
SECOND ROUND.
Out—5, 4, 4, 3, 4, 4, 3, 4, 4=35.

The record for Hoylake is 68 by Archie Compston, and the best amateur score in competitions is 70 by the American, Bobbie Jones. Watermeyer's feat in winter conditions was not far short of astounding. Details:—

ROWING

FINE PERFORMANCE BY OXFORD

IN FULL-COURSE BOAT RACE TRIAL

In their second full-course trial from Putney to Mortlake yesterday, Oxford accomplished the fine time of 18 minutes 59 seconds—2 minutes faster than their previous best figures. Not only the time, but the way they achieved it has caused expert opinion to swing in their favour.

They had ideal conditions for the row—a fast flood tide, smooth water and a following wind for the greater part of the journey. They also had the assistance of scratch crews for the first time. Mr. C. H. Rew, the Cambridge coach, followed the work of the rival boat in one of the launches.

Off the boathouses the Oxford crew were joined by a London R.C. eight, and passed the mile post in 4 minutes 20 seconds. London were cleared just above Harrod's, and Oxford "shot" Hammersmith Bridge in 7 minutes 35 seconds. A Midland Bank crew gave them a good race from Hammersmith to Chiswick Steps, which were passed in 11 minutes 47 seconds, and, approaching Barnes Bridge, a Westminster Bank eight joined in. Winser "shot" the bridge in 16 minutes, and from there he put in a great effort to catch the scratch eight, and Oxford eventually finished just ahead. The rate of striking never dropped below 30, and none of the crew showed signs of distress.

The fastest practice time was 18 minutes 21 seconds, by Oxford in 1909, and the fastest race time 18 minutes 3 seconds, by Cambridge in 1934.

Cambridge had only light work yesterday, paddling and trying starts from a stake boat, in view of to-day's full-course trial.

FROM THE HUNTING FIELDS

KILDARE HOUNDS

On Monday the meet was at Colbinstown Station, and the first two coverts, Hangman's Rock and Gailey's, were blank. However, we found a good fox in Grange Con, and went away through Gailey's, then right-handed by Rathcon and Cullen's Bog to Ballyhook covert. Coming away again down the hill the line ran through Cullen's back to Ballyhook Hill, and, keeping the covert on their left, hounds swung left-handed, passing close to Glenduff covert to Whitestown, and were beaten on the Stratford road, having made a 5 mile point in one hour and twenty minutes. Then followed a fast twenty-five minutes' gallop from Tynte Park, via Raheens, to ground in Glenduff, which finished a good day.

Tuesday found hounds at the Watch House cross-roads, and a moderate day's sport followed. Commencing with the Baron's Bog, we found all right, but scent was so bad that nothing came of it. Punchestown was blank, and then came a very fast twenty-five minutes from Glenmore, by Elverstown gorse, nearly up to Glending, then over Athgarrett Hill, across the Eadestown-Blessington road, to ground in Wolfestown. A bad fox found in Eadestown was quickly killed, and another from Elverstown got to ground in the Slade.

WARD UNION HOUNDS

On Saturday last the Ward Hounds met at the Nine-Mile Stone, those out including a particularly large number of visitors from various English and Irish hunts. A stag enlarged on Mr. Plunkett's land at Race Hill went away very straight through the Court to Ballymadun, and hounds ran hard towards Tobercregan before swinging left-handed by Borranstown and Snipestown to Laurelmount. Leaving Newtown fox covert on their right, they hunted down the hill and across the Bog of Primatestown to Money Hill and on to Meadsbrook. They then bore right-handed by Cushenstown and Crossmacoll, and ran through Hawkinstown to Coolfore. Scent was none too good, and, with the stag a long way ahead, hounds hunted slowly by Johnstown and Clatterstown nearly to the village of Duleek before turning back to Annsbrook, where they eventually had to admit defeat, leaving the stag an outlier in the Louth country after a very long hunt, the point made being over seven miles.

DUHALLOW HOUNDS

The death of Mr. J. S. Shepherd, at Kilbrack, was learned with deep regret by everybody in Duhallow. Since he came as M.F.H. in 1919 he was one of the most popular Masters that ever hunted the Duhallows. He was a good sportsman, an expert in the handling of hounds, and his capabilities in the saddle were proved by his winning numerous races at the local point-to-point meetings. To his family sincere sympathy is offered in their great loss.

On Monday, the 16th, we had a very good hunt from the meet at Shanballymore. Finding in Oldtown, close to the village, hounds ran through Clogher Glen towards Clogher Hill, and left-handed by Ballybarrett to the River Awbeg. Going on by Park Mills and Laurentinum to Carker Glen, our line was by Skehanagh Hill, where the fox was headed into Brough Wood. Hounds pushed him through the wood and towards Castlepooke, from where the line was right back through the wood to Rossagh, Carrigeen and Oldcourt. From Oldcourt our tired fox pointed for Doneraile, but short of the latter turned back, and was killed going into Oldcourt. This was a five-mile point, and 11½ miles as hounds ran. Time, one hour and forty minutes.

On the following day a large field had another good day from the meet at Mallow Railway Bridge. Finding in the Poor House gorse, our line was over the Copstown road to the railway, where hounds turned back, the fox having been headed. Going through Mr. Sheehan's he crossed the Copstown road and ran towards Dromdowney, then by the left to Killograhan and into Kilknockin. Hounds now slipped right away from the field, who were held up by the railway. From Mountnorth we had a nice four miles' gallop, through Mr. Barrett's and Mr. Greene's land, through Dromdowney towards Poor House, then by the right again over the Mallow-Mountnorth road towards Rathnee and back into covert, where he was marked. From Groine hounds ran very fast through Mr. Browne's farm, and by Ballycushin and Garryduff to within a few fields of Poulnareagha, from where the line was by the left to Castlecor, and after some hunting around the demesne hounds were stopped.

There was a thick fog when hounds moved off from Grenagh on Thursday, and it seemed doubtful if hunting would be possible. However, at Ballyvaloon we could see for two fields, and the Master decided to draw. Going away from here he had a nice two miles towards Guarrane, but hounds could not carry the line a field beyond the latter place. From Guarrane a fresh fox ran on to the road and through Puckanes and Rathcoole to ground at Gowlane South. This was a very good hunt of about six miles, over a splendid bit of jumping country, with some big stone walls and not a strand of wire.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

CUP FINALISTS AT SHELBOURNE PARK

ROVERS AND DRUMCONDRA SHARE THE POINTS

SHAMROCK ROVERS 1
DRUMCONDRA 1

Even though the points were of little value to either, the fact that the game was between the Free State Cup finalists, Shamrock Rovers, and the beaten semi-finalists, Drumcondra, sufficed to bring a fair crowd to Shelbourne Park yesterday.

Expectations of the game producing good football were soon dispelled, however, as there was an almost complete lack of dash about the play of either team. It was ninety minutes of very dull play, which ended, suitably enough, in a division.

In the first half Shamrock Rovers had the better of the play, and, had their forwards been good enough, they would have turned over with an interval lead. The first half was scoreless. Within a couple of minutes of the restart the Drumcondra defence blundered, and Reid netted from close in, to give Rovers the lead. Drumcondra played with more dash subsequently, and when, after 38 minutes, Keohane netted, following a cross by Meehan, the goal was well deserved.

Shamrock Rovers—Behan; Gaskins, Burke; Glen, Blake, Williams; Dunne, Reid, Coote, Newman, Scully.

Drumcondra — Penrose; Rowe, Rogers; McCarthy, John, Mullaly; Donnelly, Quayle, Kerr, Keohane, Meehan.

CORK THE BETTER SIDE

CORK ...... 4 BRAY UNKNOWNS 3

At Bray yesterday Symons, Turnbull and O'Reilly (2) scored for Cork, and Berry and Neary (2) for Bray Unknowns. Cork's victory was well merited, as they were clearly the better side, although the robust tactics of the Bray defence prevented them giving their usual smooth display. It was, on the whole, an uninteresting game, relieved from mediocrity by occasional flashes of clever passing by the visitors' forwards, of whom O'Reilly and King were prominent, and by the solid defence and accurate placing of Symons and Wade.

Owing to a fractured thumb, sustained in the semi-final cup-tie at Cork last Sunday, Harrington was missing from the Cork goal. Tully filled his place efficiently, and had no chance with the shots that beat him. Clifford made many fine saves in Bray's goal.

Symons opened the scoring after four minutes, giving Clifford no chance with strong drive from a free kick. Fifteen minutes from the interval Berry equalised, and two minutes later Turnbull put Cork ahead with a fine solo effort. O'Reilly and Neary got a brace apiece after the change of ends. In the closing stages Bray attacked persistently, but were unable to break through Cork's sound defence.

Bray Unknowns—Clifford; Watson, Dooley; Hammond, G. Murray, M. Murray; Neary, Buchanan, O'Toole, Doran, Berry.

Cork—Tully; Symons, Wade; Foy, Little, Connolly; O'Reilly, King, Turnbull, Madden, Percy.

DUBLIN IDLE

GUINNESS EASIER

ALLIANCE GAS LOWER

Business on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday was of the smallest possible dimensions, but local issues held up well, whilst leading Industrials remained lifeless.

Apart from a slight easing in the Second National Loan to 113 x.d., Free State Funds were well maintained. War Loan hardened to 106½.

Banks were buyers for choice, and both Munster and Leinsters and Nationals tended higher, but Provincial Old eased to 51s. 6d.

There was some selling of Guinness units and they slipped back to 157s.

Great Southern Rails again attracted support, and the Pref. made fresh headway to 55 and the Deb. advanced to 88.

Alliance Gas Ord. eased the turn, as did Crowe Wilson Pref., and Irish-American Oil Pref. dipped to 26s. 9d. x.d.

Alex. Thom Pref. rose 2s. 6d. and May Roberts (Ireland) Pref. improved to 23s. 9d., but Burke Pref. lost 1s. and Carroll Ord. fell 1s. 6d.

British Industrials were practically at a standstill, but showed little change where quoted. Tobaccos advised lower from the other side.

LONDON IRREGULAR

KAFFIRS RESPOND TO TAXATION PROPOSALS

General business on the London Stock Markets was kept in check by the fact that uncertainty over the international political situation will, in all probability, be prolonged, but the prevailing idleness was relieved by a revival of interest in "Kaffirs," following the announcement by Mr. Havenga, the South African Finance Minister, of revised proposals for taxing gold mining profits. The shares of the low grade producing companies attracted most attention and improved substantially, it being generally thought that these companies are likely to reap most benefit from the new proposals. Few interesting movements occurred in other departments, though the Industrial market provided one or two bright features, the most notable being a spurt in Rolls Royce, which were supported in anticipation of a bonus.

BRITISH FUNDS.

The turn-over in Gilt-edged stocks remained small, but, with sellers again absent and some issues receiving a little investment support, the market preserved a firm tone, and several small improvements were recorded. War Loan, Old Consols and Consols Fours all gained ⅛.

FOREIGN BONDS.

In the Foreign Bond section Brazilians showed an improving tendency, and movements in other South American descriptions were favourable in spite of the news that martial law has been put into force in Rio de Janeiro. Europeans were quieter, and further losses occurred in Germans, while French Fours failed to hold Tuesday's small rise. Far Easterns failed to receive much attention, but the few changes were mostly favourable.

RAILS.

Operators on the British Rail market, although pleased with the traffic figures for last week, showed little inclination to enlarge commitments, and quotations, apart from a gain in Southern Preferred, closed without alteration. A feature in Foreign Rails was a revival of activity in Cordoba Central First Debs., which rose 3 to 48½. Leopoldina recovered the loss recorded on the preceding day, but San Paulo Ord. went back sharply, and Argentines also remained dull. Colonials again displayed a tendency to ease, and American Rails were rather heavy.

INDUSTRIALS.

Operators in the Industrial market showed discrimination, and confined their attention mainly to issues affected by particular items of news. Aircrafts, with the exception of Rolls Royce, were dull, owing to uncertainty as to future profits, it being reported that the companies are finding working conditions difficult as a result of the contract policy adopted by the Air Ministry. In the Motor group Standards came into demand following their recent fall, but others were inclined to droop. The Electrical Equipment group was not without firm spots, and trans-Atlantics, after being dull, made a partial recovery. Movements in the Stores, Tobacco, and Iron and Steel departments were usually adverse, and in the Textile section profit-taking caused a sharp fall in Patons and Baldwins. Elsewhere, Cable stocks gave way, and the downward movement in Dunlops, British Oxygen and certain other leading issues continued.

MINES.

Trading in Mines, although livelier than of late, was far from brisk. There was, however, a general firming up of Kaffirs, and Nourse, Knights, Modder Deep and several other issues finished considerably higher. West Africans remained dull, and small losses were the rule among other Gold shares. Reports of favourable developments accounted for a fresh rise in Zinc Corporation Ord.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET

TENDENCY REMAINS IRREGULAR

ROLLS ROYCE A BRIGHT FEATURE

Business in the Industrial market yesterday remained on a small scale owing to the uncertainty surrounding the international political situation and the approach of the carry-over. Here and there support was forthcoming, but, generally speaking, the tendency remained subdued, and prices moved in irregular fashion. After a dull opening the trans-Atlantic counters developed a firmer appearance on renewed support from Wall street. Steels recovered to 64⅞, Tractions to 12 11/16, and Radios to 13 3/16. Cinema shares received good support in places under the lead of Unions, which on the dividend declaration closed ⅜ up at 9. Cable and Wireless remained on the dull side.

AIRCRAFT DOWN.

Uneasiness regarding Government contract prices caused an almost general decline in quotations for Aircraft and kindred descriptions. A strong exception was provided, however, by Rolls Royce, a keen demand for which, based on favourable anticipations of the past year's results and bonus talk, led to an advance of 9½, while at the close a net improvement of 3/32 was recorded. Disappointment at the results revealed by the first accounts caused a fell in General Aircraft, but a rally occurred to the overnight's level of 5s. 3d.; Fairey fell 1s., and like declines were shown by Hawker and by Hawker Siddeley.

In the Motor group, Fords continued on offer, less optimistic views being entertained regarding the dividend, and the price fell a further 6d. Standard, however, were in demand, recovering 1s. 6d.

As regards Electrical Equipments, Associated were firm owing to the considerably higher profits last year, and the price strengthened to 45s. 1½d. Enfield Cables left off at 100s. ex the share bonus, the new shares being dealt in on a similar basis.

IRON AND STEEL DULL.

With only a few exceptions, Iron and Steel descriptions had a dull appearance, business being on only a moderate scale. Tube Investments declined 1s. 3d. and Stewarts and Lloyds Defd. fell to 34s. 4½d.

There was some inquiry for Harrods in the Stores section and they advanced to 81s. 9d. Woolworths hardened to 122s. and Marks and Spencers held around 4⅞, but Smart Bros. suffered a setback, closing 2s. 3d. down at 31s. Cerebos came in for further buying in the Provision and Catering section on renewed hopes of a bonus. At 12⅜ the shares showed a net rise of 3/16; Home and Colonial eased to 5s. 9d., and Unilever lost the turn.

Among Textiles there was fair support for Salts (Saltaire), but Patons and Baldwins encountered profit-taking and fell back.

In the Rayon group, Brocklehurst-Whistow were a further 1s. 6d. down at 15s., while Courtaulds shed a few pence, closing around 50s. 3d.

BREWERIES FIRM.

With few exceptions, Breweries ruled quietly firm. Guinness maintained their recent improvement.

Tobaccos moved within narrow limits; Carreras were a trifle better, but "Bats" and "Cantabs" remained on the dull side. "Imps," Gallahers, and Godfrey Phillips held around the overnight levels.

Shipping descriptions were easier for choice, Cairns, P. and O. Defd. and E.D. and R.M. Realisations all coming on offer.

A rather dull tone again prevailed in the Miscellaneous section, although prices as a rule moved within narrow limits.

OIL MARKET SMALL

Quiet conditions again prevailed in the Oil Share market yesterday, business all round being once more on an extremely small scale. There was very little to encourage dealers to quote better prices at the opening, as the European political news was still obscure, added to which New York left off dull on Tuesday. Although slightly easier prices were quoted at the start for the leading counters, there was never any pronounced selling pressure, and bargain-hunters were in evidence. Favourable dividend anticipations were responsible for firmness in Burmahs and Anglo Iranians, while Shells made good an initial loss, and the Eagle issues also closed steady after early dulness.

RUBBERS UNINTERESTING

With the price of raw rubber displaying an easier tendency, operators in the Rubber Share Market yesterday were inclined to reduce, rather than increase, their holdings. Business was extremely small, however, and the majority of shares were not dealt in, and closed without alteration. A little selling caused losses in Kuala Lumpur, Djasinga, and two or three other higher-priced issues. In a fairly steady but very quiet commodity section spot rubber sold at 7 1/16d. per lb.

LONDON "STREET" MARKET

Only a small volume of business was transacted in the American market last evening, but the tone as a whole was firm, and prices finished with a harder appearance. Nickels gained ⅜ to 49⅞, Tractions improved ¼ to 12 11/16, and Radios were bid for at 13¼. Steels were ½ to the good at 64⅞, Hydros hardened to 8 3/16, and Holdings rallied to 2. "Canadas" had buyers at 13, but New York Centrals were offered at 35½. Chryslers closed around 97, General Motors strengthened to 66⅛, and Packards were dealt in at 11⅞. Shell Unions put on ¼ to 17⅞, while International Telephone were bid for at 17¼. Among Home Industrials, Courtaulds eased a few pence to 50s.

LONDON MINING MARKET

KAFFIRS RESPOND TO BUDGET STATEMENT

Owing to the experience of the earlier days of the week, the Mining Market opened in uncertain fashion yesterday, and business was still on a very restricted scale, with prices moving irregularly within narrow limits. The "Kaffir" department was awaiting Mr. Havenga's Budget statement with the keenest interest, and as the news filtered through a much more confident feeling prevailed. As a matter of fact, the proposals of the Union Government regarding mining taxation proved to be in accordance with anticipations. The ordinary taxation is reduced to the old level of 15 per cent., and additional taxation is on a graduated scale, on the lines of the terms of the leased areas. The revised taxation proposals met with general approval, it being recognised that the low-grade and high-cost producers stand to benefit materially, while the high-grade undertakings will not be, it appears, in any worse position than at present, the total taxation being limited to a maximum of 50 per cent. The announcement created a much better feeling throughout the market, and among the shares which stand to benefit from the new regulations Randfontein stood out prominently, a big demand lifting the price substantially. Among the other shares which are expected to benefit, East Rand Props., Nourse Mines and Knights went ahead, and Modder Deep were wanted on rumours of good developments on the Kimberley reef. The whole market took on a brighter appearance in the afternoon, and, with few exceptions, prices closed at the best of the day. Closing Prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET

RISE IN SILVER

The price of gold was yesterday fixed 2d. lower at 140s. 9½d. per fine ounce. The prem. was also lower, being 8d. over the dollar at 4.96¼ and 7½d. over the franc at 75. There was £176,000 available in the market.

Silver rose sharply on Indian buying, being ⅛d. higher for spot at 20 1/16d. and 1/16d. up for forward delivery at 20⅛d. per ounce.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

International political uncertainties continued to dominate the Foreign Exchange Market yesterday. Vague apprehensions resulted in a steady, but comparatively small, efflux of funds from France and other Continental countries to London and New York, but the operations of the London authorities restricted movements in rates to the barest minimum, so far as sterling was concerned. The American authorities also appeared to be checking any upward tendency in the dollar by intervention on similar lines. In consequence at the close of the day, apart from a slihgt fall in the value of the franc, the position of all the principal exchanges was barely altered from the previous evening. Business in the forward market was at a low ebb, rates being without material alteration.

COMPANY MEETINGS.

THE EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY ASSURANCE CORPORATION, LTD.

INCREASED PREMIUM INCOME

The fifty-fifth ordinary general meeting of the Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, Ltd., was held yesterday at the Incorporated Accountants' Hall, London, W.C.

Sir Courtauld Thomson, K.B.E., C.B. (the chairman of the corporation), summarising the main features of the results during the past year, said that the total premium income had increased slightly to £6,893,000. The fire account had expanded and showed a profit of 9 per cent., an even better ratio than last year. Accident business had greatly improved in almost every class, particularly the motor compensation and liability sections, and had produced a profit of £184,000. The results of their United States branch had shown a welcome improvement on those of 1934, and had contributed substantially to their profits. Their associated life company, the Clerical, Medical and General, on completing its quinquennial valuation, had once again disclosed a record divisible profit, in which the corporation would share to the extent of £166,000. The value of the corporation's investments in the United States had again increased, leaving at the end of the year only a small percentage of depreciation, which at the end of last month had, in fact, been turned into an appreciation. Both the total underwriting profit of £217,000, and the surplus of profit of the corporation for 1935 of £537,000 were the largest for sixteen years.

As to conditions in the United States, where the amount of the corporation's business was very large not only was every important business activity greater at the end of 1935 than at the beginning, but the index figures of business for last December were higher than at any time during the year. In the United Kingdom their policy of energetic development had shown gratifying results in increased business.

A GOLDEN JUBILEE.

On 9th June next the corporation celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their entry into the United States as the pioneers of liability insurance, and it was intended to arrange suitable celebrations in Boston. He himself was going out with the managing director and the secretary for this great event, and it was appropriate that they should travel in the Queen Mary on her maiden voyage.

It is satisfactory to report that the depreciation on their Stock Exchange investments had declined during the year by nearly £300,000, and at 31st December last was only £176,000 on investments of £6,700,000, or 2.6 per cent. Taking into account the large appreciation which existed in their shareholding in the Clerical, Medical and General, the investments as a whole would show an appreciation.

The report and accounts were unanimously adopted.

PROVINCIAL CINEMATOGRAPH THEATRES LTD.

15% FOR NINTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR

The 26th annual general meeting of Provincial Cinematograph Theatres, Ltd., was held yesterday at Film House, 142-150 Wardour street, London, W.

Mr. Mark Ostrer (Chairman and Managing Director) said that unsurpassed competition had been experienced during the year under review, and in the circumstances it was satisfactory to note that their profits had not only been maintained but had actually been increased by approximately £12,000. With regard to the accounts, income tax reserve stood at £63,361, and fully covered the company's liability to the date of the balance sheet. A further £95,000 had been placed to depreciation reserve account, raising it to £962,143. The debenture stock sinking fund had been in operation for two years, and the reserve created now appeared at £25,533. In addition to the sinking fund reserve, there had been set aside £70,000 to the general reserve, an increase of £5,000 over the amount appropriated last year. This reserve now appeared at £600,000. Shares in subsidiary companies—£1,430,880—showed an increase of £112,206, which included the expenditure on the acquisition of the share capital of the company owning the Gaumont, Manchester. Freehold and leasehold properties—£4,360,073—showed an increase of £40,022, and fixtures, fittings, furniture, etc., at £1,204,289, an increase of £17,470.

The net profit for the year, including income from investments and transfer fees, amounted to £494,368, an increase of £11,859 compared with that of the previous year. Adding the balance brought forward £122,834 gave a total available of £617,202, and the directors recommended a dividend on the ordinary shares at the usual rate of 15 p.c., being the ninth consecutive year this dividend had been maintained. This dividend would require £75,000, leaving £122,923 to be carried forward.

NEW THEATRES.

They had reconstructed and enlarged the theatre at Stroud, now known as the Gaumont Palace, which had been opened on the 31st August, 1935. Their new theatre, the Gaumont, Worcester, with a seating capacity of 1,750, had been opened on the 23rd October, 1935. The Gaumont, Manchester, which was owned by a 100 p.c. subsidiary company, had been opened on 21st October last.

Theatres are to be erected at Chippenham and Salisbury, and a third at Trowbridge was to be reconstructed. At Chippenham the existing theatre would be closed upon the opening of the new theatre, while at Salisbury the new theatre would consolidate the position in that city.

The advantage of their continued association with Gaumont-British enabled them to enjoy, among other things, profitable booking facilities, and film hire was kept on a reasonable basis. For the current year the profits had been well maintained, and he hoped it would be possible to submit for their consideration at the next annual meeting results equally as satisfactory as those before them that day. Before moving the adoption of the report and accounts he would like to pay a tribute to the loyalty and co-operation of the staff in all departments for their efficient services during the year.

The report and accounts were unanimously adopted.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS

Rand Mining Taxation

Satisfaction is expressed with the proposals of the South African Finance Minister for an alteration of the method of taxing the Rand gold mining companies. The new method announced is much simpler than the one now in force, and, although the extent to which the different companies will be affected cannot be gauged yet, it is regarded as distinctly advantageous to those producing low-grade ore, such as the East Rand, Modder East, Luipaards Vlei, Randfontein, West Rand, and City Deep. The main proposal is that the normal tax of 20 per cent. is to be reduced to 15 per cent. In addition, a graduated tax will be imposed ranging up to 35 per cent. of the profits, making, with the ordinary tax, a maximum of 50 per cent. The 35 per cent. will be levied on a formula based on the cost of production, etc., so that a low grade proposition with high working costs might not have to pay anything. Companies producing high-grade ore, such as the Sub Nigel and the Geduld, would have to pay proportionately much more than the others. The general effect of the proposals was favourable; for, while shares of the Sub Nigel type were inclined to be dull, those of low-grade propositions were better, having been bid for early in the day on Cape account.

Fairey Aviation

A circular issued yesterday by Fairey Aviation Company explains more fully the proposed increase of capital and service agreements announced in the March 14 notice, with special reference to directors' remuneration. Remuneration payable to the chairman under his agreement as managing director will remain on the same terms as in the past. He will not be interested in any percentage of profits allocated to the management. As to the proposed issue of shares to directors other than the chairman at a lower price than the market price, the company points out that the directors give their whole-time services. Owing to the rapid development of the aircraft industry and demand for expert qualifications, the chairman is of opinion that, if the directors should not be permitted to participate in profits in the manner suggested, it would be necessary, in order to remunerate the management on the basis comparable with that of other companies, to increase the proposed percentages.

Argentine Railways Dividends

The directors of B.A. Great Southern and B.A. Western Railway Companies announce that the question of payment of dividends on Preference Stocks will be considered when accounts for the year to June 30 next are completed.

Stewarts and Lloyds Deal

An important agreement has been entered into between Tarmac, Ltd., and Stewarts and Lloyds, Ltd., under which a large new Tarmac works is being constructed to deal with the increased supplies of blast furnace slag produced at that company's extensive iron and steel plant at Cory, Northamptonshire. The cost of the new works will be financed out of Tarmacs existing resources. In addition to these extensions a new plant for the manufacture of Vinculum concrete products is being constructed on the south coast.

New Flexible Trust to be Launched

Aviation and Universal Investment Trust, a new flexible trust of the managed unit type, which will spread its funds over securities of leading companies in a wide range of industries likely to benefit from expansion in aviation, has been formed and will be launched in the next few days, it is officially announced. The new trust will be managed by Aviation Trust Managers, Ltd., a company formed by a group representing important city interests. The chairman of the management company is Lord Sempill, and the other directors are Sir Alfred Beit, Bt., M.P., director of Rhodesia Railways, Ltd.; Mr. Thomas Law, C.A., late senior partner of Price, Waterhouse, Peat and Co., Calcutta; Mr. G. A. Moncrieff, director of General Accident, Fire and Life Assurance Corporation, Ltd., and Sir Herbert Morgan, K.B.E., chairman of Smiths Potato Crisps (1929), Ltd. The trustees for unit holders in the new trust will be the General Accident, Fire and Life Assurance Corporation, Ltd.

IRISH FAIRS

Dunmanway.—Numerically the horse fair in Dunmanway yesterday was not up to the average March fair. The many sales effected in Bandon precluded a big attendance of high-class horses. "Vanners" were in good demand. A couple of high-class hunters on offer did not reach the prices demanded. Dray horses and horses of draught type and those suitable for farmers were in most demand. Two-year-old colts were very scarce and much sought after. The supply of cobs and ponies was up to the average, but the demand was very good.

WOOL

GOOD DEMAND IN NEW ZEALAND.—At yesterday's wool sale at Auckland 32,420 bales were put up for auction, a record offering for Auckland, and a 95 per cent. clearance was effected. There was a full bench of buyers, but bidding was a trifle erratic, though spirited at times. Buying, however, was well spread, with Bradford the principal operators. There was heavy competition for good hogget, but southdown and downcross were appreciably easier than at recent New Zealand sales. The top price of 15½d. was paid for a line of corriedale.

Several good performances were accomplished at St. Columba's College sports, held in the College grounds at Rathfarnham, notably those of B. SUDDEN DEATH IN COUNTY DUBLIN

John Keogh, aged 24 years, an unmarried labourer, who lived with his mother at Carriclea Gardens, Kill-o'-the-Grange, was found dead in his bed yesterday morning. It is stated that he had attended a mission in Dun Laoghaire on the previous evening, when he seemed in his usual health.

MINISTER AND JUVENILE CRIME

THE QUESTION OF PARENTAL CONTROL

USE OF IRISH IN THE DAIL

THE debate was resumed in the Dail yesterday on the vote of £4,599,994 for educational services.

Mr. KISSANE (F.F., Kerry) who spoke in Irish, complained that "A Short History of the Irish People" did not give fair play to people on one side when dealing with the events of 1922. Statements had been made about the standard of English in the entrance examinations to the preparatory colleges, but their aim was to keep English out of the Gaeltacht. Irish was going ahead throughout the country as a result of the Department's good work.

A COMMITTEE'S REPORT

Mr. NORTON (Lab., Kildare) suggested that the Government should borrow a capital sum for the purpose of speedily replacing the "large number of defective school buildings in rural areas." The report of the Inter-departmental Committee on the question of raising the school-leaving age was the worst report ever presented by any committee. Apart from the Minister who appointed them, and from the Minister himself, and the rather hysterical leading article in the Irish Press, the Minister had been unable to get any single authority interested in the welfare of children to support the Committee's viewpoint. Even deputies of the Minister's party had denounced the report. The Inter-departmental Committee had no knowledge whatever of conditions in industry which would enable them to say that a child was not too immature to enter industry at fourteen years of age.

Mr. FitzGERALD-KENNEY (U.I., Mayo. South) said that the programme for rural schools was altogether too wide. He thought that in certain instances there was great unfairness in the awarding of the £2 bonuses for children speaking Irish habitually at home, and alleged that one teacher had refused to give the necessary certificate unless the parents concerned would agree with his political views.

Mr. P. MURPHY (F.F. Cork County, E.) expressed appreciation to the Minister for what he had done recently in West Cork in arranging for the replacement of two school buildings. There were, however, still a large number of defective schools in the country, and he urged that the same energy should be devoted to blotting out some of the terrible hovels which masqueraded as schools.

Speaking of the lack of supervision over industrial school boys after they had left school, he said that they often were badly treated and badly trained. To him the whole system savoured of a traffic in human beings that was entirely deplorable.

SCHOOL HISTORY BOOKS

Mr. A. HAZLETT (Independent, Monaghan) said there was a strong feeling among people in the country that the text books in use were not all that they might be. With regard to some of the history books it was said that the facts of history were presented according to the viewpoint of the writer, and were obnoxious to the views of a great many of the parents. To take certain facts out of their setting and present them as if a person was writing about them in the twentieth century was not a fair way of setting out facts.

Mrs. REDMOND (U.I., Waterford) said children nowadays were not being educated as they were heretofore. She deplored the teaching of all subjects through Irish, which had become an absolute obsession with the present Government. Irish should be regarded as one subject, one language.

Mr. McGOVERN (U.I., Cavan) said the pace of the teaching of Irish was being forced too fast.

COMMITTEE DEFENDED

The MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, who spoke first in Irish, said in English that the broad policy of education advocated by Mr. Norton would cost a million pounds or more, but it was not part of the deputy's duty to suggest how the money should be provided.

Mr. NORTON—Take a million pounds out of the two millions that the Minister for Industry and Commerce was going to save.

Dealing with attacks on the report of the Inter-Departmental Committee on the school-leaving age problem, the Minister said that they had appointed officers in whom they had confidence, and who had a thorough knowledge of the problem. No sooner did the summary of their report appear than it was assailed violently in the Press by ignorant and ill-informed writers, who, he ventured to say, had not even taken the trouble to read the report. No credit whatever was given to the Committee for its labours. The report had been considered worthy of attention by foreign States, some of them the most advanced in Europe in educational matters.

Proceeding, Mr. Derrig said that it had been suggested that because he had spoken in Irish in that House he had tried to burk criticism, but that was not so. He considered it his duty, and the duty of the Government and of the Dail, to give a good example to the country, and not to place it in the power of any individual or writer to say that there was any window-dressing or camouflage about this question of Irish. Too much work had gone into the task of reviving the language, and too much money had been spent to go back. While he was Minister for Education there would be no going back, but he would go forward with every ounce of energy which he possessed in order to push forward the policy which had been accepted, he understood, by the representatives of education and the chief political parties in the country.

Dealing with the question of the school-leaving age, Mr. Derrig said that when officials had examined the question and had brought in a report suggesting certain specific steps that should be taken as a trial they were told that they were bureaucrats, and one daily newspaper had referred to them as "barons of the Middle Ages." In regard to this matter they, in the Free State, were in at least as good a position as other countries.

JUVENILE CRIME

It might be rash to draw hasty conclusions as to the prevalence of juvenile crime from statistics covering a period of, say, two years. If it was claimed that an increase in the number of young persons sent to reformatories was an indication of growth in juvenile crime giving cause for serious anxiety, he would, he said, point out that having regard to the figures since 1928 he did not think that it could be said that the committals to reformatory schools indicated that the position was very unsatisfactory. Giving figures, Mr. Derrig said that in 1928 five children under 14 years of age and 33 over 14 years of age were committed; in 1929 the total was 33, and in the period 1930-34 the figures had fallen; in the following year (1935) there had been an increase to a total of 44. That increase seemed to be peculiar to that year, and he thought that it would be a mistake to jump to any hasty conclusions on those figures. The 1935 figure compared with 113 in the year 1910 and 139 in 1915 for the Free State area, and that would seem to indicate that they had come down considerably towards bedrock. The question of parental control should be emphasised, and it was right for him to say that, in so far as the schools were concerned, he felt that they were doing their duty, that a very good spirit prevailed, and that a very good training in good conduct and in habits of good citizenship was being given in the schools. They could not blame the schools for defects which often came, unfortunately, from lack of parental control. Occasionally one heard complaints that teachers did not get the co-operation which they were entitled to from parents.

With regard to a complaint that the increase in crime might have come from political causes, or that some deterioration might be traceable to their political difficulties, he would like to say that, so far as the men of the old I.R.A. were concerned, there was no doubt that a finer or cleaner body of men rarely had existed in any country and rarely kept such high standards. It was a matter for congratulation that, in spite of these difficulties, they had attained such a high standard.

Dealing with the Department's policy with regard to the use of Irish, he said that, perhaps, some more time might be given to speaking the language, which was an important thing in the curriculum. He would be happy to investigate any complaints of political bias or the introduction of politics into schools, no matter on what side. The statement of Deputy Gearoid O'Sullivan that reference had been made to the late Michael Collins as a traitor had aroused his astonishment. He was really astonished by that at this time of the day, and he felt humiliated to think that a teacher should forget himself so far as to introduce a spirit of that kind into the school. If his attention was drawn to cases of that kind he would call the attention of the managers concerned to the circumstances.

With regard to history books, Deputy Haslett seemed, he said, to be dissatisfied with the standard and the contents in some measure of some of the readers. The Department did not publish text books for the schools, and they left it to the discretion of the schools, as a rule, particularly in the case of secondary schools, to say what books they should use, but there was, he thought, an approved list, and it might happen that in certain categories the selection was very limited. He thought that in the treatment of history it was not so much, perhaps, the text book which mattered as the personality of the teacher and the way he treated the subject.

The vote was agreed to, as also were the following sums:—£2,250,286 for primary education; £280,300 for secondary education; £162,845 for technical instruction and continuous vocational education; £30,259 for science and art; £54,532 for reformatory and industrial schools; and £2,087 for the National Gallery.

A resumption of boy migration was foreshadowed at Melbourne yesterday by a deputation from the Big Brother Movement to Mr. Dunstan, Premier of Victoria. During the audience Sir George Fairbairn, former Agent-General for Victoria, said that boys from England were assured of work.

The Home Secretary has recommended a reprieve for Mrs. Carmen Martha Alice Swann, the thirty-two years old mother, who was sentenced to death at the Old Bailey on Tuesday on a charge of murdering her eight years old daughter.

The death-roll from the storms and floods for the Eastern States has now reached the total of 200, says a New York telegram.

PRODUCTION OF VITAMINS

The production of vitamins in the U.S.S.R. has left the experimental stage and been transferred to the factory. Last year the vitamin factories in Shchelkovo (near Moscow), in Leningrad and Rostov, turned out between them three and a half million doses of Vitamin C from conifers and rushes. Scurvy, that terrible disease of the North, is fast disappearing with the advent of vitamin concentrates.

This year, it is planned to produce thirteen million doses of Vitamin C, not from conifers, which give the concentrates an unpleasant bitter taste, but from wild roses.

The confectionery factories of Moscow and Leningrad are to turn out this year 800 tons of vitaminised sweetmeats, such as caramels, sugar-plums, fruit candies, which will be widely sold in the shops.

Soviet scientists are not limiting themselves merely to obtaining vitamin concentrates. Academician Favorsky and Professor N. N. Ivanov have succeeded in producing a synthetic Vitamin C in the form of crystals. Moreover, Professor Schmidt has obtained Vitamin C in the form of crystals from the wild rose.

When the process for the production of synthetic Vitamin C has been thoroughly mastered in the laboratory, a plant for its manufacture on a commercial scale will be built.

This year the Soviet Union has turned out its first lot of margarine, biscuits, chocolate and other foods, vitaminised with "carrotine." Obtained from carrots, beet-leaves, potatoes and rushes, carrotine, when used for specific eye diseases helps the organism to resist the infection and is, moreover, a splendid remedy for acute indigestion. The building of four plants for the production of carrotine is to be commenced in the near future. Each of these plants will be capable of turning out 5,000 doses of carrotine a day.

Vegetable oils, yeast and milk contain large quantities of ergosterine, which is converted into Vitamin D when exposed to ultra-violet rays. Vitamin D is essential to children suffering from rickets. Cakes and biscuits made with vegetable oil, yeast, margarine and milk, which have been treated with ultra-violet rays acquire an anti-rickets quality, and are far superior in this respect to fish oil.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS

QUIET ADVANCE AND A FIRM CLOSE

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

Wall street took a brighter view of the domestic news, and showed less nervousness regarding the developments in Europe. The result was an unobtrusive advance, with Rails and Minings refusing to participate, touching two dollars following the small turnover of 1,910,000 shares.

The market closed firm. Advances ranging to two dollars were recorded by the Industrial, Motor and Merchandising groups, together with Air Reduction, American Telephone and United States Rubber. Gains of fractions to one dollar were numerous among the Utility, Steel, Farm Implement, Aviation and Food sections, while Allied Chemicals finished 3½ dollars up at 199 dollars. Moving against the general trend, the Rail and Mining divisions closed slightly lower.

Prime paper was quoted at ¾ to 1 per cent. Open market discount rates were unchanged at 3/16 per cent. bid, and 3/16 per cent. asked for six-month bills.

Sterling exchange opened unchanged at 4.96¼, and remained at this level throughout the day. The rate closed unchanged at 4.96¼.

Silver was unchanged at 44¾.

CO. WATERFORD BULL SALE

EXHIBITS FROM THREE COUNTIES

FROM OUR AGRICULTURAL CORRESPONDENT.

WATERFORD, Wednesday.

TO-DAY, for the first time, the County Waterford and County Wexford branches of the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders' Society held a joint show and sale of pedigree and non-pedigree registered dairy shorthorn, Aberdeen-Angus and Hereford bulls, at Kilcohan Park, Waterford. There were 85 enties altogether, and the exhibits in the shorthorn section reached an exceptionally high standard of merit. It was probably the best event of its kind seen at provincial centres this season. It will be noted that the champion pure-bred registered dairy shorthorn, Mr. James Maher's Major Robin, was sold at 50 guineas, while Mr. Denis Kinsella's champion non-pedigree dairy shorthorn, Brawith's Duke IV., changed hands at 38 guineas.

Aberdeen-Angus were less numerous than last year, and met with a brisk inquiry. It was here that the top price of the sale—55 guineas—was realised. This was paid by Mr. P. Dalton, Piltown, for Mr. R. Crotty's April calf, Ejector of Ballinaclough, by Black Laird of Lambay. The next best price was 51 guineas, paid by Mr. G. H. Hatton, Tullow, for Mr. J. L. Nunn's medal-winning January yearling, Evil of Castlebridge. The best price for Herefords was 29 guineas.

Twenty-four premiums were awarded altogether, and animals minus this distinction ranged from eleven to twenty guineas, with a few exceptions.

The judges were:—Shorthorns: Messrs. T. O'Sullivan, Crookstown, and W. O'Callaghan, Lombardstown; Aberdeen-Angus and Herefords: T. J. Murphy, Macroom.

Several purchases were made for farmers by officers of the Department of Agriculture, and their competition helped business materially.

Mr. T. F. Lynch, Cappagh, acted efficiently as honorary secretary.

The prizes awarded were:—

BILLS ADVANCE IN SENATE

CRITICISM OF MEASURES

EMPLOYMENT PERIODS ORDER

In the Free State Senate yesterday, Mr. T. WESTROPP BENNETT presiding, the Committee stage of the Dail Eireann Loans and Funds (Amendment) Bill, 1936, was passed, and the Report stage will be taken next Wednesday.

On the Report stage of the Central Fund Bill, Mr. COUNIHAN said that the impression had been given in the country that farmers and cattle-traders were opposed to the Warble-Fly Order. In fact, the farmers thoroughly approved of the Order, but they objected to the way in which it was being carried out. Inspectors went round to the farmers, but they had not a single idea of how to instruct the farmers as to what they ought to do. The dressing of the cattle should be done with an approved wash, and that wash ought to be supplied gratis to the farmers. The Senator said that dogs in the country which were not under control at night were killing a lot of sheep. He hoped the damage would be stopped, and instructions should be given to the Civic Guards to shoot those prowling mongrels.

GAELIC THEATRE

Mr. BLYTHE said that the assistance given to the Gaelic theatre in Galway was very useful to the cultivation of the language, and he hoped that good results would follow from it. Since the Galway theatre had been established, seventy Irish plays were produced there. These included an appreciable number of original plays and a number of translations from foreign languages.

The Government should consider the advisability of establishing in Dublin a Gaelic theatre for children and the encouragement of school drama.

Mr. DOUGLAS called the attention of the Minister to the necessity for the continuance of the bounty on woollen manufactured goods.

MARKET FOR WOOLLENS

Mr. MacENTEE, Minister for Finance, said that the Minister for Industry and Commerce was satisfied that there was a market for Irish woollens, which the manufacturers could supply if they set their minds to it. Until the home market was filled he would not reconsider the position with regard to the bounties.

As to the slaughter of calves, owing to the restrictions imposed on them with regard to the British market, there might be something to be said for it as an economic measure.

On the question of the canning factory at Waterford, the class of cattle to be used in it would not get a big price, particularly in Smithfield.

As to the development of Gaelic culture, he was impressed with what was being done in Galway to maintain the Gaelic Theatre. It might be desirable to have a professional theatre, but one could go too fast in the matter. He believed that people should do everything they possibly could through the Irish language.

Dr. GOGARTY asked why should the Irish language be tortured by having a Gaelic theatre added to it. The Irish children were being fed on a synthetic language. It would be better to give them food than words.

The bill passed the report stage.

EMPLOYMENT PERIODS

Mr. T. JOHNSON moved: "That the Unemployment Assistance (Employment Periods) Order, 1936, laid on the table of the Senate on March 4, 1936, pursuant to Section 7 (3) of the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1933, shall be, and is hereby, annulled." There were, he said, two employment periods last year, with a total of sixteen weeks. This year's Order would operate from March 4th to the end of October. What, he asked, had happened since last year to justify this change. The effect of the passing of this motion would be that the Order would not operate any longer, and it would be the duty of the Minister to introduce a new Order, which would give relief to the working population.

Mr. O'FARRELL said that the Order was contrary to the spirit of the Act. Why, he asked, did the Minister select the hungriest months of the year—from May to August were the worst months so far as the small farmers were concerned.

Mr. T. V. HONAN said that the opinion in the country was that the Minister was extremely moderate with regard to the new Order. Farmers in his district were very much harassed because they could not find men to work on their farms. If a referendum were taken, opinion would favour the abolition of unemployment assistance in rural areas for nine months of the year.

Mr. DILLON said that he dissociated himself from the last statement of Senator Honan.

Mr. FARREN challenged the statement of Senator Honan that it was difficult to get agricultural labour.

MINISTER'S REPLY

Mr. LEMASS (Minister for Industry and Commerce) said that agricultural labourers were not affected by this Order. Statistics which had been collected showed that there was increased employment in agriculture in recent years. The Unemployment Assistance Act was designed to provide a measure of assistance for persons who were involuntarily unemployed. It was not intended to provide relief where relief was not required. It was for people willing to work, but who were unable to find it.

Agricultural labourers, he said, were not affected by the Order. There was increased employment in agriculture. When the Act was framed one of the difficult points to be resolved was the question of persons employed on their own account, whether they were small landholders, or carrying on business or trade on a small scale. It was decided, nevertheless, to make such persons eligible to receive unemployment assistance if they fulfilled the statutory conditions. It was difficult to prove in individual cases that the conditions were not fulfilled, and so the Act made provision for the making of Orders declaring certain periods of the year during which persons would not be eligible for unemployment assistance.

SMALL FARMERS

Small farmers of £4 valuation were not affected by the present Order, because they were employed on their own holdings for a certain period of the year, and not available for employment. The selection of the period of the year was made after consultation with representatives of the Department of Agriculture, and persons in the position to give advice on the matter. During the period selected it was reasonable to assume that persons would be employed on their own holdings. It was wrong to say that persons ceased to get unemployment assistance because of the operation of the Order. If the Order was going to inflict hardships some indication of the fact would be evidenced in home assistance returns. Instead, it was found that during the period while the Order was in operation last year the number of persons in receipt of home assistance decreased from 4,698 in March to 2,491 in May.

AFFECTED PERSONS

The only class of persons affected by the Order were a small minority of landholders, and they were those who barely qualified for the receipt of unemployment assistance at all. It was not a fact that it was expected that persons would find employment in England during the period of the operations of the Order. The only justification for the Order was that it was reasonable to assume that for a certain period such persons would be employed on their own account.

The motion was defeated by eighteen votes to five.

PROGRESS OF BILLS

The Report stages were fixed for next Wednesday.

THE SPRING GARDEN.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

We believe there is no gardener or garden lover who will not agree that, whilst formal beds and borders are regarded as an indispensable part of the framework in which a dwelling is fixed, spring bedding or the grouping together of early flowering plants and bulbs will continue. To our mind the judicious selection of spring flowers and an equally well-thought-out plan or scheme of colour arrangement is capable of giving results that no summer bedding can attain. Now that the first flush of soft purple is stealing over the lines and masses of Aubretia, the Hyacinths pushing up their flower spikes, and the spring bedding plants generally developing their wealth of fragrant blossoms, it is well to give the requisite attention in enhancing the beauty and vigour of the spring display. With the more genial weather now prevailing a surface stirring of all beds where stirring is practicable, with the scrupulous removal of all weeds, is essentially conducive to the end in view.
